BY PARKE BROWN.

When finis was written last night to Illinois' off year state and county primaries, the eyes of observers thruout the country turned to watch the extent of the vote of confidence to be given to Senator Wayland Brooks, head of the Republican ticket, and his backers.

That such an indorsement was to be given solidly by an overwhelming majority of Republican voters was the one certainty established in advance by straw votes and other tests of sentiment. The only question remaining in this phase of the nomination battle was the degree of approval of Brooks' adherence to Republican policies by the voters of the state as a whole—the relative strength of the Republican and Democratic parties.

Predict Upward Trend.

Republican leaders and workers were firm in their insistence that the trend of the last week will bring out a Republican vote much larger than that of the average off year test. They added that even if the total vote is low the loss will be entirely on the Democratic side, but they did not concede that the vote will be down appreciably.

The Democrats, on the other hand, were sticking to their official predictions that the vote cast will be light. When these forecasts were systematically put into general circulation 10 days ago, they were recognized as propaganda inspired by the hope of the Democratic machine that organization will control the voting.

Brooks Issues Statement.

The calmest man in the whole picture was Sen. Brooks. He issued a simple statement to voters which read:

"It has been a real source of regret that I could not accept the many requests to speak before more audiences during this primary campaign; but the constant session of congress, the voluminous mail and the vast number of Illinois citizens who came to Washington requesting assistance in connection with their pressing problems there prevented my doing more here.

"I am indeed grateful for the hard work that the many thousands of people thruout the state have been doing and will be doing today in my behalf."

Congress Race Is Warm.

There was curiosity among the political analysts concerning the Republican race for the one place for congressman at large.

Stephen A. Day, one of the two present congressmen at large, has made vast strides since he returned to the state a week ago. It was said, however, that a small Republican vote might give an advantage to Denison B. Hull, prominently identified with war mongering organizations before Pearl Harbor, because, at the request of Gov. Dwight H. Green, many regular organizations marked their sample ballots for him.

Charles R. Vincent, father of National Guard artillery in Illinois and sponsor of a powerful anti-communist drive that began in 1934, was also active in this race.

Refugee Vessel Sunk Off U. S.; 290 Rescued

Charleston, S. C., April 13.—A large British merchant ship with refugees from the war zone in the western Pacific was torpedoed and sunk Saturday afternoon off the Atlantic coast without the loss of a life.

Quartered here until arrangements could be made for their transfer, the 290 survivors, apparently none the worse for their experience, praised the navy forces responsible for their rescue and described the calm on board when their vessel was attacked.

Sinking of the ship was announced today by the 6th naval district public relations office. It brought to 127 the number of ships sunk in American waters since Pearl Harbor, with 841 persons killed, 1,082 missing, and 3,403 rescued.

Struck by Three Torpedoes.

One survivor said two torpedoes hit the starboard side of the ship and a third struck the port side. He said the force of the explosion of the third torpedo was cushioned by meats and vegetables stored in the ship's locker.

J. F. McDonald, a correspondent for the Australian Associated Press, who was one of the passengers, said the ship sank 30 minutes after being hit by the third torpedo. He said no one saw the submarine before the attack, but that several persons said they saw a periscope a few minutes before the last torpedo was fired.

The ship was attacked at 4:30 p. m. and the survivors were picked up from 10 lifeboats an hour and a half later by a United States naval vessel.

One Passenger Injured.

One passenger, Bertram J. R. Barton, a member of the executive council of Johore, India, was treated in a Charleston hospital for injuries suffered when he jumped into a lifeboat. The remaining passengers and members of the crew, and a cat and three kittens, were transferred to safety without injury.

The ship had been at sea for approximately three weeks, a member of the crew said. There were 37 women and 24 children aboard.

N. L. Smith, British colonial secretary at Hongkong, said "a heavy swell retarded operations, but I have never seen such calm."

30 Survivors Reach Nassau.

NASSAU, Bahamas, April 13 (AP).—Thirty survivors of a torpedoed ship reached Nassau Saturday afternoon. Two of their companions were killed and 10 were missing.

The vessel, whose size, identity, and nationality were not revealed by the British colonial government, was sunk April 6 and the men were rescued the next day.

Report 4 Ships Sunk.

FORTALEZA, Brazil, April 13 (AP).—Four united nations merchant ships were torpedoed and sunk last week by submarines off the north coast of Brazil, according to reports published today, which said that so far there had been no word of survivors from two of the ships.

The ships were identified as the United States tankers T. C. McCobb, 7,452 tons, and Eugene V. R. Thayer, 7,138 tons; the British merchantman Empire Peregrine, 7,800 tons, and the Norwegian freighter Balkis, 2,161 tons. The published reports said there had been no word yet of survivors of the McCobb or the Empire Peregrine.

Twenty-six from the Eugene V. R. Thayer were brought ashore, 13 at Camocim by a vessel which picked up their lifeboats and 13 at Natal by United States planes. Nine members of the crew were missing, and some reports said they had died in a lifeboat.

The Norwegian consul here said 24 survivors of the Balkis were landed here by a Swedish ship. He said the captain, first and third officers, stewardess, a sailor, a mechanic, and a waiter of the Balkis crew were killed by machine gun fire from the submarine.

Italians Claim 5 Ships.

ROME, April 13 [from Italian broadcasts]—(AP).—A returning Italian submarine was credited by the Rome radio today with sinking five American ships totaling 31,700 tons in quick succession off the American coast.

U. S. Forts Sink Jap Ship and Shell Tanks

REVEAL ALLIES HAD ONLY 45 PLANES IN JAVA

Fighters Totaled 15; Bombers 30.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 13.—The Netherlands East Indies air force had seven fighter planes and 14 bombers when the Japanese invasion troops landed on Java, March 1, an official Dutch army spokesman told The Tribune correspondent today.

From other sources THE TRIBUNE correspondent learned that the combined allied fighter strength on Java totaled 15 planes; the combined bomber strength 30 planes. There were 18 other "combat planes" most of which were obsolete or practically of no use for offensive tactics.

American flying fortresses, whose crews had been flying for days without sleep and which were in need of repairs and overhauling, had been sent to Australia after doing what the Dutch described as "superb work" against the enemy.

Jap Claims Denied.

The spokesman's statement was made after he had read a denial of the Japanese claim to have captured in Java 177 aircraft, 1,059 tanks and large quantities of artillery, small arms, and equipment. The denial was issued by Raden Loekman Djajadiningrat, commissioner of the Netherlands East Indies government to Australia and New Zealand.

"If 177 warplanes claimed by the Japanese had been at the disposal of the Dutch army March 17, the tactical situation would have been different and the fighting would not have ceased," said the statement. "So far as tanks and armored cars were concerned, on the last day of fighting only five or six tanks were in action. Others tanks and mechanized units had been destroyed in the fierce fighting days before."

Defense Impossible.

The commissioner's statement pointed out that the aircraft position made defense impossible.

"Lack of planes made it impossible to protect ground troops or support attacks of the Dutch infantry. That is the principal reason for severe losses in the Dutch army, and the reason why the Japanese could attack Dutch positions successfully."

At the outbreak of the war the Dutch decided the best way to fight the enemy was attack him as far from their own shores as possible. For that reason they sent a large part of the air force to Malaya, where they took on a heavy share of the burden of air defense.

There they lost a large number of the 300 planes which composed the Dutch air force on the day the war broke out. The Dutch admit now that their army and air forces were greatly overestimated by every one except the Japanese.

The Dutch, who were expecting the Japanese attack for more than a year,

ROUNDUP OF WAR DEVELOPMENTS ON MAJOR FRONTS

Day's war developments

The Russians announced the destruction of 1,103 German planes in a month's time. The Reds set their own plane losses at 314 in that period. They said 322 Nazi aircraft were destroyed last week. A communique reported the capture of a "locality of great importance" on the front northwest of Moscow.

Chinese Repulse Japs.

Chinese forces 30 miles north of Toungoo, Burma, reported they had beaten Japanese attempts to advance. American volunteer flyers were credited with shooting down seven Japanese planes. The British acknowledged that four Japanese columns were smashing at British lines on the western sector of the Burmese front.

Dispatches from Australia told of allied aerial attacks on Japanese held bases facing Australia.

Shell Japs on Bataan.

The United States war department announced that American forts guarding the entrance to Manila bay had shelled Japanese tank and truck columns operating on Bataan. It said a Japanese ship was sunk off the coast of Bataan.

Sees Australia Irked by Allies' Failure to Act

New York, April 13 [Special].—Charges that the allied supreme war council "still seems to exhibit a dangerous lack of cohesion and decision" in the conduct of the war in the Pacific were made by Martin Agronsky, war correspondent for the Blue network, in a broadcast from American headquarters in Australia today.

"Responsible observers here," said Agronsky, "are increasingly disturbed at the painful contrast between constant talk of allied offensive action and equally constant allied failure to do anything but talk.

"Time to Chuck Conferences."

"It's time to chuck the conferences overboard and bring all the allied strength to bear on what may become an irremediable position in the far east if it is allowed to deteriorate much further."

[A significant fact about the broadcast was that such criticism should be permitted by both the Australian and Gen. Douglas MacArthur's censorship.]

American and Australian leaders, I find, run consistently with one common observation," Agronsky continued. "That is, that the allied supreme council seems to exhibit a dangerous lack of cohesion and decision.

Still a Defensive War.

"Everybody here seems agreed on at least two things. One is that we are still waging a defensive war, tho we talk of fighting an offensive war. The second is that something must be basically wrong with either our directors of strategy or the strategy itself.

"It seems it keeps us perpetually unable to take the necessary offensive action.

"I spent two hours with a certain American.

"He told me it was the considered opinion of qualified experts that in all the Jap campaigns in Malaya, the Dutch East Indies, the Philippines, and thruout the island territories in the Australian neighborhood, the Japs never used more than 500,000 troops.

"It has been common practice for our apologists to blame the Jap successes so far on a so-called unlimited supply of man power. Yet I find that almost to a man our most capable military leaders are agreed that this is a totally fallacious argument."

TRUCK COLUMN HIT IN BATAAN; BOATS SMASHED

Burn Food Supplies in Mindanao.

Washington, D. C., April 13 (AP).—Beleaguered Corregidor lashed out today with new blows against the Philippines invaders, sinking a medium sized Japanese ship, raking tank and truck columns in Bataan with shell fire, and smashing a fleet of small boats.

The war department reported the developments in communiques which told also of a raid by American-Filipino patrols on the foe more than 600 miles to the south on the island of Mindanao, in which eight warehouses stored with food were burned. Gen. Wainwright failed to lift the uncertainty over the island of Cebu, where 12,000 Japs landed last week.

However, the Corregidor stronghold and other forts guarding the entrance to Manila bay were being pounded by bombs and shells of siege guns, altho anti-aircraft fire forced the bombers to fly at high altitude.

[The Tokio radio was heard in San Francisco last night proclaiming that Japanese bombing attacks caused a great explosion on Corregidor, followed by fires. Enemy resistance from the northern portion of the fortress, as a result, had completely ceased with only feeble firing from the remaining southern portion, the radio said. Tokio broadcasts have repeatedly claimed the silencing of Corregidor's guns.]

Sunk Off Bataan Coast.

The ship sunk by Corregidor's shells was off the Bataan coast and a war department spokesman said it was presumed to be inside Manila bay.

The late communique said:

"Two enemy tank and truck columns operating on Bataan were hit by guns from our forts and large fires were started. A medium sized Japanese vessel was sunk off the Bataan coast.

"Our forts were under almost constant fire of enemy artillery on the north and south shores of Manila bay.

Burn Jap Warehouses.

"Our patrols near Digos in Mindanao raided and burned eight warehouses containing Japanese food supplies at Serib and Tamyouf.

"There is still no communication between Corregidor and troops in Bataan, and no reports of casualties in this area have been received for several days. When such reports are received the war department will promptly notify the next of kin in each case.

"The situation in Cebu remains obscure."

In a morning communique, the war department reported that Corregidor's gunners sank a number of small Japanese boats and kept enemy air raiders so high over the Philippine Island fortress that bomb damage in a series of new raids was minor.

22 Raids in Two Days.

Anti-aircraft fire from the beleaguered fortress kept enemy aircraft at such heights, the war department reported, that 22 attacks in the last two days inflicted only minor damage to military installations.

Casualties occurred among the defenders, but a communique failed to specify losses in killed and wounded. In 24 hours, the island was pounded 10 times.

Shell Boats at 6 Miles.

The invasion force crippled by gunfire, which sank or set afire the Japanese boats, was concentrated in the harbor of the fishing village of Mariveles, near the tip of the abandoned Bataan peninsula.

Shelling was at a range of six miles, the shortest distance between the island batteries and Mariveles. Two other such fleets of small craft concentrated on the south shore of Manila bay in preparation for assaults on the island fortifications from the sea were smashed in recent weeks.

DOG LICKS CHOPS AND THEN HANDS

Bunny Proves He's Good at Mathematics.

The hare got smart after that tortoise race. Before he put on his running shoes yesterday, he did a little arithmetic. It went like this:

A husky's about the size of a police dog. Call him 3 feet high. The tile in the culvert where I cache my extra carrots is 16 inches in diameter. He'll fit—snugly.

So the rabbit looked back and nodded to let the husky know that he was ready and they were off.

Hippity-Hop, Clumpity-Clump.

Hippity-hop. The rabbit was inside. Clumpity-clump. So was the husky. Whiffity-whiff. The rabbit was out the other end. He looked back, smirked, and slowed down to a Scout's pace.

The husky had crawled thru several feet of mud and doubled up, completely wedged within the tile.

He whined.

Road workers who had seen the rabbit lay his trap telephoned the Lake Forest police. Sergt. Earl Dunn and Roland Rolf the radio technician, went over.

Explain They're Friends.

They explained to the dog that they were friends, come to set him free, and discouraged him from continuing his derogatory remarks about rabbits. With shovels they removed the mud from either end of the tile. Then Rolf crawled in. He pushed, and he pushed, and he pushed, till he pushed the dog out.

The husky licked the policemen's hands and hung his head at being slickered by a rabbit. The policemen told him not to mind and took him to the station, where he is now eating them out of house and home. soled, tickets from the ration card must be shown.

Hear Germany Gives France Last Chance to 'Co-operate'

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNE, Switzerland, April 13.—In a strongly worded note to the Vichy government last Friday the Germans are reported to have set a deadline of Thursday this week for a "comprehensive answer" clarifying France's attitude toward complete coöperation with the axis—immediately and unequivocally.

The immediate cause for this note, according to information in diplomatic quarters here tonight, was a flat refusal by the French government to carry out a virtual mobilization of industrial man power that would have given 500,000 of France's best mechanics to German war industries.

Three Points Listed.

The German note, transmitted to the Vichy government thru official channels, called for clarification on three points:

1. "Certain contingents of French workmen at present idle or engaged on work outside their regular profession shall be made available for German industrial efforts." These workmen, it was added, should be "drawn from the occupied and unoccupied zones if need be."

2. An unequivocal declaration of a policy admitting "coöperation"—as distinct from defunct "collaboration"—as the principle on which future Franco-German relations shall be based. Such a declaration, it was added, must of necessity be guaranteed by a reshuffle of the present Vichy ministries owing to present opposition in the inner cabinet.

New Stand on U. S.

3. A radical modification of France's foreign policy must be effected immediately. A "readjustment" of France's attitude toward Washington, D. C., must also be taken into account in this connection.

All diplomatic reports here concur in terming the note "ultimative." Certain measures taken by the Nazis during the last three days indicate quite clearly what direction German reprisals may take if Vichy fails to comply.

In Paris more than 1,500 arrests are reported to have been carried out against persons "sympathizing or having intelligence with the enemy." A state of siege was decreed in occupied districts of southeastern France around Besancon. And finally an "unofficial" German commission in Paris, working out details for the delivery of 2,000,000 quintals [about 220,460 tons] of wheat offered the Vichy government, broke up with no explanation late yesterday.

No Mention of Laval.

No mention appeared to have been made of Pierre Laval, former French vice premier, who is believed in informed quarters here to have rejected a tentative offer of a post in the government, feeling that considerable trouble lies ahead.

Interference of the United States ambassador to France, Rear Adm. William D. Leahy, in French internal affairs "by open threats of less food and a tighter blockade" has aroused the ire of the Wilhelmstrasse, as one Swiss newspaper man put it this evening.

Opposition inside the French cabinet to any concessions along the lines contained in the German note appears to be steadily mounting.

BUILDINGS TOPPLE INTO RIVER DURING JANESVILLE BLAZE

Janesville, Wis., April 14 [Tuesday]—[Special].—Three business buildings toppled into Rock river during the course of a destructive fire in the center of the business district which broke out about 9:15 p. m. yesterday and was not brought under control until after 2 a. m. today.

Early estimates on damage ranged from $200,000 to $250,000, according to Joseph Carpenter, desk officer at the Janesville police station. He said a fire wall in a building occupied by the Woolworth company, which had been relied on to check the westward spread of the flames, gave way shortly after midnight.

The blaze, visible for miles, started in the basement of a two story building occupied by the W T. Grant company. This building and two others built on piles overhanging the river, collapsed into the water. A spectator, C. H. Ross, 57 years old, of Springfield, O., was thrown into the river by one of several explosions which accompanied the fire.

COURTNEY ACTS AGAINST THREE POLICY LEADERS

Asks Mayor to Revoke Saloon Licenses.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

State's Attorney Courtney yesterday asked Mayor Kelly to revoke the saloon license of Jim Martin, Negro political boss who has been rated as the right hand man of Democratic County Chairman Pat Nash in the 28th ward on the west side. Courtney also asked the mayor to revoke the saloon licenses of two other politically powerful Negroes, Illey Kelly and James Gatewood, who, with Martin, have been indicted as policy gambling kings.

The state's attorney likewise launched another attack in his campaign against the Guzik gambling and vice syndicate by ignoring Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien and sending his chief investigator, Capt. Daniel Gilbert, to raid an alleged house of prostitution in South Chicago Heights. Joseph Pecardo was seized as the keeper along with 10 women and 26 men patrons.

Asks Gambling Action.

In another offensive action Courtney asked Police Commissioner Allman to demand action from his captains to suppress gambling. Allman had just made public the charges against Capt. Martin McCormick, former head of the now disbanded morals division, which had supervision over gambling.

McCormick was accused of neglect of duty, inefficiency, and making false official reports on the basis of information supplied to Allman by Courtney. The information was obtained in the grand jury room during the investigation initiated last October when THE TRIBUNE obtained and published secret financial records of the Guzik syndicate.

McCormick is accused of making 58 erroneous reports to Allman in 1940 and 22 erroneous reports in 1941. The reports concerned the activities of the morals division and its daily raids and inspections.

Testimony of Policeman.

Courtney informed Allman that Policeman Fred L. Trauth, one of McCormick's subordinates, testified before the grand jury that last July he had submitted to McCormick the address of 10 city gambling houses, and that McCormick had failed to take any action against them.

An additional charge against McCormick was that he failed to check on the reports of Sergt. Tom Lee, head of one of the gambling squads, who admitted making fake reports. Courtney said Lee would make 10 or more carbon copies of a report saying he had visited a place suspected of gambling, and that he found no gambling on the premises. Lee would file the copies a week apart, each showing that he had again visited the place specified. Every one of the reports was fraudulent, Courtney charged.

Courtney said he would have an assistant state's attorney present at the trial of Capt. McCormick before the city civil service commission. President Joseph Geary of the civil service board, who is also Democratic committeeman of the fourth ward, said yesterday McCormick would be placed on trial April 29. Sergt. Lee's trial is slated for Thursday. Policeman James E. Kehoe, also a member of the morals division and now under suspension and Trauth will be tried later, Geary said.

NO GAMBLING, SO 4 TOWNS DON'T HAVE TO TESTIFY

The mayors and chiefs of police of Hammond, Crown Point, Whiting and Hobart appeared in response to subpenas yesterday for questioning by the Lake county grand jury at Crown Point, Ind., about gambling in their communities.

But Benjamin Schwartz, chief deputy prosecuting attorney, told the officials they needn't testify. The grand jurors, he said, had done their own investigating in the four towns during the last two weeks, when they were not in session. And, Schwartz explained, they had found no evidence of gambling. The officials went home.

The grand jury questioned Chief William J. Linn of the Gary police about conditions in Gary. The inquiry, which is concerned with gambling thruout Lake county, will be resumed today.

N. Y. GOV. LEHMAN KEEPS SILENT ON WAR JOB REPORT

Hear New Deal Fearful of Fifth Term Defeat.

New York, April 13 [Special].—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman today maintained his silence on reports that he would soon leave Albany to assume a position in the nation's war effort. Such a development would leave the Democratic gubernatorial situation wide open.

Astute political observers, however, have asserted that such a move would not be surprising. The New Deal, they say, fears that should Lehman seek a fifth term at Albany he would be defeated, thus delivering a strong blow to the prestige of the Roosevelt administration.

Specter of Defeat.

Political circles have recently been expressing the opinion that if New York were to vote tomorrow, Lehman might be defeated. Hence, it is said the President is planning to summon his friend to the capital to eliminate the possibility.

Lehman has always been a strong supporter of the President. When Mr. Roosevelt moved to Washington, he gave his blessing to Lehman as his successor. In 1936, the President "drafted" Lehman to help him carry New York state. Again in 1938 the Democrats prevailed on Lehman to run when it appeared that the Republicans might carry the state with Thomas E. Dewey.

Post Not Selected.

The Washington post that Lehman will be placed in, according to informed comment, has not yet been selected. But it was pointed out that rabid New Dealers have directed a steady attack on Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, meanwhile whispering that former Financier Lehman is the man for the job.

Republicans have studiously refrained from public comment. Privately they expressed considerable interest in the possibility that Gov. Lehman would go to Washington but contended that they would be in a better political position if they did not comment publicly until the governor made formal announcement of such a step.

POLITENESS PAYS CITY A DIVIDEND AFTER 60 YEARS

Cyclists, Safe in 1882, Coming Again.

Since the local populace treated its members with respect the last time the League of American Wheelmen met in Chicago, no police protection will be demanded for the riders who pedal their mounts here this weekend, officials said yesterday.

They admitted, however, that conditions have changed a bit since the LAW's last Chicago meeting—in 1882. The average cyclist can venture out alone these days, they pointed out, without dodging sticks and stones or endangering life and limb.

It took a man with steel nerves and bulging muscles to brave the dangers of cycling in the 1870s and '80s, old timers recalled. The steel nerves were necessary to climb aboard the old high wheelers and steer them down the rough roads. The bulging muscles came in handy to ward off irate carriage drivers whose horses dashed away at the sight of a bicycle.

W. T. Farwell of 842 Wolfram street, who is an authority on early cycling, said the cyclist's life was "one fall and one fight after another"

A Dude Sport.

"Bicycling was considered a 'dude' sport then," Farwell said. "The machines cost anywhere from $100 to $175 each, so very few people could afford them.

"Loiterers around the corner saloon took delight in jabbing sticks into the spokes and sending the cyclists tumbling into the gutter. Small boys hurled everything in sight and it seemed every dog in town nipped at the wheelman's ankles."

For many years bicyclists were banned from Chicago parks "because they scared horses and old ladies," Farwell said. "But after the LAW convention the parks were opened to them."

Bicycle popularity in Chicago dates from the day Mayor Carter Harrison I. addressed the 1882 convention banquet in the old Grand Pacific hotel, Farwell recalled.

"'Boys, I wish I was a bicyclist, the mayor told the delegates, and there was little antagonism toward the wheelmen after that."

The big wheel of the early bicycles averaged 46 to 60 inches in diameter with a small wheel about one-sixth as large. The modern bicycle came into wide use between 1891 and 1900.

Dr. Graydon M. Powell, national president of the League of American Wheelmen, said about 200 cyclists are expected for the Saturday and Sunday sessions. The wheelmen will ride from Soldiers' field thru the loop to Garfield park Sunday morning. Business sessions will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday in the Gold Dome building at the park. A dinner and dance at the Edgewater Beach hotel will open the meeting Saturday night.

U. S. SCANS FORCIBLE CASTOR OIL DOSES TO RELIGIOUS GROUP

Charleston, W. Va., April 13 [Special].—A federal grand jury convening here tomorrow will inquire into the reputed forcible administration of castor oil to nine members of Jehovah's Witnesses in the village of Richwood, W. Va., on June 29, 1940.

Dr. H. G. Elmore, leader of the Charleston company of Jehovah's Witnesses, said the castor oil was administered in the Richwood city hall in the presence of city and American Legion officials, and that the group was then paraded out of town tied together with a long rope.

IF YOU HEAR IT, THAT'S FINE; IF NOT, REPORT IT

City's First Air Raid Alarm Tomorrow.

If you hear a sharp warbling or wailing noise tomorrow night at 7 o'clock—that's fine. If you don't hear it—something is wrong, either with your ears or Chicagoland's air raid siren system.

For promptly at 7 p. m. there will be a tremendous wailing thruout Chicago and the 110 towns within the metropolitan civilian defense area as the siren system receives its first test.

Not a Blackout Test.

Civilian defense authorities emphasized yesterday that the 4½ million persons in the area are supposed to continue with whatever they are doing while the sirens go. This test is not a blackout, which will come at a later date, and civilian activities are not to be interrupted.

Here's the time schedule of the test: 7:00-7:02 p. m. the sirens warble; 7:02-7:04, silence; 7:04-7:06, they warble. The warble or fluctuating sound is the air raid alarm. From 7:10 to 7:12 there will be a steady blast; from 7:12 to 7:14 silence; from 7:14 to 7:16 a steady blast. This is the all clear signal.

Police Cars to Use Sirens.

All of the fixed sirens and whistles in the area, such as those on fire trucks parked in front of their stations and factory whistles, will be used. In addition, police squad cars with their sirents turned on will cruise over prearranged routes.

The primary purpose of the test is to deterinme the efficiency of the signal system and find out where it needs reënforcing, according to Ralph H. Burke, deputy defense coördinator.

Air raid wardens will be stationed indoors and on the streets in every block thruout the area. Civilians are asked to report to the wardens any cases of not being able to hear the sirens. The wardens in turn will report to civilian defense headquarters.

APPARENTLY GEN. HOMMA GOT OVER HIS HARA-KIRI!

New York, April 13 (AP).—The Tokio radio broadcast today an announcement by Japanese imperial headquarters that Lieut. Gen. Masaharu Homma had been appointed commander in chief of Japanese expeditionary forces in the Philippines.

The news in this was the implication that Homma was still alive. It had been reported that the general had committed hara-kiri in chagrin over his failure to crack Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Bataan line.

The following day the war department reported that the Japanese command, seeking to wipe out resistance in the Philippines, had named its most successful commander, Lieut. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, the conqueror of Malaya, as Homma's successor.

TWO DEMOCRATS FIGHT TO LAST IN SENATE PRIMARY

Douglas, M'Keough Stress Familiar Themes.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Thruout the dinner hour last night, the competing aspirants for the Democratic senatorial nomination used the radio to conclude their pleas for favor in the polling booths today.

Ald. Paul H. Douglas [5th], the independent candidate, said for the last time, that the Kelly-Nash machine, which is sponsoring Congressman Raymond S. [Small Potatoes] McKeough against him, wants the independent voters to stay home today "since the voters whom the machine controls will be forced to vote."

Scoffs at Straw Polls.

McKeough, 15 minutes earlier, declared again that the issue was "Roosevelt or Hitler," and sought to minimize the detrimental effect straw polls and other indications have had upon his candidacy.

"My confidence in the outcome of tomorrow's balloting has not been shaken by such side shows as straw polls which gave temporary encouragement to those who hate Roosevelt," he said. "Nor have I been stampeded by such manuevers as the stupid attempt to make Ray McKeough in some way responsible for a threatened increase in Chicago's street car fares."

The latter reference was to a charge Douglas has been making that the machine had acquiesced to an "unnecessary" increase in street car fares.

"Fighting to Defend Democracy"

Douglas appealed to the voters to come to the polls and show the machine that they are independent. He said:

"If the independent voters stay away from the polls, the machine will win. That is how it has won in the past—thru the indifference of the voters. That is how it hopes to win on Tuesday. This time, however, I am inclined to believe that the machine will be proved wrong."

Douglas asserted he was running for the senatorial nomination "because I believe that an independent Democrat who has shown himself to be free of machine domination can make a stronger appeal to all the Democrats and independent voters of this state than a candidate named by the Kelly-Nash machine, which is thoroly disliked by the vast majority of voters.

"By nominating independent Democratic candidates tomorrow the voters of Illinois can kill two birds with one vote. We can insure the security of democracy at home by defeating the Kelly-Nash machine and we can make sure the defeat of Sen. Wayland Brooks in the November election and thus give our commander in chief, President Roosevelt, the united support he needs to win the war and insure the security of American democracy in a permanent world peace."

McKeough's Favorite Theme.

McKeough pounded away on his favorite theme—his loyalty to President Roosevelt.

"Lest there be no misunderstanding, lest there be no forgetting," he said, "I, Raymond S. McKeough, candidate for United States senator, have stood and will continue to stand, have worked and will continue to work, have fought and will fight for Roosevelt and the success of his far reaching program.

"We are, first of all, Americans, regardless of race, creed, or color. This is a time for purest patriotism. It is not a time for partisanism. It is not a time for petty politics. It is not a time for the furthering of mere personal ambition.

"By your votes tomorrow, you who will participate in the Democratic primary, as party electors, can deal a telling blow to the snipers, faultfinders, second guessers, and backseat drivers who would hamper, harrass, and hamstring President Roosevelt in the conduct of this nation's struggle to drive the dictators off the face of this earth."

A spokesman for the Chicago Urban league yesterday denied the published statement that the league had indorsed Harry F. Kelly, a Democratic candidate for state senator in the 1st district.

CANDIDATE DALY DENIES HE'S FOR RIVAL M'KEOUGH

Sarsfield Daly, political unknown who filed for the Democratic nomination for United States senator, and a journeyman structural steel worker by trade, was heard from last night—indignantly denying that he had advised his friends to vote for his Kelly-Nash! opponent, Congressman Raymond S. [Small Potatoes] McKeough.

"I am still in the race and I am not indorsing McKeough, despite the thousands of handbills to that effect circulated on the south side today," he said. "My friends have been calling me all day asking if it was true; well, it isn't."

Daly said the bills read as follows: "Democratic Voters—Sarsfield Daly, Democratic candidate for the United States senate, urges your support of President Roosevelt and of Raymond S. McKeough as the only man who can beat Brooks in November. McKeough for United States senator!"

Daly added that the handbill bore no union label.

AID OF HERSHEY SAYS DEPENDENT RULE WILL HOLD

Draft Chief's Statement Is Reply to Ash.

Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey just intended to warn—not frighten—the public when he spoke of drafting men with dependents, a letter from the selective service director's office yesterday informed Harry Ash, formerly chairman of draft board 142.

On March 20 Gen. Hershey in a speech said that men with dependents can expect to be called to active service unless they are engaged in vital war work.

Ash, who resigned his draft board position to run for the Republican nomination for state senator in the 29th district in today's primary, wrote to Gen. Hershey to protest against such statements.

Objects to Statement.

"Since you yourself have pointed out there is no present intention in any case to draft men with dependents, let us make an end of such hair raising statements," Ash's letter read.

"Why are the solid, settled men of the nation worried perpetually with the threat they are soon to be sent down to the lines while their families are going to be left to subsist on a government allotment?

"American men are not and never have been afraid to fight. But while men are not fearful of their own safety, they are deeply concerned for the welfare of wives, children, and parents."

No Change, Letter Says.

In reply to Ash's letter, Col. Carlton S. Dargusch, deputy director of the selective service system, wrote:

"There has been no change in the selective service regulations regarding dependency deferments since Jan. 1, 1942. On March 20 the director stated that it would, in the future, probably be the practice of the selective service system to classify men with dependents into two groups depending upon whether they are engaged in an essential activity.

"This will not necessarily mean that men with dependents who are not engaged in war industries will be inducted, but it does indicate a new approach to the problem.

"We cannot foresee all possible man power needs of the armed forces. It is possible that at some future date it will become necessary to induct some men who are at present deferred by reason of dependency. The director's speech was designated to warn the public of that possibility and was not contemplated as a means of frightening the general public."

AID TO HITLER MEANS U. S. WAR, BALKANS TOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles today warned Bulgaria, Hungary, and Rumania that the United States will declare war against them if they give material assistance to the axis in the Russian campaign.

Welles' remarks, made at a press conference, were prompted by a Berlin radio broadcast declaring the United States had informed Hungary thru Swedish diplomatic channels that a state of war exists between the United States and Hungary so far as this country is concerned.

The broadcast claimed that similar notes were being sent Rumania and Bulgaria.

Welles declared that this report obviously is false, since only congress can declare war.

Welles explained that the United States had not acted in retaliation because it recognized that the axis satellites declared war only under German pressure, contrary to the wishes of the people.

DRAFT PROGRAM DESIGNED TO END LAKE POLLUTION

Resolution Calls for 4 Point Action.

Water pollution on the south side was the subject of a mass meeting last night under the auspices of the Associated Clubs of Woodlawn. City and state authorities and officials from Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin appeared to present their arguments for or against added diversion of water as an emergency measure.

After the talks a resolution embodying these four points was adopted:

First, to urge government authorities to give priorities so that the south side sewage disposal plant may be completed speedily. Second, to put the force of the government behind the police authorities of Indiana and Illinois to stop pollution by municipalities and industries. Third, an increased diversion of water as an emergency. Fourth, to construct a dam in the Indiana ship canal north of the Grand Calumet river, so it cannot flow outward toward the lake, carrying sewage along.

Tells of Increased Costs.

Wilfred DeBerard, city engineer, told the assembly of about 100, representing more than 30 south side clubs, that the war has added $2,000,000 to the construction cost of the sewage treatment plant. He said the plant, about 55 per cent complete, already has cost 13 millions. It eventually will serve about a third of Chicago's area and people.

Arthur Gorman, assistant city engineer, explained that every time the wind blows from the south for two days or more, polluted water is carried to the city's intake cribs.

Rep. Elmer J. Schnackenberg of the 13th district, urged that the pollution evil be attacked at its source, by court action, if necessary, to eliminate the Indiana sources. "Our sister states," said Schnackenberg, don't care how much the Supreme court decision costs Chicago."

Indianan Denies Charge.

This charge was denied by B. A. Poole, sanitary engineer for the Indiana Board of Health. He said Gary started a sewage treatment plant in 1940 and Hammond in 1941; that East Chicago and Whiting are now taking steps to this end. He said Indiana is concentrating on keeping its domestic sewage out of the lake and that it will work on the industrial wastes later.

BROOKS TO VOTE IN PLACE WHERE CAREER STARTED

Senator Wayland Brooks told a group of friends last night that when he votes at 7471 Rogers avenue, the polling place of the 14th precinct of the 49th ward, this morning he will be back in the spot where he attained the first distinction as a party worker.

"I was precinct captain of that precinct 18 years ago," he said. "As soon as I returned from the World war I began taking an interest in Republican principles and organization but it was not until 1924 that I was sufficiently advanced to become a precinct captain.

"That was my first Republican distinction and I still consider it a reward of merit of which I am proud."

LARGE JAP FLEET IN INDIA WATERS WORRIES BRITONS

Show Concern Over Ability to Hold Ceylon.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 13.—Concern is felt here regarding Britain's ability to hold Ceylon, now the key British base in the Indian ocean, following Prime Minister Churchill's revelation in the house of commons today that a big Japanese fleet is operating in the Bay of Bengal where Britain last week lost the cruisers Dorsetshire and Cornwall and the aircraft carrier Hermes.

Three Japanese battleships, five aircraft carriers, a number of heavy and light cruisers and several flotillas of destroyers are in the enemy fleet, Churchill disclosed.

One of the battleships is reported to be the 32,720 ton Nagato or Mutu, completed in 1919 and 1920, modernized in 1934 and 1936, armed with eight 16 inch guns, and believed capable of 26 knots. The aircraft carriers are believed to include four of the biggest in the Japanese navy, the Kaga, Agaki, Syokaku and Zuikaku. Along with the smaller carrier they would have a total complement of more than 200 planes.

Anticipate Big Naval Action.

Despite the revelation of the presence of a greatly superior Japanese fleet in the Bay of Bengal, naval experts here anticipated a big naval action there shortly against the enemy forces poised to strike a blow at the vital defenses of India.

One reason for the belief was the announcement of Adm. Sir James Somerville as commander-in-chief of the eastern fleet, replacing Vice Adm. Sir Geoffrey Layton, commander-in-chief of Ceylon, who has been temporary commander of the fleet since Dec. 11.

Adm. Somerville is the man whose makeshift fleet of all sorts of ships and boats rescued the British army from Dunkirk in May and June, 1940. He participated in the destruction of the German battleship Bismarck in the Atlantic last May. He also has had frequent experience with air attacks while operating in the western Mediterranean and success in repelling them.

Look to U. S. Assistance.

No details are available concerning the British fleet at Adm. Somerville's command, but the united nations in Australian waters are believed to have salvaged a considerable portion of their fleet from Java and Sumatra and with some assistance from the United States, the Royal navy still might be able to meet the enemy on more than equal terms.

Churchill admitted that tho many Japanese planes were downed, Britain also suffered serious aircraft losses in last week's Japanese raids on Colombo and Trincomalee, Ceylon's main port and naval base, and in British attacks on a Japanese aircraft carrier.

However, he told commons that the admiralty retained the greatest confidence in Adm. Somerville, who was responsible for the disposition of British ships in Indian waters.

No Continuous Air Protection.

"It is quite impossible to provide continuous air protection by shore based or carrier borne aircraft to all British ships at sea," Churchill said.

Churchill, altho promising to make a statement on the fall of Singapore within two weeks, declared this would be done in secret session. He said the report received from Lieut. Gen. Henry Gordon Bennett of Australia, who escaped from Singapore, could not be published because it would give information to the enemy.

Churchill said Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, now commander in chief of British forces in India, had been authorized to designate agents to collect further information from officers who succeeded in escaping from Singapore.

Commenting on the attitude of the natives during the Malayan campaign, Churchill said:

"Al' my information is to the effect the people of Malaya were thoroly friendly."

JAPS CLAIM BRITISH LOST 120 PLANES IN BATTLES OFF INDIA

TOKIO, April 13 [from Japanese broadcasts]—(AP).—Imperial headquarters said today in a review of last week's air and naval operations that 120 British planes were destroyed or set afire and 64 ships were sunk or damaged in the Bay of Bengal from April 5 to 9.

Listed among the ships sunk were the aircraft carrier Hermes, cruisers of the London and Cornwall types, and a destroyer. All were said to have been sunk by planes, the cruisers on April 5, 350 nautical miles south of Ceylon, and the aircraft carrier and destroyer on April 9 southwest of Trincomalee naval base on Ceylon.

[The British have admitted the loss of the Hermes and the cruisers Dorsetshire and Cornwall.]

In addition, the announcement said, a B class cruiser of the Leander type was damaged badly April 9 in the Trincomalee area.

Imperial headquarters said, however, that its earlier claim of sinking British cruisers of the Birmingham and Emerald types was found to have been "made in error."

SHIP'S SURVIVOR SAILS 2,000 MI., FLEES JAP ISLE

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 13 (AP).—The lone survivor of a ship torpedoed off Hawaii soon after the Pearl Harbor attack reached port today after a 2,000 mile odyssey in the Pacific. He was captured by the Japanese and escaped in the confusion when United States warships shelled the Gilbert Islands.

He is Murray Chambers, 38 years old, of Queensland, Australia. His ship left Honolulu a few hours before the attacking Japanese arrived and dodged two torpedoes fired by a U-boat. The submarine rose to shell the ship to the bottom.

Chambers swam thru a shark infested sea to reach a lifeboat filled with men and bodies. They tried to sail back to Honolulu, but the wind was adverse and they set their course for the Gilberts, 2,000 miles away. One by one the men died of thirst, hunger, and exposure. The last to go was Bill Sievright, former heavyweight boxing champion of the British navy.

With only curdled milk, vitamin tablets, and raw flying fish for food, Chambers managed to sail the leaking lifeboat into the Gilberts, where the Japanese hospitalized him.

When the United States ships shelled the Gilberts, Chambers patched up a native boat and sailed to another island which the British still held. A patrol boat brought him back to Australia.

HOLD HAWAII! IS BUSINESS MEN'S PAMPHLET DRIVE

HONOLULU, T. H., April 13.—Hawaiian business men, under the urging of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce, today started bombarding business associates and friends on the mainland with a pamphlet titled, "We Must Hold Hawaii." It is subtitled "Will We Hold Hawaii?"

The pamphlet is a reprint of an editorial in the Washington Times-Herald of Feb. 21, commenting on an article by John O'Donnell of the New York Daily News, at that time in Honolulu. It denounced Washington complacency and declared that what has happened to Singapore and was happening then to the Dutch East Indies must not be allowed to happen to Hawaii.

John A. Hamilton, secretary of the chamber of commerce, said 10,000 copies of the pamphlet have been printed and that more will be needed. One business concern asked for 1,000 pamphlets, he said, and others were asking for them in 50 and 100 lots. They are to be included in business letters.

130,000 PERSONS LEAVE INDIAN CITY OF MADRAS

MADRAS, India, April 13 (AP).—About 130,000 persons of the population of 600,000 have been moved from Madras since last Tuesday when this city on India's southeast coast had its first air raid alarm. The evacuation was speeded up yesterday when the government advised all persons whose presence was not necessary to leave the city. Special trains are leaving daily. Inmates of Madras prisons are being moved to the interior.

Acting on advice of the military, the city government of Madras decided to transfer certain secretariats and heads of departments to safer places in the interior. The governor, his advisers and certain offices will continue to work in Madras.

[The London Daily Mail's Calcutta correspondent said 750,000 already had been removed from that city of about 1,500,000 population and that another 250,000 would be gone by the end of the month.]

Name Sir Lynden Macassey Chairman of Reuters Trust

LONDON, April 13 (AP).—Sir Lynden Macassey, prominent lawyer, has been appointed by the lord chief justice as the first chairman of the Reuters trust, which was established last October to place ownership of the principal British news agency in the hands of the British press as a whole. Terms of the trust provided for a board of eight trustees drawn from leading figures in the London and provincial press, with an independent chairman appointed by the lord chief justice.

U.S. FLYING TIGERS BAG 7 JAP PLANES IN AIR BATTLES

Chinese Repulse Attack on Burma Front.

CHUNGKING, China, April 13 (AP).—The Chinese high command today announced that Chinese troops had repulsed Japanese attempts to advance some 30 miles north of Toungoo, Burma, and that the American volunteer group of "flying tigers" had destroyed seven Japanese planes in air battles extending into southern Yunnan.

The Japanese ground forces in the Toungoo area were aided by tanks and airplanes, in their attempts to break the Chinese lines, the communique said. Fighting was reported along the Kyangin river near the village of Swa.

The "flying tigers" destroyed three Japanese planes in the Toungoo area yesterday without loss to themselves, and knocked down four others Friday when the Japanese attempted to attack Let-Yun in southern Yunnan.

Smash at British Line.

LONDON, April 13 (AP).—Four Japanese columns smashed at the British lines in Burma today. They struggled to break the allied armies and secure the western Japanese flank there for a possible descent into the Ganges basin of India before the monsoon season starts in May.

A Burma front communique said one Japanese column was reported advancing up the main road from Sinbaungwe, 70 miles north of Prome and 55 miles below the Yenangyaung oil fields.

A small oil field west of Allanmyo was believed to be already in Japanese hands.

The British were described here as holding one Japanese column which was "pressing hard" at Taungdwingyi, but there were two other enemy concentrations farther west.

'THIS IS BATAAN!' GEN. MacARTHUR HEADQUARTERS

SYDNEY, Australia, April 13 (AP).—In tribute to the men he led in the Philippines, Gen. Douglas MacArthur has named his Australian headquarters "Bataan." Persons telephoning his headquarters now are greeted with: "Bataan speaking."

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced that American camps in Australia are to be named for officers and men killed in action in the southwest Pacific area.

The first two camps to be named are Camp Pell and Camp Murphy in memory of Maj. Floyd J. Pell, air corps officer killed in action Feb. 19 at Darwin, Australia, and Col. William H. Murphy, German born officer of the signal corps, whose bomber was shot down by a Japanese fighter Feb. 3 over Java.

CALLS O'HARE'S BATTLE IN SKY THRILL OF LIFE

Witness Tells How Daring Eddie's Mates Cheered.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

The story of the navy flyer, Lieut. Eddie O'Hare and the battle in the sky in which he sent six Japanese bombers, one after the other, crashing into the sea, is a story that every United States schoolboy now knows. But here is the story as told by one who watched it from the grandstand, so to speak, marvelled at the incredible daring of it, who despaired and was thrilled and finally joined with thousands of others in cheers after the victory was O'Hare's.

Joseph Charles Brazda, 25 year old radio man first class in the navy, who lives at 6539 Cermak road, Berwyn, pictured the whole amazing action as he saw it from the deck of his ship in a western Pacific task force. He explained that a task force is a squadron made up of destroyers, cruisers, battleships and airplane carriers, all sent out to do some specific thing.

2 Scout Planes Downed.

"The first those of us who were on deck saw that day were two Japanese scout planes flying around overhead. Anti-aircraft guns brought them down. But they must have radioed back for it wasn't long before the first wave of nine bombers came into view and started blasting away at an aircraft carrier.

"We didn't know at the time but later learned that Lieut. O'Hare wasn't in the fight with this first wave. Six other American flyers were in this fight.

"It was fast and furious. Americans and Japs all blazing away at one another. Seven of the Jap bombers crashed one by one into the ocean. An eighth flew away crippled and the last blew up and scattered in the sky and on the waves.

Stand Watch in Sky.

"It was about the time this fight was over that two other flyers got their planes up off the carrier. They went up to stand watch in the sky while the flyers who had been in that first battle came down for more fuel and ammunition.

"By this time every man and officer who could was looking on, either from his station or from the deck—and then suddenly we heard a roar and still watching, saw the second wave of nine more Jap bombers come over.

"We then thought we saw some sort of a signal from one of the two sky guards. Anyway, one suddenly dived and came down—we heard later his gun had jammed—and we saw the one flyer up there all alone.

"He was flying at 16,000 feet, all the other fighters down, when that second wave came over.

"Somebody yelled: 'Nine of them—and he's up there alone!'

"After that nobody said a word; they were all just watching and hoping and praying; every one of us thought the flyer [O'Hare] was gone.

"As the Japs came closer overhead we could see that O'Hare was above them, and then like a hawk he swooped down on one of them and fired—and that one started crashing down into the sea.

"He's got one!" an officer shouted, and everybody gave a cheer.

Stayed Above Them.

"O'Hare zoomed around and in what seemed like a couple of seconds he was up above them again. They were shooting at him from their tails but he was keeping above them. We saw him sort of hang in the sky for a second and then, zam! he dived again, and again one of the Japs wobbled and went into a dive in flames to the sea.

"Then a yell went up all around: 'He's got another!' Then there was a dead silence until we saw that he was once more up above them. Everybody expected that he just couldn't last, but he did, and in another minute he dived again and the third one fell.

"After that O'Hare just kept on doing it. It was unbelievable. O'Hare would dive, we'd lose sight of him for a matter of seconds, a Jap bomber would wobble and crash in flames, and then there would be O'Hare up above them again.

Like a Football Game.

"When the sixth one finally came crashing down and the other three took it on high the men on those decks were yelling with joy like a crowd at a football game, jumping and hollering and slapping one another on the back for joy.

"It was the greatest moment I ever experienced. I don't think I'll ever see anything like it again."

Radio Man Brazda, 25 years old, was called into the navy 14 months ago and arrived at Pearl Harbor a week after the Japanese attack, he said. He arrived home yesterday, had his first home cooked meal, and thrilled his father, Joseph Sr., who fought in World War I., his mother, Barbara, and his wife, Sophie, with his story. He will leave again on Sunday to join his command.

ALLIED PLANES BOMB JAP BASES ON ISLANDS FACING AUSTRALIA

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 13 (AP).—Rabaul, pivot of the Japanese lodgements in the southwest Pacific islands facing Australia, bore the brunt of week-end offensive operations by the allied air arm and official reports indicated today that an enemy ship—probably a war vessel—was damaged there yesterday by a direct bomb hit.

The raid on Rabaul, in New Britain, capped week-end operations in which the base already had been raided, along with Koepang, in Dutch Timor, Lae in New Guinea, and Faisi, in the Solomon Islands. American flying fortresses figured prominently.

Raid Lae Airports Again.

LONDON, April 13 (AP).—The Exchange Telegraph agency reported from Port Moresby tonight that allied bombers and fighters raided Japanese held airdromes at Lae, New Guinea, this morning. Two Japanese fighter planes probably were destroyed and another was damaged, while all the allied planes returned safely, it said.

NAVY HONORS SUB ACE FOR BLASTING 7 JAPANESE SHIPS

Skipper of Seawolf Hailed as New U. S. Hero.

Washington, D. C., April 13 (AP).—The navy emblazoned the names of Lieut. Comm. Frederick Burdett Warder and his sleek black submarine, Seawolf, today on its roll of honor.

Lieut. Comm. Warder.

It was the 1,450 ton Seawolf, a sister ship of the ill starred Squalus, the navy disclosed, which sank a Japanese light cruiser, a destroyer, and a large transport, and damaged two other light cruisers, a large transport, and one unidentified vessel, or a total of seven ships, on a patrol cruise off the Netherlands East Indies between late February and early April.

[The exploit had been mentioned in communiques previously, but this was the first announcement identifying the submarine and her skipper.]

Cited for Heroism.

"For heroism and especially meritorious conduct in combat with the enemy" Warder has been recommended for the navy cross by Vice Admiral Herbert F. Leary, commander of the southwest Pacific force.

The destroyer and transport which were sunk were part of a heavily screened force, the navy said, and Warder's "attack was pressed home in extremely shallow and narrow waters where very strong currents exist near the coast of Java.

"Off Christmas Island, Netherlands East Indies, he made repeated attacks on enemy light cruisers which were heavily screened by destroyers, sinking one cruiser and heavily damaging two others, one of which probably sank. All attacks were followed up at short ranges in face of active enemy opposition, and after each attack his submarine was the target of heavy, prolonged depth charge counterattacks by the enemy."

But Warder brought his ship and its crew of about 55 thru unscathed.

Named All of Sub Forces.

This exploi outstrips anything the Nazis have even claimed for the late Guenther Prien and their other top U-boat commanders, whose forays have been made almost entirely upon weak merchant vessels. Warder's torpedoes were launched against four warships, heavily protected by other Japanese fleet units.

It brackets Warder, as the "ace" of the United States submarine forces, with Lieut. Edward H. O'Hare of St. Louis, of the naval air force. O'Hare shot down six Japanese bombers in one afternoon during an attack on an American aircraft carrier which was part of a task force in the western Pacific.

Warder, a native and resident of Grafton, W. Va., passed his 38th birthday at sea March 19. He directed the fitting out of the Seawolf at the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard following her launching in 1939 and has commanded her ever since.

The Seawolf, named for a fabulous beast of the sea, along with the Squalus, is one of 10 submarines of what is known as the Sargo class. It has eight 21 inch torpedo tubes, four in the bow and four in the stern. The Squalus, which foundered in 1939, was later salvaged and renamed the Sailfish.

New U. S. Envoy Received by Molotov in Moscow

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, April 13 (AP).—Adm. William H. Standley, United States ambassador to Russia, was received at the Kremlin in Moscow today by Vyascheslav Molotov, soviet commissar for foreign affairs.

4 ANZACS FLY '3 IN 1' PLANE FROM JAVA TO CEYLON

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 13 (AP).—The epic flight of four Anzac airmen who flew a pieced together American flying fortress from Java to Ceylon was disclosed tonight by a member of the crew following his arrival in Sydney.

He said the four flyers—three Australians and a New Zealander—escaped following their capture near Bandoeng, former allied headquarters in Java, and made their way to Pambeung Puak, a small port on the north Java coast.

There, he related, they found three damaged Lockheeds, one without a tail and another without a nose. They took the tail from the second plane and attached it to the first, patched it up with ropes and bamboo, and completed their makeshift craft with parts from the third plane.

The quartet headed in the general direction of India, flying 1,100 miles across northern Sumatra and 1,400 miles across the Bay of Bengal to Colombo, Ceylon.

$200 WORTH OF LIQUOR STOLEN.

Liquor valued at $200 was stolen from the tavern at 150 East Ontario street, by burglars who smashed the rear lock to gain entrance, Miss Ann Kackert, the owner, reported to police yesterday.

What will women wear in Wartime?

Entrants in the Chicago Tribune's $7,500.00 American Fashions Competition are advised that in choosing prize-winning sketches the Selections Committee will make its decisions in conformity with the order of the War Production Board of April 8, 1942, establishing regulations for women's apparel.

These regulations do NOT effect the published rules of the competition, which will be conducted as announced. Anticipating the Board's order, the rules of the competition state in Section 7:

"Economy and ingenuity in the use of simple materials easily obtainable will count heavily in the judging."

Attention is further called to the following from Section 4 of the rules:

"Entrants shall submit sketches of their designs which may be for any article or ensemble of women's outer wearing apparel suitable for introduction on the American market during the Fall and Winter season, 1942-1943."

In order that all prize-winning sketches shall be suitable for such introduction, sketches which are not in conformity with the WPB order will not be eligible for awards.

Entrants who have already submitted sketches not in such conformity are invited to submit new entries. The sponsor will endeavor to return sketches to such entrants upon receipt of sufficient postage or upon notification from entrants that their "ENTRY" envelopes contain the necessary postage, but return cannot be guaranteed.

DEADLINE: All entries must be received not later than midnight of May 1, 1942. For a free copy of the rules, address American Fashions Competition, Chicago Tribune, Chicago.

REVEAL ALLIES IN JAVA HAD ONLY THIRTY BOMBERS

Fighters Totaled 15; Tanks Five or Six.

had figured that they would by pass the Philippines and make directly for Malaya and the Indies. With that in mind they built hundreds of air fields on Sumatra, Borneo and Celebes islands, figuring that they would have a number of good bases from which to withstand the assault and, since the United States would not be in the war, that we could supply them with large quantities of planes.

However, when the Japanese struck at Pearl Harbor and Manila, forcing the United States into the war, the Dutch were unable to obtain the aircraft they had hoped for and found themselves with many fine airfields but no planes to put on them.

The fall of Singapore, the Dutch say, was a tremendous psychological blow to them. Perhaps even more than the British, they expected this "bastion of the western Pacific" to hold. In Java this defeat brought about a fear psychosis—in a sense, it broke the morale of the Dutch.

Armored Cars Had No Guns.

The Tribune correspondent, one day in February, counted 30 new armored cars parked around Koningsplein [the Queen's palace], a great square in the center of Batavia, but none of them had guns.

The weapons had been shipped on another vessel, and no one knew where it was—possibly at the bottom of the sea.

By March 1, when the invasion began, the entire island knew there was no chance of survival. United States Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett and the British commander, Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, had left.

On Feb. 20, the day it became known that the allied high command was to leave, American, British, and Australian correspondents stayed away from Dutch press headquarters. They did not want to face Dutchmen, particularly Dr. Ritman and Capt. Zimmerman, who had operated the most realistic coöperative press organization of any nation in this war.

Dutch Couldn't Believe It.

The Dutch could not believe they were being thrown overboard, and at first they issued a denial that the high command was leaving.

The Japanese landed on central Java in a section no one expected to be attacked. The army which faced it, according to the highest Dutch sources, was composed of green troops with insufficient rifles, various antiquated guns, and 24 tanks.

The first taste of war these troops had was a six hour bombardment, with no experience to stiffen them, no anti-aircraft guns, no plane protection.

Two divisions of trained troops, including six to seven thousand whites, stood up well to the incessant bombing and machine gunning, but the native troops, battered and bewildered, were not equal to the strain. The Dutch had 30,000 trained troops and 40,000 levies who were untrained, with little equipment.

American, British and Australian troops numbering several thousand placed one English speaking unit near Bandoeng, where the Dutch hoped to make a stand. But within six days the Japanese had driven almost to this temporary capital, and the people in the mountains could see the Japanese planes dancing in and out over nearby ridges, bombing and machine gunning the allied lines, which grew constantly closer to the city. By evening of the sixth, the show was over.

Two Transports Arrive.

The governor general ordered the heads of the air force and a number of others to prepare for departure. At the last minute, a shuttle plane service from Australia sent in two transports.

Loading officials in, they took off. When the last group left Bandoeng, there were only three bombers left of the total of 300 combat planes of all types which had comprised the air force at the outbreak of the war.

Next day, March 7, was the last. The last three bombers were being hunted down by the enemy planes.

By sundown the last remaining Dutch bomber landed on the Bandoeng airdrome. The Japanese were already in the suburbs of the city.

A pilot quickly gathered eight of the last pilots into the bomber, swung aboard some extra fuel and warmed up the motors.

Then, the Japanese already in the city, the ground crew at the field switched on all blazing lights so that the pilot could see to get off and, to the alarm and surprise of the Japanese, he flew away to Australia.

CAPTAIN OF LOST SHIP TELLS 3 DAY BOMBING BY JAPS

100 Planes in Raid on Darwin Harbor.

Berkeley, Cal., April 13 (AP).—Bombs, machine guns and shrapnel can't destroy the spirit of Americans, Capt. Frank S. Link said today after his return from Australia, where his ship was shot out from under him.

The 51 year old captain was wounded in the neck, shoulder, back, thigh and wrist before he and his crew abandoned the lightly armed freighter Meigs Feb. 19 at the end of a three day running battle with Japanese planes.

The war department today reported that Link died of his wounds, but later announced it was "gratified to advise" that he is alive and is recovering.

A hundred Japanese bombers swarmed over American ships in the battle at Darwin, the captain said, before the Meigs went down.

Ship Is Blown to Dust.

Link said he didn't see all the action because he was so busy maneuvering his own ship, but he did see the destroyer Peary and a Matson freighter go down. He saw a Japanese bomb make a direct hit on an American munitions ship. He ducked to avoid the falling fragments.

"But nothing came down," he said. "That ship was blown to dust."

The officer spoke with a rasping voice, the result of a machine gun slug a fraction of an inch from his windpipe. He was first injured by a bomb that struck the ship 20 feet from him. The burst killed John Cleborne, 23, Orinda, Cal., only member of the crew lost.

As Link went to his cabin to get a towel to bind his wounds, another bomb burst almost at his feet, wrecked his cabin and toppled the Meigs' bridge in front of him. He crawled thru the wreckage and bound his wounds with a towel before giving the order to abandon ship, after the Japanese had stopped machine gunning the vessel.

Australian doctors told him he should have bled to death, but the captain smiled, "You can't kill a pioneer American." He is going back as soon as he is mended.

Capt. Link is boiling mad at the Japanese and just as mad at the Americans at home.

"Must Pay Them Back."

"You're all asleep," he rasped. "The people here don't know there is a war going on. We've got to forget ethics with the Japanese and pay them back in their own coin."

His strangest recollection of the attack was of the machine gun bullet that injured his wrist. The slug broke the clasp on his wrist watch, and it clattered to the deck. In the midst of the attack, the captain stooped over and retrieved his broken watch.

Another Freighter Sunk.

The war department disclosed the loss also of the army freighter Liberty, which was twice hit by torpedoes from an enemy submarine on Jan. 11, 12 miles off Bali in the Netherlands Indies, the ship was beached and the 53 crewmen and one passenger were rescued by Dutch planes.

The Liberty, built in 1918, was a vessel of 6,211 gross tons. The Meigs, a veteran of two decades of army service, was built in 1921 and was of 7,451 tons.

2 BOY GUNNERS TELL HOW THEY EACH GOT A JAP

One Wants His Girl to Know About It.

BY BYRON DARNTON.
[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

AT A UNITED NATIONS AIR BASE, Southwestern Pacific, April 13.—William J. Westland, a Brooklyn boy "going on 20," told today how he had shot down a Japanese zero fighter over Rabaul, New Britain, while on his first real war mission.

About eight minutes earlier a gunner from the same group, Private Hugo H. Speier of Minneapolis, also scored what crew members called a "sure kill."

Speier, who will be 21 on June 17, said he had seen a zero take off just as his ship was banking into a curve after having bombed shipping in Rabaul harbor.

"The zero came up and stood off at one side from us and I slung some lead at him," said Speier. "We were traveling fast and he dropped behind, going off to our right rear, and I got him there. He fell smoking and slipping to one side. He had fired at our ship, but hadn't hit it."

Wants Girl to Know.

Speier was taciturn about his accomplishments and could say only that "it's a thrill, and I feel pretty good about it."

He hopes Miss Ruth Nordberg, 19, of Minneapolis, learns of his good fortune.

Here is Bill Westland's story:

"A few minutes before we came over the target anti-aircraft fire started and it was all around us. Everybody was a little scared—I know I was—because this was our first time over. We dropped our bombs and I heard the pilot [Lieut. L. G. Lewis of Norfolk, Va.] say 'Let's get the hell out of here.'

Gives Him 50 Rounds.

"The first thing I knew we dived down, and I started looking around to see if any Jap planes were after us. I found one coming at us from the front, and he cut across our right wing. I turned the turret around let him have a burst of 50 rounds.

"Before I could let him have any more, he was gone. The co-pilot told me later that he saw our tracers go into him.

"Another zero came at us from the tail. He was 1,000 feet above our plane and he started to come down at about a 15 degree angle. I fired a few rounds at him and kept him away from the ship, and then I ceased firing, thinking I would let him come in. He got about 400 yards from our plane and then started to climb. By this time he was directly back on our tail.

Felt "Kind of Funny."

"I figured he was climbing to dive down on us and I let him have everything I could—250 rounds. I saw tracers go all thru the zero. It seemed to be sort of suspended in the air for a fraction of a second, then went down with its wings wobbling. I didn't see the Jap bail out."

Asked how he felt when he got his first Japanese, Bill said:

"Kind of funny." Then he took up his story again:

"When we landed a boy from another ship came over and asked me if I was the turret gunner in our ship, and I said yes. He told me I'd got him for sure.

"But I didn't do it, everybody in the crew did it. And if the pilot and co-pilot had not done some good flying when we had to dodge a lot of anti-aircraft we'd never got the zero."

FOUND DEAD ON 'L' TRACKS.

William Palo, 57 years old, 4451 North Winchester avenue, a carpenter, was found dead early yesterday on the elevated tracks at the Damen avenue station, the victim of a skull fracture suffered when he fell from the platform.

THE QUESTION.
Where and when do you do your best thinking?

WHERE ASKED.
Fisher building, 343 South Dearborn street.

THE ANSWERS.

Harry Marcus, placement manager, 1605 Farwell avenue—It seems every important plan I've ever made has been thoroly thought out before I went to sleep at night. Sometimes I wish I could get over the habit, but that's when trains of thought start to unravel.

Dennis Robinson, salesman, 4520 Clarendon avenue—It is stimulating for me to get involved in a good discussion with a customer. Then after all the pros and cons have been aired, I can delve more deeply into thought. It doesn't matter where I am then, just so I'm alone.

Mrs. S. M. Sobczak, secretary, 1845 South Karlov avenue—It might seem to other people that I'm sort of lost out there, but I like to think out a problem in the park all by myself. If I can see the lake it's more or less of an inspiration or sedative as the need may be.

Patricia Buckley, stenographer, 915 Bonnie Brae avenue, River Forest—Some of my very best thinking has been done on the upper deck of a double deck bus. If I'm alone in the front seat, the distractions are few and I've come to some pretty important decisions up there. If I'm in deep thinking, it's a nice place to day dream, too.

Rev. Harry G. Holstine, minister, 3800 South Ellis avenue—The room where I do my most profound thinking was built for that purpose alone. It's a comfortable study adjoining the mission. There's no telephone and never an interruption so it's an atmosphere to induce thinking at any time.

Irene Marantic, stenographer, 3755 West 62d place—Whenever I have some serious matter I want to think about I accomplish the most if I go to a fine, quiet restaurant or hotel and have a leisurely dinner all by myself. Then I find there's nothing familiar to divert my attention from the issue.

Italy Answers F. D. R.; It's 'The War of Succession'

BERNE, Switzerland, April 13.—Enzio Maria Gray, Italian national councilor, proposed to the "international" conference of newspaper men in Venice that the present war be christened the "guerra di successione"—the war of succession. The proposal, it is stated, was accepted and instructions have already been given to the Italian press. The term refers to the Nazi and Fascist new order succeeding the "old order of democracy."

NAVY SWITCHES COMMANDER OF HAWAIIAN AREA

Bloch Is Relieved; Bagley Succeeds Him.

Washington, D. C., April 13 (AP).—The navy announced tonight that Rear Adm. Claude C. Bloch, commandant of the 14th naval district at Honolulu, had been ordered to duty in the office of the secretary of the navy here and had been replaced by Rear Adm. David W. Bagley.

The nature of Adm. Bloch's assignment in the secretary's office was not given out.

As commander of the naval district at Hawaii, Adm. Bagley also becomes commander of the Hawaiian sea frontier and responsible for the protection of waters in the immediate vicinity of the Hawaiian Islands.

At Pearl Harbor Dec. 7.

Rear Adm. Bloch was one of the three high army and navy officials at Pearl Harbor during the period of the Japanese attack Dec. 7. The investigation by the Roberts committee, however, fixed full responsibility of the failure of the armed services there to be on the alert against attack on Adm. Husband E. Kimmel, commander of the Pacific fleet, and Lieut. Gen. Walter C. Short, the army chief there.

Kimmel and Short later were removed from their commands but Bloch, to whom no responsibility for lack of the alertness was attached, remained as commandant of the 14th district until ordered to service here.

The navy's brief announcement of the assignment of Bagley to relieve Bloch made no explanation of the change.

Once Commander of Fleet.

Bloch, who was commander in chief of the United States fleet, with the rank of admiral, from January, 1938, to January, 1940, reverted to his permanent rank of rear admiral and became the 14th district commandant on April 11, 1940. He had therefore completed a normal two year duty two days ago.

Bloch will be 64 years old July 12, which under normal conditions would be retirement age. However, the President may retain or recall officers over retirement age in an emergency.

Adm. Bagley was commandant of the navy yard at Mare Island for an unidentified period beginning in May, 1938. Later he was given a command at sea and it was from that assignment that he was sent to Honolulu.

A native of Raleigh, N. C., which the navy described as still his "usual residence," Bagley is 59 years old and has had a wide variety of naval experience.

Bloch is a native of Woodbury, Ky., and the navy gave his usual residence as Bowling Green, Ky.

14 DIE, 40 HURT IN ACCIDENT TO BRITISH BOMBER

LONDON, April 13 (AP).—Fourteen officers and men, including a brigadier, were killed and 40 to 50 others were wounded today in an accident involving a dive bomber during maneuvers in southern England.

Details were not supplied, but an earlier announcement had said a number of soldiers, including some members of the home guard, were killed and others injured.

Live ammunition has been introduced into recent maneuvers to give a touch of realism and accustom participants to actual war conditions, informed sources said, expressing the view that some casualties were inevitable because of the scope of the exercises.

Command Shift

(Story in adjoining column.)

Rear Adm. D. W. Bagley (right), appointed commandant of the 14th naval district at Honolulu, and Rear Adm. C. C. Bloch, whom he replaces. Bloch has been ordered to duty in the office of the secretary of the navy.

HONOLULU, April 13 (AP).—A secret, hazardous, and important mission over enemy territory brought distinguished flying crosses to four officers and five enlisted men at Hickam field today. The awards were presented by Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, commander of the army's Hawaiian department.

Citations accompanying the awards credited the men with heroism and extraordinary achievement while participating in an aerial flight, but gave no additional details.

Receiving crosses were: First Lieut. Cecil L. Faulkner, Bellevue, Tex.; Second Lieut. Walter K. Heitzman, Lodi, Cal.; Second Lieut. William B. Compton, Compton, Cal.; Second Lieut. Thomas C. Mustain, Omaha, Neb.; Master Sergt. Benjamin Clikton, Fort Worth, Tex.; Corp. Jerome G. Parsons, Johnstown, Pa.; Pvt. First Class Joseph A. Capute, Hartford, Conn., and Pvt. Robert Johns, Forty Fort, Pa.

Report Germany's Night Fighters Use Diesel Power

VICHY, France, April 13 (AP).—A Berne, Switzerland, dispatch quoting the Berlin correspondent of Die Tat said today the Germans were using multiple seated Diesel planes equipped with radio location apparatus as night fighters. The detection apparatus was said to determine the position and direction of attacking planes by picking up radio waves from the raiders' ignitions. The Germans were said to be using Diesel motors so there would be no magneto interference with the detectors.

JAP WAR PLANES CALLED INFERIOR TO U. S. FIGHTERS

Washington, D. C. April 13 (AP).—Japanese fighting planes were pictured by the war department today as relatively obsolete in comparison with American and British craft.

In a report based on performance figures and descriptions assembled by the United States forces and the British air ministry, the department said that of the 31 types of Japanese combat planes listed, nine were army and navy fighters characterized by lightness of weight, absence of protective armor, small guns and engines of low horsepower.

Armament of these planes consists of 7.7mm. machine guns, roughly equivalent to the American .30 caliber weapons, the department said, altho occasionally Japanese planes have been noted which were armed with 20mm. cannon, and one recent model has machine guns and two 20mm. cannon.

U. S. Has Heavier Guns.

In comparison, machine guns on most American and British combat planes are much heavier .50 caliber guns, and 37mm. cannon are used in most cases.

German pursuit ships, the announcement said, are much heavier than the Japanese, have more powerful engines, generally higher speeds and more protective armor for the pilots, and are marked by more frequent use of 20mm. cannon. The German planes also use 7.9mm., or about .31 caliber machine guns.

Italian fighters were said to provide much better armor protection than Japanese models. They usually are armed with 12.7mm. machine guns, comparing almost exactly with the American .50 caliber weapon. Italian aircraft engines were said to have less power than the German craft.

No Japanese twin engine fighters were reported.

Copy Sikorsky Model.

The only four engined Japanese ship listed was the Awanishi T97, navy flying boat. Said to be based on the S32 Sikorsky flying boat, this is a monoplane powered with four 900 horsepower air cooled motors and has an approximate range of 1,500 miles with 3,500 pounds of bombs. It carries a crew of 10 and is armed with two machine gun turrets.

The Japanese Mitsubishi T97, powered with two 870 horsepower air cooled engines, was described as able to carry 4,400 pounds of bombs over a range of 1,180 miles, and the Kawasaki T97 can carry either 1,100 pounds of bombs for 1,250 miles or 4,400 pounds of bombs for 240 miles.

The Japanese navy types also were said to include multiple engined flying boats equipped with cannon as heavy as 37 mm.

TELLS HOW NAVY BOMBERS GUARD MERCHANT SHIPS

Flies Over 'Graveyard' Off Atlantic Coast.

BY JOHN A. MOROSO III.

ABOARD A NAVAL BOMBER OVER THE ATLANTIC, April 8 [Delayed] [Wide World].—Like a shepherd tending his flocks, this powerful plane is guarding some merchant ships thru one of the most dangerous submarine zones in the world.

I am writing this in the waist of the throbbing ship, seated in the starboard blister—a bulging window with a machine gun for trimming. I am surrounded with bombs, machine guns, bullets, Very pistols, and other tools of war.

We left our base shortly after dawn for a rendezvous with the plodding, heavily laden merchantmen. Lieut. H. E. McNeely of Detroit, Mich., led us straight to the spot many miles away.

No Subs Sighted.

We have been out four hours now and not a sub has been sighted. We got a temporary thrill when we spotted mud rising to the surface but it wasn't a sub. I have sat in the bombardier's seat in the nose of the ship and also in the pilot's seat while the copilot and navigator, Renfro Turner, of Memphis, Tenn., ran the ship.

We are off Hatteras now and we have a delicious lunch of steak, stewed corn and tomatoes, pineapple, bread and butter and coffee—prepared in a neat galley amidships. We watch for subs while we eat and the photographer takes a picture of a merchantman.

Below us is the overturned bottom of a tanker, glistening red. A long oil slick extends to the horizon. Not far away the masts and a funnel of two other torpedoed ships stand out like gravestones.

Another ship—burned and down by the stern—is sighted.

We have been out eight hours now and no sub has been sighted. But the important thing is that the ships are getting thru. We are nearing the graveyard's imaginary boundary. Oil slicks are behind us.

Ships Reach Safety.

Other planes skirt rapidly around our ship. Land looms ahead—our ships are safely thru. The dealers of death below the whitecaps did not risk it today. We are at our base again—10 hours after taking off.

Some observations while with the fleet:

This is no soft job—that glamour business is the bunk. Adaptability—to be able to adjust yourself quickly to a strange environment—is a prime asset.

In eastern naval bases the transportation facilities are poor and taxi rates vary according to the driver's technique in judging his patron's purse.

The shoreside food situation is extremely poor. Service is bad and the food served is generally bad. I paid $2.25 for an alleged steak, a bit of salad, a potato, and coffee at one southern base and I had to wait an hour to get it.

The liquor situation ashore is staggering. Sailors pay twice the fee charged in good New York bars for a Tom Collins.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and personally, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries. Persons are asked to keep their letters short because of the volume of mail.]

R. F. V. writes: "Kindly define an army provost marshal. Is this a commissioned officer's rank, and is there one at every army camp?"

ANSWER: The provost marshal general is not a rank but is a department of the army. It is a branch of the special staff. A commissioned officer is assigned to the post of provost marshal general. In general, the duties of the department are:

1. Establishment and training of the corps of military police.
2. Detention, care, feeding, and housing of prisoners of war and alien enemies.
3. Coördination of two or more corps areas in the use of troops in case of domestic disturbance, whether caused by strike, fire, flood, riot, or sabotage.
4. Criminal investigations within the army.
5. Operation of the visa and passport control division, which considers applications of noncitizens to enter or leave the United States.
6. Maintenance of the school for military government. When enemy territory is taken over by our troops, there must be officers ready to take over the government of those areas who understand the local history and racial tendencies and who have knowledge of sanitary engineering, communications, public utilities, etc. Personnel for these tasks will be trained in the school for military government.

Miss M. R. writes: "A friend of mine registered in the first draft and has not yet received his classification. Is it possible that some men from the first registration have not yet been classified or is it that my friend has been overlooked?"

ANSWER: There are a few boards with a large number of registrants from the first draft who have not yet been able to classify all the men. Your friend eventually will receive his classification.

M. S. writes: "I was classified 4-F because of a heart condition. This diagnosis was verified three times by local doctors over a period of 12 months. Now I have been reclassified to A-1. What right has a draftee to appeal such a classification?"

ANSWER: No registrant has the right to appeal from the determination of his physical condition by either the local board or army induction station examining physicians. You will be given a thoro examination at the army induction center and if you are found to be suffering from a heart condition you will likely be reclassified to 4-F.

R. R. M. asks: "Does the navy permit an enlisted man to transfer to the army air corps as an aviation cadet, provided, of course, the man is qualified for pilot training? Also, would an enlisted married man be eligible for the naval air corps?"

ANSWER: Qualified enlisted men in the navy are permitted to transfer to the army corps. If an enlisted man in some branch of the nation's armed forces is eligible for a commission in another branch, it is possible for him to be transferred. Candidates for the naval air corps must be single.

U. S. WILL SUPPLY AIRCRAFT, SHIPS, GUNS TO HAITI

Credits, Cotton Purchases Also Arranged.

Washington, D. C., April 13 [Special].—In order to strengthen Haiti's defenses, the United States was disclosed today to have promised to supply the Caribbean republic with warplanes and instructors, coast guard and patrol vessels, coast artillery, and help in building a railroad.

This country also will purchase Haiti's cotton, extend credits for exchange purposes and send experts to improve health and sanitation conditions in the West Indies isle called the "black man's paradise."

Follows Rio Conference.

These and other measures for strengthening the military, naval and economic position of Haiti were announced today following conferences here of President Elie Lescot of the republic. The arrangements were set forth in a memorandum on April 6.

The action is in line with policies agreed upon at the conference of foreign ministers in Rio de Janeiro and the declaration of the united nations, and are supplemental to the lend-lease agreement between the United States and Haiti on Sept. 16, 1941.

Cadets to Be Trained.

In addition to stationing vessels suitable for coast guard and patrol purposes in Haitian waters, the United States agreed to make provisions to train Haitian cadets on these vessels. Additional agreements include the construction of a new patrol boat to be used in the Haitian coastal defense.

The railway for which the United States will grant construction assistance will be a marine line at Port au Prince.

It was further agreed that this country would purchase Haiti's surplus cotton crop of last year and this year and to buy all the 1943 crop and all subsequent cotton crops produced in Haiti.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

Gray Fox Seen at Farm.

April 13, 1942.

THE manager at the Du Page county farm had a rather startling moment recently. He strolled down to the barn where the Shorthorn herd is kept. Walking around the corner of the building he came practically face to face with a big, gray fox. The manager yelled and the animal wheeled about, scooted across the pasture, and disappeared into the woods.

This makes the second fox that has been seen around the farm. Several of the men have at different times caught sight of a small, red fox that haunts the edge of the woods near the poultry yard, but none suspected the presence of the gray fox. The flockmaster is making doubly sure now that his fences are tight so the two animals will not be able to raid the yard.

There is a danger the foxes might try to kill some of the geese and ducks that are living on the ponds. As the nesting season has begun, the birds will spend a good deal of time on the shores where they are especially vulnerable to attack. On the water they are safe, but if one of the foxes manages to slip betwen the birds and the water it can easily kill several.

A real sign of spring was the appearance of several ground hogs on an alfalfa field near where the men were seeding oats. The big, clumsy animals popped their heads out of their holes, surveyed the landscape for a moment, and then climbed out and sat near their burrows basking in the warm sun.

Shoots Old Ground Hog.

As soon as the men walked within 100 feet of them they disappeared into their holes. One of the men went back to the farmhouse and got a small caliber rifle. For a half an hour he waited patiently in the middle of the field. Soon a head appeared followed a moment later by a fat, gray body. Taking careful aim the farm hand shot the ground hog. Upon close inspection the animal proved to be an old fellow, filthy and lousy.

The ground hogs can do an enormous amount of damage to a field by digging large holes that destroy stands of grain and hay and make traps in which a horse might easily break its leg.

The field work is continuing on schedule and the big tractors are rolling in the fields most of the day. Plowing, disking, and oat seeding are the main events on the work program at present. Soon all of the oats will be in and the men will concentrate on gettting the corn land ready for seeding.

RAF BOMBERS OVER GERMANY; BRITAIN RAIDED

LONDON, April 14 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Some RAF activity over Germany last night was reported in informed quarters today, but bad weather was said to have kept most of Britain's big bomber squadrons grounded.

German raiders attacked coastal districts in eastern and northeastern England last night, taking some lives but nowhere causing extensive damage or casualties, a communique announced. One raider stabbed inland "some distance toward the northwest," it said.

RAF Over Germany: Nazis.

BERLIN, April 14 [Tuesday]—[From German broadcasts]—(AP).—The royal air force, penetrating Germany for the second successive night, was over north coast areas last night, DNB said today. "Strong German defenses compelled the British to turn back before they reached the coast and dropped any bombs," the agency said. German bombers raided "a British supply port in the estuary of the Humber," on the east coast of England, it was claimed.

DEDICATE NEW OFFICER CENTER IN ATHLETIC CLUB

The new Chicago Officers' Service club, made up of the 10 top floors of the Skyline Athletic club, 188 West Randolph street, was dedicated at noon yesterday. Col. R. M. Montague, of the Marine corps, Col. Norman B. Wood of the army, and Capt. B. B. Wygant, navy, represented the three services.

Mrs. R. M. McClure will direct activities at the club, which will be operated by the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs. Officers will receive cards entitling them to reduced rates on theater and movie tickets, night clubs, hotels, and other amusements.

Mayor Kelly disclaimed any connection with the new club. "I was invited to attend the opening of the club, but because it is not an official organization I did not attend," he said.

The mayor, director of civilian defense in the Chicago metropolitan area, said the Service Men's center at 174 West Washington street was open both to officers and men, and that if the national defense commission desired to open an officers' club, it would do so alone.

"Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."
—Stephen Decatur.

A STRANGE CONSPIRACY.

An article in a recent number of the magazine, Life, contained some remarks and implications about THE TRIBUNE which, had they been merely preposterous we should have ignored as over the years we have ignored much else that silly, envious, or malicious people have said about us. The article in question seeks to create the impression that THE TRIBUNE is lacking in patriotism and lacking in determination to win the war. THE TRIBUNE is listed among "voices of defeat." The others mentioned in this connection are a conglomeration of crackpots and Know-Nothings of the stripe of Coughlin and Pelley.

The charge is so fantastic as to deserve no attention and would receive none save for the fact that the same slander has been repeated elsewhere, in various radical journals. It looks like a conspiracy in which the disreputable papers under Mr. Luce's direction have joined themselves to the crypto-communists of Greenwich village. It is possible to believe that the leadership in this campaign of slander comes from press agents on the Washington pay roll who are enraged at THE TRIBUNE because it has been outspoken in criticism of incompetence in the prosecution of the war. The job of the press agents is to keep the people of this country contented with defeat.

It is easy enough to explain the readiness of the New Republic and the Nation to join the campaign. The opinion which they represent was eager to believe before Pearl Harbor that the Japanese were bluffing, or, if they weren't bluffing, were a pushover. Events have caught up with these comfortable views. The little editors are therefore enraged at everybody except themselves. They call THE TRIBUNE defeatist for exposing incompetence in Washington and then proceed on their own account to use far harder language against the Stimsons and Knoxes than we have ever employed.

THE TRIBUNE has said that the state department follows the leadership of the British foreign office, and for saying that has earned the enmity, among others, of a millionaire New York publisher with a sister married into the British aristocracy. But the Nation, in rage, says an influential circle in the state department, Mr. Hull's state department, is conniving with European Fascism when this country is at war against it, a charge which we have not made and would not make in the absence of incontrovertible evidence.

THE TRIBUNE has been critical of the folly which divided the fleet before Pearl Harbor and then, after our weakened forces had been placed in an exposed position, failed to take reasonable precautions against surprise. THE TRIBUNE has said that the men responsible for the disaster remain in office to repeat their blundering. We have expressed alarm at the persistence of the policy of scattering our strength about the globe when all military history teaches the lesson of concentration of force. The little editors in their turn have said many of the same things. We have contrasted the brilliant leadership of MacArthur with the blundering of the Washington amateurs. We might with equal force contrast the heroism of a Colin Kelly or an Arthur Wermuth with the skulking of a Luce or a Winchell.

Naturally, the radical press hates THE TRIBUNE for its disbelief in communism. The little editors recall, too, that in the years of peace, when THE TRIBUNE was preaching preparedness, they were preaching pacifism. We were not as impressed as some of them were with the British imperial façade. We were not pro-foreign, but pro-American, and that infuriated the socially ambitious and the bleeding hearts including, no doubt, the heart of Mr. Luce.

Well, if it gives these gentlemen any satisfaction, we will tell them now that better and more determined men than they have tried to scare us into silence without succeeding. We aren't going to sit by while we believe the war effort is being bungled by incompetents and amateurs. The people of the middle west, to whom and for whom we speak, are determined to win this war and to win it as speedily as may be, and they expect the truth from us.

The middle west thought the war could be avoided, but the middle west is not anarchic and its allegiance is not divided. The nation is at war and to the middle west that means that the war ends when it is won by us, and not before. We don't know what the bleeding hearts will be saying if the struggle is a prolonged one, nor what the crypto-communists will be saying if the party line gets a new turning. We do know that the middle west is not going to show a yellow streak, come what may.

The people of the middle west don't have to be nursed along to support the war. They were in it from the moment the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, and are strong enough in their faith to hear the truth about the burocracy without being shaken.

CLEANUP IN THE OCD.

The Office of Civilian Defense, according to a Washington report, has quieted down a great deal since the exits of Mrs. Roosevelt and Frantic Fiorello. Since the retirement of the two directors the proponents of the more flagrant sort of boondoggling that flourished under their leadership have been separated from the pay roll. The department of folk dancing, singing, and picnicking has been liquidated. Melvyn Douglas is back in Hollywood making movies. A number of exmayors whom the administration felt it had to take care of when they were repudiated by their constituents have been bounced out of their jobs as inspectors general.

The cleanup in the OCD is the result of criticism, and primarily of newspaper criticism. If newspapers had acceded to the wish of New Deal propagandists, who want them to tell the people that any fantasy conceived in Washington is a valuable contribution to the war effort and that to oppose it is unpatriotic, the OCD would be carrying on the same program of boondoggling and youth movements and art councils that brought it into such disrepute with the public. Because critics were found with courage enough to expose the incompetents and the draft dodgers and the wasters, the situation has been remedied.

The OCD has been stopped from doing a lot of things which it had no business doing. It remains to be seen whether it is doing the things it should be doing. Civilian defense is a serious matter. It is a form of insurance against attacks that may or may not materialize, but if they do materialize and the insurance is not kept in force the price may be a good many thousand American lives.

Locally the OCD has set up an elaborate system of block captains and air raid wardens. They are to have their first rehearsal tomorrow night and the city will know thereafter how much more the organization may need in the way of training and instruction. Meanwhile self-interest as much as duty requires every citizen to give his full coöperation to the civilian defense organization. Its only reason for being is to help him save his life in case of attack.

THE COST OF LIVING INDEX.

The need to keep prices from getting out of hand is clear. The making of many kinds of consumer durable goods is to be stopped completely and of other kinds is to be greatly restricted. While the supply of goods for consumers is being severely reduced the supply of spendable money is being greatly expanded. This year's national income will be perhaps 15 billion dollars greater than last year's and the increase will largely go to persons who pay little or no income tax.

The fact that the need for taking action is granted should not result in ill-considered measures which might aggravate the problem. As evidence that an inflationary rise in prices has already begun, administration leaders have pointed to the rise in average commodity prices in the last year. According to the last release of the department of labor, the rise was 19.1 per cent from April 5, 1941, to April 4, 1942. But this average for all commodities does not tell the complete story. Some articles have gone up more than the average and some have gone up less than the average. Let us see which is which.

The department of labor report shows that while the price level has gone up 19.1 per cent farm products have risen 43.3 per cent and foods 26.7 per cent. The next largest price gain was for textile products which went up 21.1 per cent, largely a reflection of the increase in farm prices. No other class of commodity has risen as much as these. Leaving out of the calculation all of these farm products and foods, the department of labor reports an advance of only 11.4 per cent in a year.

In the index for farm products, grains, cotton, and tobacco are heavily weighted. These commodities have had a big advance in a year as a result of inducements offered by the government for the withholding of crops from markets. Thus the price level has been lifted largely as a result of action taken by the government itself. That being true, what the government needs to do is to call off the price hoisting activities operating in commodities of which the supply is excessive.

While Washington has been putting up the price of things we have too much of, and doing it very effectively as the advance in farm products shows, it has been similarly effective in keeping down the price of things of which we have a short supply. Thus there is a shortage of scrap iron. Potential sources of supply of old metal are wide indeed. Every factory, railroad, and public utility at one time or another contributes to the stock of iron and steel scrap. Any increase in the price adds to the inducement to dismantle old equipment. If the old iron price goes up, it becomes profitable to wreck old buildings for the salvage there is in them. The establishment of price determines the supply. As regards scrap iron, the problem is particularly serious because until recently Japan was taking all the loose junk she could find in this country.

What is true of scrap iron is equally true of many other strategic products. The relationship between price and supply is definitely established. When the price is raised an inducement is offered to increase output. When price is controled a portion of the supply is not to be had. Despite that well known fact, the government has been putting up the price of things we have too much of and keeping down the price of things we haven't enough of.

As a result of the artificial increase there is not now enough storage space for some agricultural products. As a result of the artificial shortages it is necessary to stop all but war uses of certain commodities. Price control to date has not been what it ought to be. To be effective it must be intelligent, courageous, and impartial. It must take account of the fact that some prices must go up if adequate supplies are to be had.

JESSE JONES' INADEQUATE REPORT.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones has acknowledged the widespread criticism of the sorry state of America's reserve war stores with a 22 page statement to the public. To say that this report is less than adequate is to be more than generous to it.

For the most part, it is a piece of buck passing. Everybody else was responsible, not the banker from Houston, Tex. The national advisory defense commission thought we were in shape to meet our rubber needs; the rubber industry insisted on helping to run any government synthetic rubber program; the oil companies which owned synthetic rubber patents were not coöperative; the OPM permitted an orgy of automobile production last year. And, anyway, the RFC and other lending agencies are not policy makers; they only carry out policies established by the President, the army, navy, and other executive branches.

So this gives Jesse Jones a clean bill? Hardly. He is also secretary of commerce. As secretary of commerce, he is a member of the President's intimate family of advisers, the cabinet, whose very function is to assist the chief executive in working out policies which will be to the best interests of the country. Moreover, Mr. Jones was secretary of the department which is charged with the assembling of information on the business and industry of the country. If we were short of vital war stores, he either knew it or should have known it. If he did know it, the cabinet was the place to bring it home.

About the same time, some of his colleagues were going about the country ridiculing Japan as a potential military force. Mr. Jones had much more cause to give the people correct information about our sorry inventory of war materials than these other cabinet officers had to spout misinformation on Japanese strength.

Those parts of Mr. Jones' statement which deal with war plant construction and future performance read much better. We can only hope he is right this time. But he has not cleared himself, and the question still remains whether he measures up to the responsibilities which are intrusted to him.

It is feared, from the unfavorable reaction in congress toward Vice President Wallace's latest protége, that the country is not quite ready for the desperate extremity of nudism just yet. And besides, few of us have been on rations long enough to attain the proper figure for it.—Kansas City Star.

THE LANGUAGE OF POLITICS.

A primary election is usually a matter of secondary importance. [See the first and second definitions of "primary" in Webster.]

Poll: A comic word for "head"; hence in politics a method of counting noses. Before it broke into politics this was a tax-collector's word. A man with a swelled head is not a popular character, but a man with a swollen poll is the people's choice.

Gubernatorial: A word avoided like the plague by every one except political writers and orators. It is probably the ugliest polite word in the English language. It comes from a Latin word meaning "rudder," and entered the American language when a certain statesman said, "I'd rudder be right than be gubernator."

Ward heeler: A contemptuous expression for a low grade political henchman who either [1] follows his "boss" like a dog at heel, or [2] wears out his heels in canvassing for votes, or [3] engages in the bribery of voters and is "well heeled" [supplied with money] for that purpose. The origin of the term is uncertain, but it is generally agreed that such fellows are heels.

Ballot: It is derived from an Italian word meaning "little ball," and came into the language of politics because pellets were used, in ancient times, for secret voting. The ballot, in its old form, survives only in clubs and secret societies, and after the box has been passed around from one member to another, with averted head, a little black ball is often found nestling among the white balls. Nobody ever knows how it got there.

Slush fund: The Ship of State inherits this term from the British navy, which used it for monies from the sale of discarded equipment and obsolete vessels. In sailor talk "slush" is grease, and a slush fund is used for the greasing of palms. Private slush funds are illegal, but public slush funds have been a notable development of the Era of Social Gains.

girls, brace up—we've got to hurdle obstacles without a girdle and we know it calls for courage at the start we're all in this thing together so let's bear it—fore and nether we will show the boys that we can do our part tho our figures' mad cavorting show the need of more supporting and our dresses fit us like old burlap bags we will bolster each man's spirit why, they'll come right out and cheer it when we proudly wave our hips

A Fair Warning to Bob Becker.

Mr. Mac, represented as a collie, was a 10 pound fuzz-ball when he came to Mortgage Villa. In a few weeks his paws were immense, nose a little too short, head too wide to be a collie. A dog expert advised that while his tan and white collie markings were perfect, a Great Dane had sneaked into the family tree three or four generations before. He now weighs 72 pounds. I had to rebuild his doghouse when he became grown as it was too small for both of us, and I spend half my time saying, "Get over, Mac, papa's in again."

Recently I said to him, "What am I going to feed you when we can't buy canned dog food any more? It is getting scarce, and with you gulping two cans every day it will soon be a problem."

Mr. Mac snapped at a dead leaf drifting by, then said, "Why don't you ask Bob Becker? All my life [three years] you've told me Bob Becker says no white bread or potatoes, or Bob Becker says no beans, candy, or beer for dogs. It's Bob Becker this, that, and the other until I'd like to catch him opening our gate. Man, what I'd do to him! Honestly, those mashed potatoes you pile up on your plate smell so good I'd swap three dog biscuits for one slurp of mashed potatoes and gravy."

"Why Mr. Mac! I'd no idea you felt so strongly about that. Next Sunday you shall have a small portion of m. p. and g., and I will ask Bob Becker how to feed you on something less than one pay check per month."

A piece of paper was blowing across the back of the lot, so I don't know if he heard my last remark; he was busy running the hundred yards in less than nine seconds. Adrian of Arizona.

May I offer a modest correction to the statement [April 9] that our "Little Room" was named after a tale by Henry B. Fuller? The source was a mystery story by Madeleine Yale, published under that title. Fuller gave me a copy of the book, with an inscription attesting this origin.

ECZEMA, A MALADY OF MANY MOODS.

THE term "eczema" covers a multitude of blemishes. The malady, as a rule, comes from within. It arises from an irritant to which the patient is unusually allergic [sensitive] and has nothing whatsoever to do with bacteria.

Once the disorder has appeared, however, it may spread and become far more angry looking because harsh soaps are employed. The same situation presents itself when pus producing organisms move in. For example, after the skin has "broken out"—with scaling, the formation of crusts, and the oozing of serum—we have an ideal environment for the growth of microörganisms. Then, too, dirt and exposure will enlarge the areas involved. Thus it is that healing may be long delayed, the symptoms settling down into a chronic course persisting for months.

If the acute stage can be attacked promptly, particularly if the "starter" can be found and eliminated, recovery is prompt. If, on the other hand, good care is out of the question, the ailment may continue indefinitely. Then it is that the epidermis of the affected region will become thick and leathery, especially where it encounters pressure. The elbows, knees, etc., are favorite sites.

In our hunt for the origin, we may overlook infection such as root abscesses about the teeth. In fact, many instances have been reported wherein immediate relief followed the extraction of an offending molar, the removal of diseased tonsils, or the correction of some chronic bowel or sinus disturbance.

Regardless of other causes, it is usually well to avoid contact with wool. Cotton, rayon, or silk undergarments and hose are preferred. They should be loose enough so that friction will not be experienced.

Once the blemishes have developed, if soap is used, it should be castile or a superfatted variety. It is highly desirable to retain the natural oil produced by the sebaceous glands—not to wash it away.

Sometimes a careful inspection of the diet will spot the culprit. Omitting the offending dish, or establishing immunity to it, may wind up the affair in relatively short order.

Every physician has his own method of management. Certain general principles, however, may be laid down. It seems reasonable to prohibit greasy ointments which will not only retain heat but will not mix with the exudate. What is needed is an application which will cool the underlying skin and dilute the discharges. For this purpose, old fashioned calamine lotion is utilized routinely. If itching is intense, a drop or two of carbolic acid may be added to each ounce of the preparation.

At the outset, it is important to change the dressings frequently—every two to four hours, except during sleep. Later, as improvement is observed, a simple dusting powder consisting of zinc oxide, starch, and talc may be all that is required.

Chronic cases demand more stimulating drugs. Our chief reliance is a solution of tar mixed with starch paste and zinc oxide. Ultraviolet rays, with two or three exposures a week, will stir up the cells just enough to bring healing. X-rays, likewise, have been resorted to.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH TEACHING.

Chicago, April 11.—Your splendid editorial, "What They Learn in School," is a serious and timely indictment of our national school system. The conclusion, that a teacher whose pupils, if normally intelligent, can't pass an appropriate test in arithmetic ought not to be allowed to teach, bears investigation.

There are very few teachers who, if left to their own resources, unhampered by the shackles of modern pedagogy, would not teach the simple arts of reading, writing, and arithmetic. The source of all trouble lies with our normal schools and the educational departments of the universities that have virtually driven all real teaching from the schools of our country. Every teacher who has passed thru the hocus-pocus magic of the pedagogical courses is impressed with the fact that he is forbidden to teach. The rôle of a modern progressive teacher is that of a moderator of the various student activities. He merely supervises the many school "projects." In short, he is told by his authorities—the head of the department, the principal and the superintendent—to put on a good show. The camera, the sound pictures, and the radio skits are the proofs of his success as a teacher. The fact that the great majority of our elementary school graduates cannot read, write, spell, or do simple problems in arithmetic are hidden from the public eye.

The child of the prenormal school era could read the almanac or the Bible before he was 10 years old, but the average high school graduate of today cannot read, spell, or write a coherent paragraph, simply because he had never really learned to read. He tries to get the meaning of the printed page by racing over the easy words and skipping the hard ones. He cannot spell because his eyes are not trained to notice the individual words. He is not conscious of the beauties of style because reading is to him a painful and a distasteful process. In brief, he has not mastered the art of reading which is still the basis of all education.

The other mortal sin of modern educational system is the discarding of drill. There is no royal road to learning arithmetic. It must be taught and it must be learned. The four main processes must be taught thru careful and painstaking drill. No child can become proficient in arithmetic and higher mathematics until he has mastered the multiplication tables. A good teacher is a good drill master. She will have her classes recite the tables in a chorus, chant them, play games founded on them; but she will not rest till every one of her charges has so thoroly learned the tables that they will remain with him the rest of his life.

Let the schools cut out the psychologic adjustment and all other fakery and get down to the business of teaching.

K. R. STEVENS.

THEY KNEW, BUT FORGOT.

Chicago, April 11.—I have been a constant reader of THE TRIBUNE for almost 40 years and in general find your editorials much more interesting, sound and logical than the editorials of other Chicago newspapers.

But I am sorry to say that I must hand you a goose egg for your editorial in today's TRIBUNE which was headed "What They Learn in School." What a child may learn in school up to the time of graduation may not represent his or her knowledge 8, 10, or 12 years after. If a child that has none too great an aptitude for arithmetic has an average grading of 65 to 75 in the grammar grades, and the growing adolescent and young person uses artithmetic almost not at all, as is no doubt often the case, it may well be that such a person at 25 years of age, or so, will have forgotten most of what was learned in school. People nowadays that do not have jobs requiring the use of arithmetic or spelling, and who use the radio and movies exclusively for diversion, are quite likely to know very little about arithmetic or spelling in the adult years. The fact is that it is not the teacher you should blame for this condition but our kind of civilization.

CONSTANT READER.

BUT THEY STILL FLUNK ARITHMETIC.

Highland Park, Ill., April 11.—The results obtained in the navy tests mentioned in the editorial, "What They Learn in School," are so complex as to defy simple analysis. Both the school curriculum and teaching techniques have been subjected to constant evaluation and modification by members of the teaching profession. Not only have the methods for teaching the three "R's" been greatly improved, but new courses have been devised to meet new social conditions. Teachers are fully aware of the fact that many pupils are slow to learn. Teachers endeavor to meet the social needs and abilities of their pupils. Neither they nor the children's parents want pupils put under duress during the formative years. The American schoolteacher is representative of those things which are best in our culture.

When one considers that the high school enrollments have practically doubled for every 10 year period since the beginning of this institution, one gets some conception of the problems which face our profession. We challenge THE TRIBUNE to show an equally fine record for any other public institution at any time or place in history.

There can be little doubt that schools are improved wherever parents are sincerely concerned in what goes on inside school walls and not only in what favors can be secured for their own children. Such fortunate communities pay adequate salaries, secure competent teachers, and receive full value for their taxes.

A COURSE IN GEOGRAPHY.

Washington, D. C., April 1.—I wish to say how great a service I think you are rendering by publishing the maps that appear so frequently on the back page of THE TRIBUNE. You have done more to teach your millions of subscribers something about world geography than any other thing that has ever been done in our national history.

My collection of your maps is not complete, but thru a cousin in Chicago I have obtained many of the maps. This has caused me to wonder if it would not be practical to issue the maps in the form of an atlas. Certainly you have already done a great service.

TAX WASTERS.

Chicago, April 7.—Noting that our Chicago realty taxes are 10 per cent higher this year makes me wonder when our local officials will economize. Why not cut down pay rollers now while jobs are plentiful? Why has not the sales tax reduced real estate taxes? We were told it was passed to relieve real estate, and the sales tax revenue is greater than the politicians ever dreamed.

Why did the present city hall crowd stop the tax limitation amendment at Springfield? Why not let them know what we think on election day with the slogan "What Chicago wastes, wastes Chicago."

NAZIS LOSE 1,103 PLANES IN MONTH, RUSSIANS CLAIM

4 to 1 Advantage Reported Over Germans.

MOSCOW, April 13 (AP).—Destruction of 322 German planes in the last week, bringing the total for a month since March 11 to 1,103, was announced tonight by the soviet information bureau. Russian plane losses were set at 314 since March 11.

Pravda, the communist party paper, said the Germans were hurling hundreds of planes into a desperate gamble for superiority in the air but were losing them at a ratio of 4 to 1 to the Russian defenders.

The midnight communique also reported capture of "a locality of great importance on the northwestern front" in one of several continuing Red army offensives which have regained some populated places.

Location of the important spot was not disclosed. A special announcement over the Moscow radio said 9,000 German soldiers had been killed and 76 tanks destroyed on that front between April 1 and 10.

The Germans lost another transport in the far north, in the Barents sea, the information bureau said.

Three German counterattacks were reported on the Bryansk front south of Moscow, but soviet reports said they definitely were not a major operation.

Reds Close on Bryansk.

LONDON, April 13 (AP).—Exchange Telegraph agency reported today from Stockholm that the Russian radio said the Red army had crossed the Desna river near Bryansk, virtually completing encirclement of that Nazi held city. Bryansk is 200 miles southwest of Moscow.

Reuters news agency said the Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter published a Moscow radio announcement that a big convoy of American, British and Dutch ships had berthed at Murmansk, far northern Russian port.

Attack on Kerch Peninsula.

BERLIN, April 13 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The German high command said today that the Russians attacked again yesterday on the Kerch peninsula of the eastern Crimea "but with weaker forces" after suffering heavy losses the day before and that all attacks were repulsed.

LA GUARDIA AND LANDIS TRADE RAPS OVER OCD

New York, April 13 [Special].—Mayor Fiorello La Guardia today exchanged criticisms, direct and indirect, with James M. Landis, the man who succeeded him as national head of the office of civilian defense after the little mayor resigned following widespread disapproval of his dual jobs.

La Guardia turned on the agency he once considered virtually his own and denounced it as having failed to supply cities, particularly New York with defense equipment. His tirade, made over the radio, appeared to be a continuation of his Sunday talk in which he advised Landis that "you can't be a good fellow in Washington and a good director of OCD at the same time."

In explanation of the delay, Landis subsequently remarked in Washington, without mentioning La Guardia by name, that when he took over the directorship of OCD he found specifications for civilian defense equipment "were in such shape that they had to be substantially revised because they used altogether too much critical material."

OCD TRAINING IS VOLUNTARY, TEACHERS TOLD

Mayor Kelly said yesterday he has told officials of the Chicago Teachers union that no teacher will be forced to take the civilian defense training program prepared for teachers at the direction of Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson.

Last week Albert Lepawski, University of Chicago professor, who was director of training for the Chicago Defense commission, sent Mayor Kelly his resignation, stating that the school board had assumed responsibility for training teachers and was interfering with his program.

"The school system," Mayor Kelly said, "is doing what the police and fire department and other local governmental agencies have done. It is training its own personnel and in that way is coöperating with OCD. The entire movement is voluntary."

$100,000 Fire on Country Estate

BRITAIN LEARNS MOUNTBATTEN IS COMMANDO CHIEF

LONDON, April 13.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill's announcement in the house of commons today that Capt. Lord Louis Mountbatten, 41 year old second cousin of the king, is the new commando chief was greeted with cheers by members of parliament, altho it was no secret to many.

Mountbatten assumed command of the commandos last Oct. 19 after Admiral of the Fleet Sir Roger Keyes relinquished the post but for certain reasons of security the appointment had not been made public before.

Since December three commando raids of importance have been carried out—on Vaagso Island off the coast of Norway, on Bruneval in north France, and on Saint Nazaire on the French west coast.

WINNETKA STEEL MAN FOUND DEAD, PISTOL NEAR BY

John H. Hallgath, 64 years old, retired steel man, died late last night in the Highland Park hospital, six hours after he had been found in the basement of his home at 985 Spruce street, Winnetka, with a bullet wound in his right temple and a .38 caliber revolver beside him. Winnetka police said a note also had been found but would not disclose its contents. Hallgath was discovered by his widow, Rose, and his daughter, Mrs. John Pinner of 235 Harbor street, Glencoe, when they returned from a drive. They said they had last seen him at 2 p. m. He had recently been in ill health.

Some Goods Saved

Paint remover touched off by a spark from an electric outlet started a fire which destroyed the country home of Thomas Hammond, president of the Whiting corporation, in Sugar Grove, six miles west of Aurora, yesterday. The loss was estimated at more than $100,000. Firemen and estate employés saved most of the furnishings in the first floor of the 14 room house. Furnishings and the family clothing in the upper floors were lost.

FOUR HOUR FIRE SWEEPS BUSINESS ZONE IN KEWANEE

Kewanee, Ill., April 13 (AP).—A four hour fire today destroyed or damaged 20 buildings and 50 offices and apartments in a two square block area in the heart of this city of 17,000. Business leaders estimated damage at 1½ million dollars, but police chief George Nelson said the loss might reach 2 millions, including smoke and water damage. The cause was not determined immediately.

Soon after 100 firemen from Kewanee and nine neighboring cities had brought the blaze under control, civic leaders met amid the smouldering embers to plan to rebuild the district.

There were no known dead. Two firemen were injured. Witnesses said they heard a muffled explosion, apparently on the first floor of the Kewanee dry goods store, just before the fire started.

Mayor Mark. A. Saunders of Kewanee said he would ask Gov. Green to assist in getting prompt release of priorities governed building material to be used in rebuilding the area.

REDS WARN: JAPS WILL SUFFER IF SIBERIA IS PERILED

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, April 13 (AP).—Mighty Russia, with hundreds of bombers and submarines 680 miles from Tokio, sternly warned Japan today to observe strictly their year-old neutrality pact despite the "blabbering" of Japanese military leaders about a war in soviet Siberia.

"It is necessary that Japanese military and Fascist cliques, whose heads have been turned by military successes, realize that their blabbering about an annexationist war in the north may cause damage in the first place and most of all to Japan herself," the official communist newspaper Pravda said in a prominent editorial.

Warned to Observe Pact.

"If the Japanese side strictly observes the undertakings she assumed, the soviet-Japanese neutrality pact will preserve its importance for the peoples of both countries even in the present complicated international situation."

Pravda's blunt admonition to Germany's oriental axis partner was made on the anniversary of the historical accord. The editorial cited numerous cases of Japanese aggression in which treaties with the United States, China, and Great Britain were flaunted.

The article noted also that "Japanese intervention in eastern Siberia with the occupation of southern Sakhalin Island [in 1918], the seizure of Manchuria, and the events [soviet-Japanese border clashes] at Khassan lake and in the area of Khalkhingol river" previously had put soviet-Japanese relations "to serious trials."

Cites Japs' Axis Ties.

"On Nov. 25, 1941, Japan took part in the prolongation for five years of the anti-comintern pact, the aggressive essence of which is universally known," the editorial said.

"On Dec. 11 of last year a new tripartite pact was signed by Japan, Germany, and Italy, who mutually undertook jointly not only to war to the finish against Great Britain and the United States, and not to conclude a separate peace, but even after the victorious termination of the war to coöperate most closely in conformity with the tripartite pact."

A self-sufficient Russian force of perhaps 600,000 or more well armed men stands guard on the Siberian frontier facing Japan and her puppet territories, Manchukuo and Corea.

HINT SABOTAGE IN WAR MATERIEL PLANT IN SOUTH

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 13 (AP).—The main plant of the B. Mifflin Hood company, a floor tile factory, was destroyed by fire tonight. Damage was not estimated at once, but company officials feared it would run higher than $50,000.

P. Hayden Grant, vice president, said the company was 100 per cent on war production. He said the fire broke out so quickly and spread so rapidly that "we suspect sabotage."

Hamilton county officers are investigating the fire. The Hood plant, established in 1916, is located at Daisy, a community north of Chattanooga.

SENATOR SEES HIS QUILT CLIMB INFLATION STAIRS

Clark Learns a Lot on a Shopping Trip.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—Sen. Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] went shopping with his wife last Saturday and obtained first hand information about the process of inflation at work in Washington's department stores. He was so alarmed that he made a speech in the senate today demanding immediate action by the Roosevelt administration to put a ceiling over all prices.

Mrs. B. C. Clark.

Sen. Clark expressed approval of the President's announced intention to submit a program to congress calling for over-all control of prices, wages, and profits. He insisted, however, that in the meantime Price Administrator Leon Henderson should use the power he has under the price control act to halt the upward spiraling of retail as well as wholesale prices.

Every One Marking Up.

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] and Sen. Clyde M. Reed [R., Kas.] agreed with Clark, but Sen. Elmer Thomas [D., Okla.], an advocate of printing press money, argued that prices are not high enough.

The Missouri senator said he was amazed to learn on Saturday that some articles which his wife had reserved the day before at one of Washington's leading department stores had gone up 30 per cent in price.

"I found that the whole staff of that great department store were engaged in marking up prices all along the line," he said.

Quilts Boosted 50 Per Cent.

The senator said his wife had examined some cotton quilts on Friday and they were $4.50 a pair. When she examined them on Saturday, he said, they were $6.75 a pair, just 50 per cent higher.

Clark said he was told about the case of a woman who examined two pairs of shoes and could not decide which pair she wanted. She went to lunch and gave further thought to the question. When she returned, an hour later, they had gone up 50 cents a pair.

Clark described the marking up of prices by retailers as an effort to beat the ceilings to be proposed by the President. He urged that over-all price ceilings be fixed as of an antecedent date "in order to defeat such chiseling."

MRS. MARTHA M'KINZIE.

Poplar Bluff, Mo., April 13 [Special].—The marriage of 14 year old Martha Gillihan of Aurora, Ill., to Melvin McKinzie, 32, of Jonesboro, Ark., was revealed today as the bridal couple and the bride's father, brother, and sister were held by authorities on a warrant charging McKinzie and A. W. Gillihan, 72, his father-in-law, with kidnaping.

The warrant was obtained last Wednesday in Aurora by Mrs. M. J. Estes, Gillihan's divorced wife, after Martha and her sister Linnie, 13, allegedly left with their father, a brother, Millard, 30, and McKinzie. The two girls had been living at 916 Solfisburg avenue, Aurora, with an older sister. Their mother lived in an apartment upstairs in the same building.

The five were seized near Fisk, Mo., at the home of McKinzie's parents. McKinzie told authorities that he and Martha were wed in Jonesboro. Authorities said also that Millard Gillihan said he, and not his father or McKinzie, drove the two girls from Aurora to Jonesboro. Mrs. Estes, remarried since divorcing Gillihan, had been given custody of the two girls.

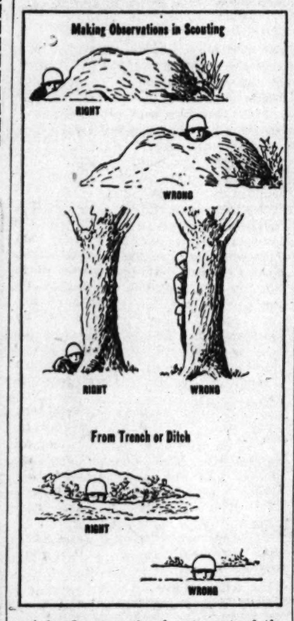
GUARDS: ABILITY TO CREEP PAST FOE IMPORTANT

Learn to Walk Quietly on Any Type of Ground.

The ability to travel across almost any type of ground without being detected by enemies is important to the success of a scouting mission. A good scout, such as Capt. Arthur Wermuth, learns how to walk over hard ground at night and make as little noise as possible, how to walk thru grass and weeds to prevent rustling sounds, how to creep along protective cover and the proper positions for making observations from behind the protection of stones, trees and other landmarks.

In walking at night on hard ground the scout walks on his toes, that is with his weight forward, putting the weight first on the front part of the foot and then lowering the heel.



Walk on Heels in Grass.

In grass or weeds army instructors tell scouts to walk on their heels, putting their weight on the heels and then shifting their weight to their toes.

Members of the MacArthur Guards should memorize these points about scouting which are taught to men in service:

1. If the scout is observing an enemy position from the cover of a rock or boulder, he should lie prone and make his observations while remaining as close to the ground as possible instead of peering over the top of the boulder.

2. If observing from behind a large tree, the scout should lie on the ground instead of standing because he is less noticeable in that position.

3. If scouting from a ditch, the soldier should try to raise his head in a place where there is some protective cover behind him instead of peering from a position where he will be silhouetted against the sky.

Use Hedges to Hide.

4. In any sort of individual scouting maneuver the soldier makes himself an easy target for enemy snipers when he walks across open fields or on roads. Instead, he should cross a given area by using natural places of concealment such as fencerows and hedges, even tho such a route is longer.

5. In case a flare is sent up during a night patrol scouts should stand rigid or remain in a prone position.

6. Scouts never should return over the same route used in going to a destination because enemies may have noted his route.

U.S. EXAMINES A 141 PASSENGER WAR PLANT BUS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.— A light weight and capacious bus trailer, designed for transporting armament workers, was inspected here today by representatives of the Office of Defense Transportation and the War Production board. It was exhibited by its midwestern manufacturers as a vehicle to replace the private automobile in carrying employes between city homes and outlying munition plants.

The trailer, hauled by an ordinary 1½ ton truck tractor, has a seating capacity nearly three times that of an average bus and nearly twice that of a large street car.

With 30 strap hangers, its total capacity is 141 persons. With the tractor, the length is 55 feet over-all. The entire unit uses 14 tires, compared with 280 tires on private automobiles which, with an average of two persons in each car, carry the same number of workers.

Total weight was minimized by employing plywood on a conventional steel frame. It was described as being adaptable to quick mass production.

MODEL'S CHARGE OF RAPE VOIDED; SET THEFT TRIAL

Arabelle [Bunny] Hartley, a blond model 22 years old, will be tried in Municipal court April 23 on a charge of having stolen $200 from Al Rosen, a theatrical producer. A charge of attempted rape which Miss Hartley made against Rosen was dismissed yesterday by Judge John T. Zuris in Felony court.

Rosen told Judge Zuris Miss Hartley came to his hotel room to discuss a part in a play. He was taking a shower at the time, he said, and the $200 was taken from his trousers.

Miss Hartley exhibited a piece of torn lingerie to support her charge and sobbed after Judge Zuris said: "This is the same old game, played in a different way." She demanded a jury trial which was granted.

U.S. PILOT NEED IS PUT AT 300,000 BY RICKENBACKER

Ace Predicts War of 5 to 10 Years.

Mitchel Field, N. Y., April 13 (AP).—Col. Eddie Rickenbacker, American flying ace of the World war, told the fighters at this air base today that in his opinion the war will last a minimum of five years, "barring miracles," with a possibility of it lasting 10 years.

Col. Rickenbacker.

"And since no navy can function effectively without the superiority or control of the air, which also goes for the land forces of the army," he said, "we will need at least 300,000 pilots to achieve victory—100,000 as instructors and 200,000 combat pilots, scattered over the four corners of the world."

Full of Fire as Minute Men.

Col. Rickenbacker, who has completed a 15,000 mile survey flight of the nation's air combat units, said the men of the United States air force "are as full of fire and spirit today as were the Minute Men of Concord."

"I can tell you without batting an eye that man for man, and plane for plane, Uncle Sam has the greatest aerial fighting machine in the world today," he said.

"As for equipment, there is nothing superior anywhere under the skies to American inventive genius, American engineers, or the skill of American workmen.

Pilots Termed Superior.

"No pilot or combination of pilots, nor planes or formation of planes, are superior to yours. If you have any doubts on that score just turn your eyes to wherever American pilots and American made planes are doing their stuff in the theaters of war.

"Don't get me wrong, I am not underestimating our enemies and their equipment. But one the other hand, let's not get a frame of mind that he is the top dog."

Col. Rickenbacker, who is president of Eastern Air Lines, and Col. Frank O'D. Hunter, also a World war ace, today concluded a countrywide tour of all army air force pursuit and combat stations to help train pursuit pilots and bombardment crews in the psychology of warfare.

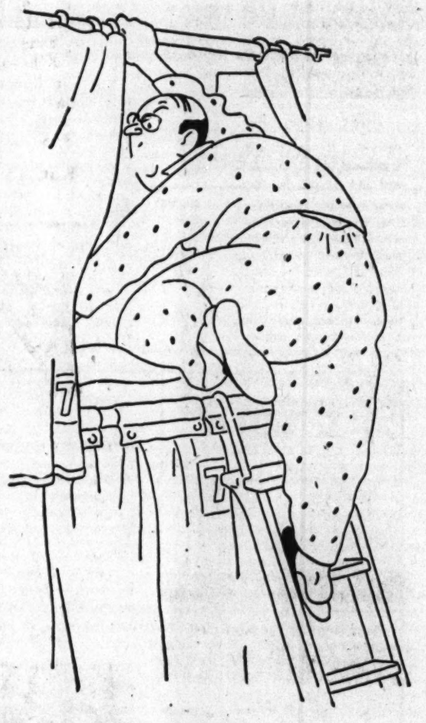
Why Mr. Tupper got an Upper!



Obviously Mr. Tupper, being a man who likes to keep his chassis on the ground, didn't take this upper by choice. Frankly it was the only space left when he called for a reservation.

Seething with indignation, Mr. Tupper is scarcely in the frame of mind to remember that our responsibility to the armed forces—calling for instant and urgent cooperation—may limit accommodations upon occasions.

Moreover we must handle both military and civilian travel with our present equipment, as priorities make it impossible to build new passenger cars at this time.

The accommodation that Mr. Tupper would have preferred might be moving soldiers hundreds of miles away. We think this is as it should be—that first things come first. And Mr. Tupper, a "right guy" at heart, doubtless would agree.

You may have experienced no inconvenience whatsoever in obtaining accommodations up to now. But should any occur, we believe that your understanding of the problem will brighten your acceptance of the solution.

Wartime Brings Bags Built on Generous Lines

BY REA SEEGER.

Some of the smartest bags designed for spring and wartime are the capacity specials made of fabric. Many are large enough for traveling bags, if you are smart and travel light. Pouch bags with sturdy handles have an extra sturdy loop with which to pull open the handle frame. Unusual pouch bags are made in vivid red, green, or blue felt with a contrasting frame of transparent plastic. Another new fabric used with plastic frames is wool jersey with quilted linings stitched in contrasting colors. These, too, are huge commodious affairs extremely smart for street and suit wear.

For your dress outfits of faille, moire, and ribbed silky materials, select bags that match exactly. Some are neat and flat in envelope outline, others are rolled and hide a zippered inside compartment. Others have handsome plastic frames and handles. Dull crêpes severely simple in outline are ready for the sheer crêpe dancing and dinner dresses of the spring fashion showings.

The bag makers have the present situation well in the bag with new fabric knitting carryalls complete to a brace of rulers teamed together for the frame and handle. With these rulers you measure not only length but number of stitches and patterns in the process of being knitted and purled. These are inexpensive and are to be found in the same shop with the newest "black out bag" complete to first aid kit, flashlight with swivel hooded bulb, and the bag itself of neutral colored drilling with a shoulder strap.

The newest arrival is the 1942 version of the obliging shopping bag of strong crocheted string. The model is rolled into a small ball when not in use, comes in bright colors, and has bracelet crocheted loops for carrying. Pull it out of hiding, fill with all your small packages on a shopping tour, and trot home.

Soldier Needs to Know Wife Has Security

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Here's a problem Nella L. proposes for our consideration.

"My husband may be called to active duty in another month, perhaps sooner. Altho I have the most heartfelt invitation to return to my mother's home and share it with her, I just hate to 'sponge' on her generosity. I am employed, but with a firm that pays small salaries and the subject of my welfare is one that is causing my husband worry. What, in your opinion, is the right thing for me to do?"

Under the circumstances, with a mother's welcome assured, we think the right thing to do is to return to her roof for the duration. Not for your own sake, Nella L., but to relieve your husband's mind of a worry he should not have to endure. Put yourself in his shoes, if you can, and face yourself with the problem from his point of view. Wouldn't you breathe a great sigh of relief, knowing your wife is being taken care of in your absence? But deeper than that is the unselfishness which is being demanded of everyone today.

We just cannot put ourselves first in any plan. We've got to bow to the inevitable and do it with all the grace possible. It's what that man of yours will do when his call comes. He will step off to do his share and we feel that anything a young married woman can do to ease his mind is but a duty not to him, not to herself, but to her country.

Keep your job, then, Nella. Return to your mother's home. Do everything to adjust yourself to her way of living, as a guest in her house. Save what you can of your salary for that day when your good man returns, and DON'T let yourself down, nor him, nor your country, by succumbing to self-pity. What you young married women do in your direct contributions to your men's morale is as great a role in defense as if you were in uniform and out doing heroic rescue work. Believe that, married women, and carry on like the good sports you can be.

Chances in Radio.

There are 800 radio broadcasting stations. Approximately 500 jobs a year are open to the radio aspirant. Competition is keen and the girl who has her heart set on a radio career does well to study the field from near and afar.

With this girl in mind, the Illinois Women's Executive committee has made public the results of a comprehensive study of radio jobs. Taking it quite soundly out of the realm of the romantic, the committee says [unromantically] that the work requires "the physical stamina of a horse." To which might be added—"and the emotional stamina of a Spartan."

Special job requirements range "from announcers' lingual ability to factory workers' minimum and maximum height and weight, from imitative ability and wide voice range [required of girls employed to cry like babies or give hair-raising screams] to typing speed of 100-125 and a shorthand rate of 80-100 words per minute expected of stenographers."

As for the radio secretary, she is "almost any man's dream girl, combining: discretion to avoid embarrassing conversational situations, the tact and polish of a diplomat, the calmness of a physician, attractive appearance and voice."

Regarding Slacks.

Comments pro and con regarding slacks for women in business: "Would it not be another step toward defense to encourage women and girls to wear slacks to work? We would save slips, hosiery, and girdles; and we could wear flat shoes to work which so many of us would like to do but feel the high heels look better with our street clothes," writes an employé of a large company. . . . "The place for slacks is at home, not on the street; a sloppy idea," writes another reader. . . . "Remember," asks F. B., "several years ago when a large store decreed that any girl who bobbed her hair or wore 'nude colored' hose to work would lose her job?"

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

The male animal is a queer animal. His outstanding characteristics are his amazing, breast-beating ego—and his inferiority complex!—which pops out and yips loud and long when the toes of that ego are stepped on. . . .

He is never quite "done," no matter how toasty and tasty-appearing his exterior. Any sharp cut will reveal a half baked condition which is more or leess digestible to his friends according to the nature of the beast.

Male animals differ in many respects, but in one they are all alike. . . . They'll fight to retain their mate. . . . Not always so much because they want her but because they don't want another male to have the satisfaction of getting her away from them. . . . A male animal which, given proper provocation, WON'T fight for his female—well, he just ain't no male animal. . . .

Which last is mostly what this picture is about. . . .

The action is bathed in the atmosphere of a college town during homecoming week when alumni become boys again at heart; when bonfires blaze, and youth and what puts up with it are all Siamese twin-ey in their love and admiration for dear old Alma Mater. . . . Mostly in the spotlight are a timid, inarticulate professor of English, his plump, pretty, ex-cheer leader wife, and "Whirling Joe" Ferguson, an All American who had once been that way about her and who has returned for Midwestern's homecoming. . . .

Trickling around are trustees, a gentle dean, the limp and despairing editor of the college paper who loves Mrs. Turner's young sister, who adores a half back; assorted students, etc. . . .

As the picture opens it is the eve of Midwestern's big game with Michigan, and the professor is on the verge of losing his job, due to publicity given in the college paper to his intention of reading to his English class the death letter of Anarchist Bartolomeo Vanzetti—which he regards as a gem of prose—along with the letters of Lincoln and Mrs. Bixby. . . . The editorial lauds him for a stand he had had no notion he was taking—and commends him for daring to flout trustee-ian diplomacy. . . . In other words the dear man, to his complete astonishment, finds himself on a SPOT!

Add to this dilemma the arrival of "Whirling Joe" to snort and tear around his den, remembering Ellen's birthday with orchids and extracting from her a harmless kiss . . . !

"Wh-a-a-t would a tiger do?" queries the editor of the professor as the two hold mournful tryst, fortified by unaccustomed alcoholic libations—the while all others are rooting and holding high carnival at the football game. . . . And John Barleycorn answers with no hesitation thru the professorial lips. . . . A tiger would fight, of course, as will that beleaguered human tiger, Prof. Tommy Turner.

And so thru hilarious and side-splitting sequences to a joyously wacky ending.

People and events are all engagingly real. . . . You'll enjoy Miss De Havilland and Mr. Fonda, but will get your real kick from Jack Carson as Ferguson. . . . This is the best rôle Mr. Carson has ever had and it should bring him more than back-slapping attention from his producers. . . .

So much attention has been given to analyses of the female of the species that it's nice to see a male dissected for a change. . . . For, tho he's not so deadly as his mate, bless his heart, he is, trap him where you may, a funny and interesting specimen.

See you tomorrow.

Women in War Work

By India Moffett

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

The women's division of the Chicago and Cook county war savings staff of the United States treasury has been working for weeks and months, working so hard and successfully in fact, that it's been a case of all work and no play. The 4,097 workers will meet for a gathering that will be pleasant as well as inspirational next Tuesday when Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, chairman, and her executive committee will be hostesses at a luncheon for Mrs. Charles Gates of Denver, Colo. The party will be given in the ball and Tower rooms of the Drake hotel.

Mrs. Gates, who was in Honolulu on Dec. 7, will tell of her experiences on that memorable date and Mrs. Frederick Atkinson of Minneapolis, coördinator of women's activities in the middle west, will speak also. Chicago's own Edith Mason, Mrs. William Ragland in private life, will sing the "Star Spangled Banner," and "America," accompanied by Mrs. Clifford Caldwell. Plans for the luncheon were completed yesterday at a meeting at teatime at Mrs. Carpenter's home. Every one at the tea was admiring the corsage the hostess was wearing, the gift of Mrs. Clifford Heinz of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Carpenter explained. She also said that similar corsages would be on sale for $1.50 each at the luncheon next week.

The corsage consisted of 10 10-cent war stamps, each covered with cellophane and put together with red, white and blue ribbon so that at first glance it looked exactly like a bunch of little red flowers.

Serving with Mrs. Carpenter on the executive committee are Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, Mrs. Allyn Warren, Mrs. Lorraine L. Blair, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Donald F. McPherson, Mrs. Leo Cummings, Mrs. Mark Bates, Mrs. Arthur Compton, Miss Helen Bull, Mrs. Arthur Cook, Mrs. Paul Douglas, Mrs. Max Epstein, Dr. Helen Howe, Mrs. Milton J. Krensky, Mrs. Frank J. Lewis, Mrs. J. Russell Lyon, Mrs. Louis Mann, Miss Agnes Nestor, Miss B. Fain Tucker, Mrs. Frederic Woodward, Mrs. Bernadotte Schmitt, Mrs. Charles E. Peace, Mrs. William Conkey, and Mrs. Franklyn B. Snyder.

Mrs. George T. Moore of Evanston, who started a one-woman campaign to provide comforts for the soldiers at Camp Grant and who has been joined in her efforts by numerous other generous and patriotic women who enjoy doing something for "our boys," reports that the latest need at the camp is for rags, altho small radios, games, clean playing cards, sheet music, song books, footballs, basketballs, baseball equipment, sofas, chairs, and draperies or drapery materials still are acceptable. Pianos, unless they are unusually fine, and large phonographs have been supplied in such numbers that no more can be used at present.

Rags may seem like queer things to be needed at an army camp, but Maj. Frank A. Bush, morale officer, writes to Mrs. Moore: "Another very definite and positive need has arisen which is small in its scope and yet extremely important to us here. There are no more rags at Camp Grant. Huge quantities of rags are used in the motor transport school by the students studying motor cars and maintenance. In addition to that rags are used in each barrack for general cleaning purposes. The securing of a large quantity of rags is now one of our most important projects. Can you help us?" Any one having rags to donate may communicate with Mrs. Moore, 1042 Michigan avenue, Evanston, telephone University 2240.

Job possibilities for girls in the field of medicine and nursing will be studied by women prominent in that field at a free job clinic to be held thruout the state in May, Mrs. Anne V. Zinser, chairman Illinois women's executive committee of the Office of Public Instruction, announced yesterday.

Miss Mabel Binner, superintendent Children's Memorial hospital, and Mrs. Edna Nelson, superintendent Women's and Children's hospital, have been recruited by Dr. John A. Wieland, state superintendent of schools, to direct this survey.

Sixth in a series listing all women's job possibilities and requirements in the nation's major industries, the medical and nursing survey has been preceded by detailed reports compiled by the committee on the fields of transportation, insurance, banking, and finance, food products, and radio.

"As a vital part of the war program, the Illinois women's executive committee felt that the field of medicine and nursing should be surveyed and interpreted as quickly as possible, so that girls active in it might be more fully aroused," Mrs. Zinser said. "Now that professional men are being called daily into active service women are needed here at home as well as with the second AEF, to help protect military and civilian health. The report which Miss Binner's and Mrs. Nelson's special committee is compiling will list every type of woman's job in the field, together with the educational and personal qualifications demanded of applicants."

Survey findings will be published by Dr. Wieland's office for free distribution to all interested persons, as well as to every public school in Illinois.

With an increasing number of women holding men's jobs in industry, the problem arises: What will happen to their children? These children may never hear the whine of a falling bomb or know the destruction of that safest of places, home; they may, however, be victims of war in an even deeper and more tragic sense.

Statistics show that in England juvenile delinquency has increased 50 per cent since the outbreak of war. Parents are in service for the government, vacations are abandoned due to the rubber shortage, schools cannot provide fulltime supervision. This could happen here.

Every community should take steps to meet this situation so that their children may be guaranteed proper food, recreation, and care. One suggestion sent in by the State College of Washington is to organize a recreation council, composed of three to five members who are interested in the problem and headed by a chairman or coördinator. This council can contact schools, churches, women's clubs, and other civic organizations to obtain a survey of what they can contribute in ideas and personnel for a recreation program.

Once the community facilities have been determined, it should not be difficult to organize a staff of teachers, college students, and other willing women who can devote their time to planning and supervising constructive activities for children. Dramatics, dancing, music appreciation, and athletics are among activities suggested.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., April 13.— David O. Selznick is in New York, probably looking for a priest for "The Keys to the Kingdom," and will start shooting if he ever gets one. "Jane Eyre" goes over for a long time—but Selznick must shoot 200 feet of actual production stuff—not tests—by July 1 in order to keep his claim on the title. Anybody can shoot anything in public domain, but the Hays office provides title protection for a stated length of time, provided a certain amount of "homesteading" is done. The 200 feet probably will be costume close-ups of Joan Fontaine.

The way Rita Hayworth handles the Paul Dresser songs in 20th's musical darb, "My Gal Sal," is wonderful to hear—but it ain't Rita singing. . . . The King brothers, who make movies for $25,000 and under—and some good ones, too—splurged by flying a press deputation up to San Francisco Sunday for the première in San Quentin prison of "Men of San Quentin." I couldn't go, but caught the picture here. It's bang-bang stuff about a new warden who cleans up San Quentin with kindness. Fellow named Dick Curtis, playing a killer convict, turns in a fine job. . . . Whoops!

Bob Hope had his hair curled for a scene in "Road to Morocco. . . . For weeks they've been having forest fires on the great tank stage at Paramount for "Forest Rangers." Now Paulette Goddard and her boy friends have got the fire out, and all there is is ashes. There weren't enough ashes to suit Director George Marshall, so he raided the studio incinerator. Got plenty of stuff—but it's crawling with nails and the actors have to walk easy. . . . Ever see a studio nail? They have two heads, one below the other, so a carpenter can't hammer 'em home. Makes them easier to pull.

Sneaks of "Take a Letter Darling" indicate that one big laugh kills one of the best laughs in the show. The howl that gets killed involves a night club which is about to close. Rosalind Russell, Fred MacMurray, and two others in their party leave, and the only ones left in the joint are a man and woman. The waiters stand around and glare but the couple pay no attention. Finally the man slaps some cards on the table and shouts "Gin!" . . . 'Sfunny, I assure you—but a minute and half before this Miss Russell has stuck out a foot and MacMurray falls on his face. It's a wonderful fall, for Fred used to make his entrance in vaudeville that way.

By court order, little Ann Todd now gets part of her salary in war savings bonds. She's 11, and recently she had to go to court to have her new 20th-Fox contract and pay raise legally approved. She asked Judge Emmet Wilson to order the studio to pay the difference between her old salary and the new one in bonds. And the judge made it official.

Miss Katharine Tilt Nevins Will Be Wed Friday

BY JUDITH CASS.

FROM Pasadena, Cal., comes the announcement that Mrs. Walter R. Kirk's pretty young niece, Miss Katharine Tilt Nevins, is to be married on Friday afternoon to Edward Story Washburn, who also has Chicago connections, as he is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hampton Story and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lawrence Washburn of this city.

The wedding date was decided upon suddenly as Mr. Washburn is in the army, so Mrs. Kirk is making arrangements to leave for Pasadena at once, if it is possible. Mr. Kirk is in San Francisco on business and will join his wife in Pasadena. Miss Nevins, whose father was the late Richard Nevins, will be attended by her younger sisters, Anne and Louisa, who is named for Mrs. Kirk. Their mother, who is an aunt of Mrs. Tilt Bissell and of Mrs. John Wentworth, now is Mrs. William Sutherland McCay. The wedding will take place at 5 o'clock in the Church of Our Savior, San Gabriel, with a small reception following in the home of Lieut. and Mrs. McCay.

Miss Nevins is a graduate of the Westridge School for Girls in Pasadena and attended the University of California. Mr. Washburn prepared at the Thacher school and Andover for Yale, from which he was graduated in 1937. He also is a graduate of the University of California law school. Miss Nevins, who has one brother, Richard, a junior at Yale, is a granddaughter of Mrs. Joseph E. Tilt and the late Mr. Tilt of Pasadena, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nevins of New York. Mr. Washburn's mother is Mrs. Edgar Bassett Washburn of San Marino, Cal.

Betty Butler's Marriage to Take Place April 25.

Miss Betty Butler and Motley Sawyer of Dedham, Mass., who left Yale at the end of his junior year to join the army, will be married on April 25. The wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon in Christ church, Winnetka, the Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard officiating, with a reception following at the home of Miss Butler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Butler. Mr. Sawyer and his bride will reside in Hingham, Mass.

Unless Charles E. Ford II. receives orders to report for duty with the army earlier than expected, he and Miss Barbara White will be married on the afternoon of May 9. The wedding will be a small one, for relatives and intimate friends only, at 4:30 o'clock in the apartment of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Edward W. White. The Rev. Harrison Ray Anderson will read the service.

Miss Louise Galbraith and Frederick Maclaurin Dierks will be married on May 2 in the Glencoe home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Galbraith. Mr. Dierks is being graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology this week. He and his bride will reside in Kansas City, where he will be engaged in defense work. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs.

Thru the Looking Glass

Bubble baths are like parsnips. You either like 'em or you simply can't bear them. Those who like bubbles revel in their frothiness, feeling just like a Roman on a holiday.

There's a special treat for the bubble bathers in a pine scented product. Added to the exhilarating effect of the bubbles is the tang of pine, invigorating and full of zest. This particular pine translation is not as heavy as some we've met, having been blended with other aromatics, light and delicately fragrant. It's the sort of a bath decoration that makes you forget all your earthly cares and takes you back to your last vacation in the northern woods. You'd have to be exceedingly hard shelled not to give in to the relaxation that these mountains of beautiful green foam offer. They effervesce a release from worldly cares, and you'll find yourself thinking of all the happier, unchanging things, such as sparkling lakes and deep woods. As a matter of fact, we can't think offhand of a better escape mechanism than this pine bubble bath.

The product is available in two forms, liquid, dark and green in a perfectly plain bottle, and powdered, in a simulated pine bark box with actual pine cones decorating the lid. Just a tablespoon or more of either form is all that is required. Put it under the tap and let the water run in with as much pressure as is possible, and you'll have softened water and all the foaming, fragrant bubbles your heart could possibly desire.

Simplicity Is Urged by D. A. R. Leader for Conclave Here

No one will look askance at the woman who appears at the 51st Continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution in her last year's wardrobe. Mrs. William H. Pouch, president general of the national society, yesterday placed her imprimatur on old clothes from Washington, D. C., for a one day conference with local leaders on plans for the congress, which opens with preliminary meetings on Friday, May 1, in the Stevens hotel.

Mrs. W. H. Pouch.

One of the chief reasons for her early visit, Mrs. Pouch asserted, is to see that the "Illinois girls" do not spend too much money in setting up plans for the assembly. "These are times for simplicity and economy," said Mrs. Pouch. "One of our former presidents general, in office during the depression, set a good example by seeing a congress thru in one street dress and one evening gown, and that is the spirit I hope all of the delegates will bring to this wartime congress."

Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Ben. D. Smith of Somerset, Ky., announce the engagement of their daughter, Beverly, to William Ellery Jennings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Crawford Jennings of Wilmette. Miss Smith attended Hollins college and now is a student at the University of Kentucky. Mr. Jennings attended Washington and Lee university. He left school in his senior year to enter naval aviation and at present is studying for his commission at a western field.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Gelden of North Shore avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Lucille, to Morton Evans of Douglas boulevard. Mr. Evans will be graduated from the University of Illinois Medical school in June, and the wedding will take place shortly afterwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Farmer of Wilmette announce the engagement of their daughter, May, to Harry Lynn Shabino, son of Mrs. C. R. Shabino of Evanston. Miss Farmer will be graduated in June from Mundelein college. Her fiancé attended the University of Wisconsin. The wedding is planned for the summer.

Trustees Meet Today.

The board of trustees of the British Old People's home in Hollywood, Ill., will meet at 1:30 o'clock today in the committee room of the First National bank.

BY CECIL SMITH.

A general air of competence and gracious artistry prevailed last night thruout "La Traviata," the second opera in the week's repertory of the San Carlo Opera company. Eugene Conley, an American tenor new to the company this season, made an effective debut as the younger Germont. Lucille Meusel, as Violetta, and Ivan Petroff, as Germont pére, repeated their successes of other years in rôles which by now have become their exclusive property in the San Carlo schedule.

Apparently quite free from first night nerves, Mr. Conley quickly established himself as a reliable musician and as that rarest of beings, a tenor with a visible waistline. While his voice is not large, its solidity is reassuring and its timbre is agreeable. In his offstage melody at the end of the first act he sang a secure and resonant high C, his treatment of the second act aria had fluent line and musicianly phrasing; and he dealt with the denunciation of Violetta and the subsequent remorse in the third act with good feeling for accentuation and expressive tone color. It is evident that he will be a useful and satisfactory member of the company in the lighter parts.

Miss Meusel, who had been ill when she sang with the Chicago Opera company in December, may have been eager to remind her audiences of the charm and grace of her art. At any rate, she sang with exquisite nuance and delightful phrasing, tossing off the "Sempre libera" with rippling ease, and bringing poignancy to the long second act duet with Mr. Petroff. The baritone once again presented the stiff character of the older Germont in an unusually prepossessing light. By the simple expedients of acting like something human and of singing the "Di provenza" at a less mortuary pace than is traditional, he turned an essentially boring character into a figure of considerable dramatic power.

The ensemble of lesser singers kept a good pace under the spirited baton of Carlo Peroni. Louise Warren invested Flora's brief snatches of music with more tonal warmth than one usually hears. Mary Belle, another young American singer, made her Chicago debut as Annina, the maid, a part which is too tiny to provide much evidence of her ability.

By some miracle the San Carlo sets looked surprisingly spacious upon the Civic Opera house stage.

Journey of a Cake.

We think it a sweet and warming story, the tale of an Easter cake that came to a boy at Navy pier. It was his favorite cake, and it came from Waverly, Ia., by parcel post. Now, we have seen Christmas packages that looked upon receipt as tho they had been thru a washing machine. We have seen big boxes reduced to small, purely by compression. We have seen round boxes converted to rectangles, and we have seen square boxes reduced to pulp. But this little box, wrapped only in cellophane and tied with red fiber ribbon, came in perfect condition with not even a crack in the frosting of the cake.

Wild Geese.

They plough wide furrows in the sky
And strange lands hear their eerie cry;
The midnight sun shines on the nests
Where young geese curl against their breasts.
He who would fly the wild goose track
Must follow spires of tamarack
And feel the spindrift of the sea—
To lose his way eventually,
For only wild goose flight can solve
The secrets man did not evolve.
Their flying symbol, mystic V,
Gives thought for all eternity.
—Martha Wendt.

Mr. King and His Voice.

Dennis King, here as the husband of Blithe Spirit, was telling Tyrone Power, here as the spirit's husband, of his early days as a call boy in the Repertory theater in Birmingham. "Altho I did not take up singing until my middle 20s. I nevertheless was always yodeling around the theater," King recalled. "One day after a particularly spirited burst of song an old charwoman came to me. 'Eh, but you've got a wonderful voice,' she said. 'I've 'eard you. Just mar-velous. Sounds like John McCormack . . . with 'is throat cut.'"

Attrition.

A woman's club here was planning a buffet luncheon and called in a caterer. "Now, I suggest," the caterer began, "that you have members of the club stand behind the smorgasbord. I find that when members stand behind it, the women are not inclined to take as much."

Easter Holiday.

[Letter from a young girl at boarding school.]

". . . We didn't do much of anything, not even church! It is the cutest tiny town I've ever seen, four buildings! . . . And we smoked like fiends, talked all night every night until we are absolute wrecks! . . . We saw the sights nearby and Indian hyroglifics and pottery. We were serrenaded every night by Mexicain boys whom, I think, we rather swept off their feet.

". . . The people there were the world's prise queers! I've never in my life seen such 'Bohemians' and such sinister soles. The man at the art school is as loony as they come. I'd hate to think I had a grandfather who carries on the way he does. And the man who runs the place is a worn out glamor boy. He cornered the sugar market in Bermuda or some island and made over a million dollars in a year and then lost it in a week and has retirred to his wife's inherated ranch, and she! sometimes funny, and the most ungodly sense of humor! She is a Smith from Massachusetts and they have retired to the sanctuary of the desert because of some scandle! And now the nieces run madly around with the drunken Mexicains! And then there's a lady who paints minitures and won wide acclaim in Paris, in her day.

"And last but not least are two old loons! He is at least a genius and they call him professor! He has three unfurnished rooms stuck off down at the end of a rambling old ranch, with mamouth windos at which he sits all day long, straight as a poker with a volume as big as a world encyclopeidi held in the air! And at night he has an unshaded bulb dangling over his head. Unless he's wandering thru the sage brush scaring us to death with 'My little roses, praire roses, could you perhaps stand a little allumination!' And they insisted we all work in the studio for hours, when that was the last thing I wanted to do in a vacation! He's mad for some girl with two kids, who probably is getting a divorce. And some hermits trotted down with a rather gangster-looking fellow, but these, almost normal people, weren't there but a bit of the time. . . . And now here I am back at school with seven weeks before it's all over. . . ."

Metropolitan Opera Presents 'Aida' on Indiana U. Campus

Bloomington, Ind., April 13 (AP). — The Metropolitan Opera company of New York City tonight gave its first performance on a college campus or in a place so small as this city of 20,000.

The Metropolitan presented Verdi's "Aida" in the Indiana university auditorium, dedicated only a year ago, before a capacity audience of 3,800 from 108 cities and towns in five states.

Herman B. Wells, president of the university, said the production was part of Indiana's movement to bring the state "the best of those things which must be preserved through the days of war and the days of peace—the values and institutions which are so important in making a strong America."

Rose Bampton sang the title rôle. Bruna Castagna was heard as Amneris, Arthur Carron as Rameses, Leonard Warren as the king of Ethiopia, Norman Gordon as Ramfis, the high priest, and John Gurney as the pharaoh.

Serene Aspect of 'Horowitz' Art Revealed

BY EDWARD BARRY.

This column has sometimes grown wild and incoherent trying to describe Vladimir Horowitz' volcanic playing and the nervous frenzies he lashes himself and his listeners into. It should be a relief to every one to have other aspects of his art celebrated this morning, especially since he was smiling and comparatively relaxed at his Orchestra hall recital of last evening.

He began as excitingly as ever, making the piano bound under his performance of "The Star Spangled Banner," but by the time he had reached the adagio of the Bach C major toccata he was playing with an astonishingly beautiful serenity of line. The noble melody unfolded itself quietly and majestically.

In the Schubert A major sonata [opus 120] that followed, Horowitz allowed most of the innocence and light heartedness of the music to show thru, altho there was a little tension and a little hint of the pianist's steely control here and there.

There were parts of the Brahms Paganini variations that were friendly and almost playful, so light was the pianist's approach. However, none of this should give the impression that Horowitz's supernatural technique and orchestral tone were not often in evidence during the recital. There was playing in the Brahms as sensational as any that Orchestra hall has heard this season.

The program included also a Chopin group and Tschaikowsky and Liszt pieces. The house was packed and there was a large group of service men occupying the stage seats.

Hector Villa-Lobos' concerto for violoncello and orchestra, Opus 50, received its first Chicago performance at the Eighth Street theater last night at the hands of Harry Sturm and the Illinois Symphony orchestra under Izler Solomon's direction. It is a powerful, rhapsodic and occasionally grandiloquent piece. Sturm played it understandingly and flexibly, and with a tone that was almost consistently warm and full.

The program included also Noelte's "Prolog to a Romantic Drama," the Chausson symphony, and Stein's Chassidic dances, Nos. 1 and 3.

INSTALMENT XXXVIII.

MAN HUNT.

Dave lay down, his rifle by his side, folded his arms, and went instantly to sleep.

At dawn he wakened, chilled and stiff, and glanced at the east. The time was right, now, for they could see him soon.

He levered a shell into his carbine, changed his position a little so as to be in better cover from the cedar, drew a bead on the shack's lone window and fired.

The morning stillness was shattered by the sharp slap of the rifle shot.

He waited.

A Chevron hand, in his sock feet, appeared in the doorway.

Dave sighted on him, moved off, and fired again. The puncher dived inside, slamming the door shut behind him. Dave poured four shots into the door, moved to the window again, and emptied his rifle.

Now he reloaded, waiting. A rifle poked tentatively out of the window, and quickly Dave sent another shot at it.

Now he crawled back until he was out of sight, came to his feet and moved downhill toward the arroyo. A single rifle shot came from the house, and when it was not answered, three more guns joined in the clamor.

Dave dropped down into the arroyo, moved toward the shack. He picked a new position behind the bank and saw Arnie Chance standing uneasily in the door of the shack.

Again Dave shot, and this time he saw a splinter of wood fly off the door where his bullet had struck. Arnie Chance vanished.

Leisurely, then, Dave put some shots into the window, and then again at the door, until it was finally closed and barred. He knocked the stovepipe off the roof, and then started searching with his slugs for the chinks in the logs.

Pausing between shots now, he could hear a man's vicious cursing inside the shack. Finishing out that load, he moved again, this time to the other side of the shack, and again he opened up. Nobody tried to run out; he had a dry, ironic smile as he pictured the inside of the shack, with the crew lying on the floor, helpless, swearing, their nerves wire edged with wondering when some lucky shot might hit them.

When he had exhausted his shells, he threw the rifle aside, and retreated in the chill dawn to his horse. Mounting, he put him toward the mountains, starting off at a long lope.

Two hours later, he pulled up on a rise of the foothills, dismounted and took a long look at the country he had just passed thru. In the light of the low morning sun, he could see the long tawny stretches of rolling country that finally, in the dim distance, gave onto the desert. Trees stood out sharply, and he patiently studied his back trail. Off on the wagon road from the agency, connecting with the Hilliard-Vermillion road, he saw a funnel of dust that indicated a rider with his horse at a dead run. That could be Chance's messenger to the posse. Closer now, he was patiently studying the country when, scarcely a mile away, he saw three riders top a rise. They were spread out, coming fast, following the tracks he had not bothered to disguise.

Dave quickly stepped into the saddle now, and headed into the foothills. It was Chance all right, and if the rider he had spotted on the distance road was Chance's messenger, then it meant the Seco camp was abandoned.

When he reached the timber, Dave angled off south, rode steadily for a half hour, and then turned north, still climbing.

When, after 20 minutes, he pulled up to breathe his horse, he turned in the saddle and listened.

And then he heard distinctly, from no great distance, a man calling to his partner.

Dave's face hardened with a sudden alertness and he almost smiled. Chance was good at this. He was crowding him hard, playing his hunches.

Dave put his bay into the timber again now. Chance's hunches were no good unless the man he was hunting knew the country and Chance could anticipate his moves. Dave, realizing this, settled down to the hard business of trying to shake his pursuers. He climbed, almost steadily, until he was in a country of rock outcropping, and then he got to work. He traveled swiftly, then moving from one outcrop of rock to another, never bothering to be careful, but just cautious enough to slow down Chance and his men if they were hunting his tracks.

When he worked thus for an hour or so, he took his chance, and cut down slope, reasoning that Chance would have had to draw his two men in to help pick up the tracks in the rock outcrops.

He traveled carefully, now, watching, his pace slow.

Coming to a small meadow, he paused, looked it over and started across. He was only yards into it, when he heard underbrush snapping in the timber at the far edge of the meadow.

He reined his bay around, and put him swiftly back into the timber, and up the slope, angling north again now. It was only a few minutes before he heard a gunshot, and he knew that the rider had picked up his fresh trail and was summoning help.

And then, with a dismal fatalism, he heard five answering shots, all behind him and widely scattered.

He knew now that Chance's help had arrived. By nightfall, it would be doubled or tripled.

Climbing steadily now, he looked at the sun and judged he had five hours more until dark. His horse was tiring, and this was strange country. He gave up all thought now of turning downslope in the daylight hours. He centered his attention on skirting the canyons which became more frequent as his course climbed.

Coming to a trail at a canyon mouth, he picked it up and followed it, reasoning that it would take him into yet higher country. Occasionally, he heard shots behind him, always at the same distance, it seemed to him.

He was climbing out of the canyon, soon, mounting steadily on a narrow trail on the south face.

He heard the slap of the slug on the stone face of the wall beside him before the report of the rifle boomed out into the hot afternoon stillness.

Some one had spotted him from across the opposite rim of the canyon. He did not hesitate a second, but rowelled his horse, leaning across the bay's neck. If he turned back, it would be into the arms of the men following. Hhe chose the long stretch of climbing trail ahead.

The next shot put a sharp rock splinter in his cheek, and he cursed quietly, sweating, talking to his horse, urging him. The big bay was bone weary, but he was fighting. And the timber was close ahead now.

The third and fourth and fifth shots were wide, as the marksman saw himself crowded for time. And then Dave plunged into the timber and reined up, breathing his bay for a precious few seconds.

The shots, he knew, would summon the whole pack of them below. And even now, the marksman would be trying to cut him off ahead.

Dave turned into the timber then, but instead of losing himself in it, he clung as close to the rim as he could, riding in the direction from which the shots had come. He rode slowly, almost holding his breath, his senses straining for the first warning sound.

He pulled up abruptly, listening. Off to his right in the underbrush, he heard a horse slashing thru it at a dead run that was almost suicidal in its headlong rush. He stayed quiet as death, and when the sound dimmed in the distance, he put the bay ahead once more.

This was a reprieve that might last until dark, he thought.

Captains Named for Chicago Drive for Navy Relief

Team captains have been appointed in virtually every industry to aid the Chicago Citizens' committee in raising Chicago's $330,000 share of the 5 million dollar total needed for the Navy Relief fund, it was announced yesterday.

William J. Kelly, chairman of the industrial division of the committee, said the fund is to be used by the Navy Relief society so that "no widow, no orphaned children, no mother or other member of the family of a navy man shall suffer hardship if it can be prevented."

Until recently the society was able to carry on the work without asking outside aid, but heavy casualties of the present war have made necessary the present drive. The Chicago headquarters are at 105 South La Salle street.

A little boiled down vitamin information is what many homemakers are looking for these days. They know that the various vitamins are tremendously important, and must be provided amply in the good diet, but sometimes they are confused about which vitamin is good for which, and what foods contain it.

A WHICH IS WHICH OF VITAMINS.

VITAMIN A—Promotes growth and helps prevent respiratory infections. Essential to good vision, it is given in large doses to RAF pilots to prevent and cure night blindness, and to British civilians to help them see better in blackouts. Green and yellow vegetables are important sources. Carrots are one of the best and cheapest sources. Good vitamin A foods: Leafy greens, liver, eggs, butter, milk, cheese, carrots, sweet potatoes, corn, squash, tomatoes, green peppers, green beans, fish liver oils.

Vitamin A is soluble in fats, so don't fry foods which contain it. Butter vitamin A vegetables just before they go to the table. The well balanced diet contains sufficient vitamin A for normally healthy persons, since the vitamin is so widely distributed in foods.

VITAMIN B1—Thiamin is the chemical name for B1, which is essential for growth, appetite, and the good condition of nerves. It is necessary for normal reproduction and lactation, and is helpful in heart disorders. Mild deficiency of B1 is common. Subnormal growth, poor appetite, constipation, chronic fatigue are its results. It isn't stored in the body, so you need a daily dose of vitamin B1, a big one. Your physician may recommend concentrates, but unless you need an unusually large amount these foods may be depended upon for your daily need: Wheat germ, whole grain and enriched cereals and bread, lean pork, liver, kidney, milk, dried beans, peanut butter.

Thiamin is sensitive to long cooking, so remember that when cooking vegetables, most of which contain fair amounts of the vitamin.

RIBOFLAVIN, OR VITAMIN B2 OR G—The tendency is toward using the chemical name. Riboflavin is necessary for normal growth and for good health of the skin and eyes. Deficiency may cause cataracts. Cataracts cannot be cured, but may be arrested by supplying this vitamin in large doses. Certain other visual disturbances may be cured by adding abundant riboflavin to the diet. Sources: Egg yolk, liver and other organ meats, whole milk and whole milk cheese, buttermilk, green and yellow fruits and vegetables [especially the green leafy vegetables], oysters, salmon, prunes.

Riboflavin is fairly stable to heat, but is water soluble [use all of the vegetable cooking water].

VITAMIN C, OR ASCORBIC ACID—Necessary for good health of bones and teeth, among other things. Scurvy is the disease caused by deficiency of vitamin C. Plenty of orange juice and tomato juice in the diet are protection against scurvy, and the cure for it, once it has been contracted. Sources: Fresh citrus fruits, tomatoes, canned tomatoes and juice [not home canned, as usual home methods destroy the vitamin], milk, green leafy vegetables, potatoes, most fresh and commercially canned fruits.

C is easily destroyed by heat in the presence of air, and is water soluble. So remember, cook vegetables quickly in only a little water, and use that water. Soda destroys vitamin C readily.

VITAMIN D—Essential to proper bone and tooth formation. Fish liver oils, fish, eggs, and D fortified milk and cereals are good sources. Rickets in children is an inevitable disease unless vitamin D is provided or unless sufficient sunshine is available. Mild cases often are unrecognized, but the disease is very common. Pregnant and nursing women need a good supply of D, too.

VITAMIN E—Aids in prevention of nutritional sterility. Necessary for normal reproduction. Whole grain foods, dried beans, corn and cottonseed oils, egg yolk, meats and milk are good sources. Quick cooking with exclusion of air is best method of retaining vitamin E, since it is easily destroyed by prolonged heat in the presence of air. Since it is fat soluble, frying should be avoided.

NIACIN—This is the new name for nicotinic acid, the pellagra preventing vitamin. The name is made up of "ni" for nicotinic, "ac" for acid, "in" to make the vitamin ending. Digestion and the nervous system are influenced by this vitamin, which also helps keep skin smooth and healthy. Good sources: Liver, kidney, other meats, fish, milk, green leafy vegetables. It is easily destroyed in cooking vegetables unless they are cooked very quickly in little or no water.

Two New Lieutenants Have Nine Day Leave.

W. Paul McBride and his brother-in-law, William A. P. Pullman, now lieutenants, have nine days' leave before reporting for duty here. Lieut. Edward S. French will be here for a week with his wife and their two sons before leaving for the west.

Lieut. George M. Silverthorne Jr. and Lieut. George H. Schulz are among 90 who received their commissions last Friday who have not yet received their orders, so their wives do not know where they are being sent.

Lieut. Conway Olmsted's orders call for continuous traveling, so altho he'll be serving in this country his wife won't be able to be with him. He leaves on Sunday or Monday. Mrs. Olmsted's brother, Lieut. Hugh McBirney Johnston, and his new wife, the former Mrs. Ellen Wacker Sheffield, are expected back in Chicago on Monday after a brief wedding trip. Lieut. Johnston will be stationed here.

Lake Shore Curlers Hold Dinner Tomorrow Night.

Members of the Lake Shore Curling association will have a postseason gathering tomorrow when they meet at the Indian Hill club for the O'Grady Cup dinner. At that time the Skokie club will hand over the cup to this year's winner, the Indian Hill team. The winning rink, or team, includes Darwin Curtis, the "skip"; Wallace Patterson, Fred Duncumbe, and S. W. McCaulley. Before dinner the guests will meet in the locker rooms to "stack the brooms," which is curling lingo for the cocktail hour.

Mrs. Frank Granger Logan, Mrs. Telfer MacArthur, Mrs. Thomas I. Underwood, Mrs. James G. Shakman, and Arthur Meeker Jr., are some of those who are planning to attend a concert Ruth Lyon, soprano, will give at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Arts club.

The Seeing Eye committee will open its enrollment drive with a meeting at 4 o'clock today in the Racquet club. A short talk will be given by Elliott S. Humphrey, head of the division for research and education at the Morristown, N. J., school for training guide dogs for the blind. Morris Frank, first person in this country to have a Seeing Eye dog, will show a short movie, "The Seeing Eye."

Dutch Girl Embroidery

BY NANCY CABOT.

The Dutch girl motif for days-of-the-week towels is fascinating needlework which adds a decorative touch to any kitchen. The hot iron transfer motifs measure approximately 5 by 5½ inches. The embroidery is done in outline stitch, while the days of the week are worked in cross-stitch. If the days of the week are omitted, these same little girls make effective wall pictures.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the Dutch Girls, No. 722, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Gentle Type of Guidance Wins Respect

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The proof of the pudding is certainly in the eating. And I would like to be able to line up the "puddings" of my recipe [not that it is only mine, but really that of countless others interested in children] against the "puddings" of the other school of "cooking."

I know which would win. Our "recipe" we've tried in our own family. It was used on us when we were children, and innumerable readers, friends, and acquaintances have proved the "pudding" to be good.

The "recipe" I'm referring to is the one for raising and guiding children, which leaves out the ingredient "corporal punishment" in the form of spanking, whipping, strapping, or beating to gain obedience.

What brought forth all this was a letter which came in my mail not long ago.

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"If you will discuss the matter with other mothers whose upbringing has been what you call a 'gentle one,' and others who have not been cruelly punished by their parents, you will learn that most of them prefer corporal punishment as a means of disciplining their children. They recall their parents as easy marks, and remember that they laughed up their sleeves when they received the patient, sympathetic treatment instead of the good whipping they knew they deserved.

"Mothers are entitled to outside activities, and are too busy to become expert child psychologists when a good whipping accomplishes better results.

"I took over the care of two children, 7 and 3 years of age, who were the talk of the family because of their disobedience to 'gentle upbringing.' After two years they are exceptionally well behaved children. They know that disobedience, carelessness, or tardiness means a good whipping and expect it. They behave accordingly. They do not feel abused, nor is their spirit broken.

"If 'spankings roll off a child like water off a duck's back,' it is time to resort to a stout strap, which is much more effective."

Since my many columns express my views rather fully, I scarcely felt that a long reply to this letter would be worth writing, but I did send the following:

"This note is just to acknowledge your letter, and to tell you that I disagree completely with what you have to say on the subject of corporal punishment.

"I know, and my experience runs into many thousands, that children do not 'laugh up their sleeves' when they receive patient, sympathetic treatment instead of a good whipping. I am afraid that you confuse intelligent and loving understanding with weakness and overindulgence on the part of a parent."

I may add that a mother who enjoys and understands her children does not have to be an "expert child psychologist" to rear them well. Many good jobs of parenthood were done thru the years, before "child psychology," and many, many bad ones, too!

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

Some players have the idea that the one-over-one forcing principle applies to all bidding situations. That is not the fact. If West, for example, opens the bidding with one diamond, North overcalls with one heart, and East passes, South does not create a forcing situation with a response of one spade. Opposite an overcall, he must follow the example of the South player in the following deal:

West, dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

♥ A Q J 9 4
♦ K 10 6 4

WEST
♦ A Q J 7 5

EAST

SOUTH
♠ K Q 10 7 5
♣ A Q 7

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 diamond	1 heart	Pass	2 spades
Pass	3 no trump	Pass	3 hearts
Pass	4 hearts [final bid].

The mere fact that North can overcall one diamond should make South feel that a North-South game is in the offing. Yet, without a forcing bid at South's command, there is no scientific way of determining the best game contract. North's one heart overcall might have been based on a four card suit and, in that case, spades or no trump might present a better game opportunity. The point is that South really requires an exploratory bid, and it is that very need that has been supplied by this Culbertson convention: A single jump take-out of an overcall is an absolute force for one round.

Under this convention, it is easily seen that South's two spade bid is highly logical. Once he has assured himself of an opportunity to rebid, South can safely mention his own suit before raising hearts. North responds with the best bid at his command, namely two no trump. Now South shows that, besides having a strong hand with a spade suit, he has support for hearts. If North had only a four card heart suit, he would [a] bid three no trump or [b] raise spades if he held three spades. Since North actually holds a five card heart suit, and since he can logically assume that it was that question that was troubling South, he goes to four hearts.

With this conventional one round force available to the partner of an overcaller, the best contract is easily and safely located.

FEEL FRESH AS A DAISY Tomorrow

TAKE PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA Tonight

Do you want to wake up clear-headed—wide-awake—full of pep tomorrow? Then don't let your stomach go sour during the night because of over-indulgence. Give that excessive acidity the one-two action of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

For Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is more than a first rate alkalizer. It does more than merely relieve the discomfort due to too much acid. Phillips' finishes the job. It acts as a very gentle laxative—promotes mild yet thorough elimination. It's an ideal laxative-antacid.

The next time you eat a little too much—stay up too late smoking and drinking—try Phillips' Milk of Magnesia at bedtime, and wake up feeling fresh as a daisy. Read the directions on the Milk of Magnesia package and take only as directed thereon or as prescribed by your physician.

ONE-TWO ACTION!

1 AN EFFECTIVE ALKALIZER. Gives speedy relief when your stomach feels "uneasy" or gassy due to too much acid. Rated among the most effective neutralizers of excess stomach acids known. Acts almost immediately.

2 A MILD LAXATIVE. Not a purge — merely promotes more thorough elimination. Does not leave you feeling "all wrung out." Take it at any time of the day because it does not act with embarrassing urgency. Many physicians recommend it for young children. There is no better mild laxative.

SHIP BUILDING LAGS 13% BEHIND GOAL, LAND SAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—Revealing a 13 per cent lag in ship production behind the 8,000,000 ton goal set by President Roosevelt for 1942, Rear Adm. Emory S. Land, chairman of the Maritime commission, today told the house naval affairs committee that there was a certain amount of "deliberate loafing" in shipyards and "a lot of bad management."

Rear Adm. Land.

Land called for immediate action to cope with the labor problem in the war production program. He advocated freezing of labor and employer relationships to eliminate "this daily agitation."

"If labor and management can't get together in the very near future on some form of voluntary agreement dealing with wages and hours" and the war labor board doesn't act soon," Land said, "it is up to congress to do the job."

Echoed by Congressmen.

This statement was in accord with the feelings of a great number of members of congress who returned today from a two week recess during which they consulted their constituents concerning their feelings toward suspension of the 40 hour week and elimination of time and a half and double time.

The legislators went home to check on the tremendous mail they had been receiving which demanded that steps be taken to speed up war production by suspending some of the restrictions of existing labor laws which were passed when there was great unemployment.

Labor leaders had charged this mail was inspired and organized by anti-union groups. The lawmakers reported they found the letters had been spontaneous and written as an expression of public opinion.

Favors Freezing Status Quo.

Adm. Land declared that open shop agreements, closed shop agreements, and all other agreements between labor and management should be frozen in their present status for the duration of the war. He hailed this as the simplest, easiest, and quickest solution of the labor problem.

"There is a need for a national war labor policy," Land told the committee. "If we can get it voluntarily, so much the better; failing that, we must get it by statute.

Chairman Carl Vinson [D., Va.] said he was prepared to offer a substitute for the bill sponsored by him some time ago which would limit war profits to 6 per cent, suspend the 40 hour week, and freeze the closed shop status in plants with war contracts.

His new bill would establish a 48 hour week with time and one-half pay beginning after that limit was reached; an 8 per cent profit limitation on war contracts over $100,000, with a $6,000 "cushion" to incite small industry to convert to war production; and preservation of the status quo of unions in war plants. A $5 maximum for initiation fees to any union and a system of incentive bonuses would also be provided for in the bill.

Must Increase Production.

Land said the productive efforts of both labor and management would have to be increased by 13 per cent if the shipyards are to produce 8,000,000 tons of ships in 1942, the goal set by the President in January.

"There's too much damned loafing going on in the shipyards right now," he told the committee. "The big bottleneck in the war program is ships and it's got to be broken. My head may be in the basket before summer is over. The loafing is deliberate, but there's plenty of bad management also, whether deliberate or not I don't know."

BASEBALL TODAY: SOX OPEN AGAINST BROWNS

NELSON BEATS HOGAN IN MASTERS' PLAYOFF, 69 TO 70

BYRON FIGHTS BACK TO WIN 2D TOURNEY TITLE

Starts with 6, but Leads First Nine.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Augusta, Ga., April 13.—John Byron Nelson, the golfer's golfer and a fighter if ever the game has seen one, today won the ninth annual Masters' championship at the Augusta National club. Fighter Nelson's victory, his second in the tournament, was a decision, and not a knockout, for he defeated another battler, his pal Ben Hogan, by only one stroke, with a three-under-par 69 to Hogan's 70 in their 18 hole playoff for the title.

They were tied last night at the conclusion of the regular 72 holes with scores of 280, eight under par for the long route. Nelson, who won the 1937 Masters' crown, again collected $1,500 first prize, while Hogan was consoled with $800 second money.

kids who grew up together in a Fort Worth, Tex., caddy yard had been expected to be a thriller, but not as interesting as today's eighteen holes proved to be. Certainly none foresaw the drive with which Nelson began his round, as sour a tee shot as he ever hit. It led to a six against Hogan's par four. It was similar to a boxer being clipped on the chin almost as soon as he came out of his corner. A par by Hogan at the short fourth staggered Byron again, and it appeared as if the fight ought to be halted. Referee Bobby Jones made no move in that direction, and the battle went on.

Nelson Bounces Off Floor.

Nelson bounced off the floor at the short sixth, where he threw a deuce at Hogan and before Ben could recover, he found himself dropped for a four count. That reduced Ben's margin to one shot, and Nelson was still swinging on the seventh, altho he got no better than a half there.

They went up the long eighth, and after that was over it was Hogan who went down. A great wood second and a seven foot putt by Nelson gave Byron an eagle, and Hogan, caught by a hooked second, swung at a putt of less than three feet so widely that he wound up with a par five and dropped a shot behind. He had to cover up for his half in par at the ninth, after which Nelson led, 35 to 36.

It was a tough order to catch the man whom you had knocked back into his corner as soon as he came out of it, but Hogan tried. He leveled a punch off of the 10th tee, but his follow shot went wide of the mark and he wound up with a five. From here on it became a toe to toe strug-

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

PERUSAL of the exhibition box scores and reports from observers who have watched the White Sox perform in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Iowa indicate the club which opens its season today with the St. Louis Browns will be as good as last year's third place outfit, possibly a little better. . . . The White Sox pennant chances right now appear to hinge on whether their rivals are stronger or weaker than they were last year. . . . The Sox had some rookies in camp and they probably will carry a few freshmen for a while, but for the most part, veterans will form the active personnel. . . . There will be no blazing rookies suddenly bursting into flame. . . . Veterans, of course, fluctuate from year to year. . . . Thornton Lee, for example, last year won 22 games. . . . He is 35 and always had been around 15 victories or less thruout his professional career. . . . Thornton thinks he will be able to pitch as well this season as last. . . . Eddie Smith, another able lefty, has pitched some great games. . . . He's younger than Lee and maybe he's ready for a 22 victory year after seasons of waiting for his big campaign. . . . Ted Lyons, according to our correspondents, has been looking just as effective as he has been all those Sundays he has pitched since Manager Dykes wisely decided Ted's skill could be prolonged indefinitely provided the veteran's pitching turns were generously spaced. . . . Johnny Humphries, who won four games last year, all of them shutouts, is destined for more frequent assignments in 1942. . . . He may be the one factor in making the Sox stronger this year than last. . . .

We are advised not to get too steamed up on Bill Dietrich, who perennially is on the verge of having a big year, but never quite carries thru. . . . In a lesser degree, the same is true of John Rigney, who on occasion is as fine a pitcher as you ever have looked at. . . . One of these seasons John will turn in a 20 victory record. . . . Something always seems to happen to him when he appears to be gathering irresistible momentum—like Ted Williams, who would rather swing against Rigney than go hunting and fishing. . . . Buck Ross still is having trouble with control. . . . When friends of the Sox talk about their favorite club they talk about the pitching staff, rated by many the best balanced in the American league. . . . It is more difficult to talk exuberantly of other departments. . . . But the team still has Luke Appling and Taffy Wright, great hitters on occasion, and Don Kolloway has shown remarkable improvement on offense. . . . As to left and center field—what do you say we wait until the season goes along for a while before we talk about Myril Hoag and Wally Moses? . . . Right now it might be all right to tab the Sox to finish third, possibly second. . . . But let's not get stung by the pennant bee for a few months.

St. Louis, Mo., April 13.—The Chicago Cubs, preponderantly on the youthful side and something of an unknown quantity, arrived here tonight for tomorrow afternoon's 1942 National league baseball inaugural with the pennant favorite Cardinals.

In the midst of the traditional gaudy bunting which decorates Sportsman's park on such important occasions as season openers and the world series, the Cubs' Claude Passeau will engage the Cards' young Morton Cooper on the mound. There will be a brass band, and perhaps a few military touches to blend baseball into the war spirit of the times. A crowd of 15,000 is expected to watch the Cubs battle the team which has been popularly picked to succeed the Brooklyn Dodgers as league champions.

Wilson Hopes and Hopes.

The Cubs inaugurated the 1941 race on their own Wrigley field and under the direction of Passeau knocked off the Pirates. The Cubs even took the opener here a few days later behind the pitching of Charley Root, now with Hollywood. But when the final ball had been pitched last fall the Cubs were imbedded in sixth place. How to get out of that spot is their current problem.

You can't get Manager Jim Wilson down by jabbing him with predictions that it is going to be an exceedingly tough year. The immunity he built up during his years with the tail end Phillies still serves him well. He tenderly turns aside harsh statements with replies about how well this or that one of his boys did on this or that occasion. He forgets frequent misdeeds. Maybe his spirit will help at least a bit in the long, hard run to the finish line.

Cubs Have Many Problems.

For tomorrow at least, Wilson will lead with the same lineup that lost the Chicago spring series final with the White Sox yesterday. This means Stan Hack at third, Charley Gilbert in center, Bill Nicholson in right, Dom Dallessandro in left, Phil Cavarretta at first, Clyde McCullough catch-

Bring on Those Browns—and the Umpires!

Jimmie Dykes, who today will begin his eighth full season at the helm of the White Sox as they open the 1942 American league campaign in Comiskey park against the Browns. St. Louis is managed by Luke Sewell, who was a Sox catcher a few seasons ago. Dykes appears to be in the mood to eat a couple of umpires, a midseason delicacy for him. [Tribune Color Studio Photo].

Colchis Beats Alsab in Close Race at Havre

Baltimore, Md., April 13 (AP).—Alsab today flashed a sign of his old championship form as he finished second to R. Sterling Clark's Colchis in the Chesapeake trial before a crowd of 12,000 at Havre de Grace.

The Albert Sabath colt, altho suffering his fifth straight defeat of the year, proved he still is in the Kentucky Derby picture by coming from far behind to overhaul every horse in the field of six except Colchis.

Colchis, a three year old gelding not eligible for the Derby, beat Alsab by a neck, while last year's juvenile champion had a half length advantage over Mrs. W. M. Jeffords' Seamanlike.

Bright Willie a Disappointment.

Big disappointment of the Chesapeake trial was Mrs. Ralph McIlvain's Bright Willie, winner of the Bahamas and conqueror of Alsab in Florida. Closing a slight favorite over Alsab, Bright Willie finished fifth after showing early speed. Ella K. Bryson's Marksman was fourth and Foxcatcher farm's Baby Dumpling, a Derby eligible, last.

Colchis, which ran a dead heat with Alsab in the Eastern Shore handicap here last fall, only to be soundly beaten by him at Laurel later in the fall, found the six furlong distance to his liking today, while the Sabath colt appeared in need of more distance. He will get that in the Chesapeake stakes Saturday.

Baby Dumpling, Bright Willie, and Seamanlike set the early pace. Colchis and Alsab lagged some eight lengths to the rear, but there was no stopping them when they began to move up. George Woolf took Colchis to the inside for the stretch drive, while Albert Schmidl brought Alsab up on the outside with a mighty rush to close ground rapidly at the finish.

Colchis ran the three-quarter mile distance of Havre de Grace's new stake in 1:12 2-5. He returned $7.30 to win and earned a purse of $2,825.

Transfigure Wins Harford.

Transfigure, a 6 to 1 shot, won the 30th running of the $5,000-added Harford handicap, coming from behind to defeat Madigama by a length. Omission was third and Cape Cod, the favorite, winner of two stakes at Bowie, sixth in the field of seven. Transfigure, covering the six furlongs in 1:12 3-5, returned $14.10 for $2.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox and the St. Louis Browns, their show preceded by military ceremonies and attended by service notables and enlisted men, will open Chicago's American league season in Comiskey park this afternoon. The game will start at 3 o'clock but the elaborate patriotic program will be carried out during a considerable period before the baseball match begins.

Johnny Rigney has been appointed by Manager James Dykes to pitch the opener for the White Sox, a deserved honor which is said to have made his mother-in-law, President Grace Comiskey, and his wife, Treasurer Dorothy Comiskey Rigney, very happy.

Rigney won the nomination on his fine physical form this year, rather than as a result of last year's record against the Browns. Last season he won one from the Browns and lost two. Judging by the way John has looked in the spring games, he will have a much better record than that against the Browns this year, especially if he ties his 1941 victory record this afternoon.

It's Auker or Muncrief.

Luke Sewell, the Brownie manager, will pick his starter from two eligibles, Elden Auker, who beat the Sox four times last year as contrasted with one loss, or Bob Muncrief, who had three victories over the Sox last year, as contrasted with one loss.

Both of today's rival teams are rated as improved over last year, in which the Sox won 77 and lost 77 to finish third. The Browns rallied after Manager Sewell took over and finished in a tie with Washington for sixth place with 70 victories and 84 losses. Against the Browns the Sox had exactly the same percentage as they had in the league with 11 victories and 11 defeats.

There remained some chance, tho it was none too promising last night, that Taft Wright will be able to take his place in right field this afternoon. Taffy, who led the Sox in hitting last year with a mark of .322, continued to be bothered by an abdominal muscle injury suffered in the final road exhibition game in Fort Dodge, Ia., last Thursday.

Taffy Has Hard Luck.

Knowing that if Wright is able to play he will play, Manager Dykes left the matter entirely to the discretion of the plump North Carolinian. Last year Wright was kept out of the opener because of a pneumonia attack.

The Sox outfield being the weakest department of the team, numerically at least, it will be necessary to assign Harry Sketchley to play right if Wright isn't able to make the grade. It will be Sketchley's debut in organized baseball.

The Browns will remain here three days, then will go to St. Louis to conduct their home opener with the Detroit Tigers. The Sox will participate in the Cleveland home opener Friday.

Sox Send 2 Players Away.

In today's pregame ceremonies, Manager Dykes will be presented with a Minute Man flag, emblematic of the White Sox's 100 per cent subscription to the purchase of war savings bonds.

The Sox yesterday released First Baseman Murrell Jones to Shreveport, subject to 24 hour recall, and returned Harvey Johnson to Albany, whence he had been drafted.

WINGS' MANAGER WILL MISS LEAF BATTLE TONIGHT

Adams Suspended, 2 Fined After Sunday Row.

TORONTO, Ontario, April 13 (AP).—The rowdy Detroit Red Wings will be without their manager, Jack Adams, tomorrow night in the fifth game of the best of seven Stanley Cup Hockey series with the Toronto Maple Leafs, but they still will be under the supervision of a two fisted tactician in Coach Ebbie Goodfellow.

Goodfellow will take command as the Detroiters again endeavor to seize the elusive fourth victory to close out the series with the once favored Leafs. Adams is assigned to a spectator's rôle because of his fistic attack last night on Referee Mel Harwood in Detroit following Toronto's 4 to 3 victory.

Two Others Fined $100.

President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League, who had gone to Detroit primarily to present the Stanley cup in event of a Red Wing victory, announced Adams' suspension early today and at the same time fined Eddie Wares and Don Grosso of Detroit $100 each for their part in the fisticuffs.

Adams said he'd be at tomorrow night's game. "They can't stop me from buying a ticket like any other customer," he said. "I'll be there all right."

By twice coming from behind to whip Detroit, the Leafs kept alive their hopes of taking their first cup since 1932 even tho they would be required to shatter much precedent in the uphill battle to do so.

Apps Regains Form.

Toronto's principal reason for elation aside from the victory was the sudden return to form of its top offensive line, centered by Syl Apps. Held without a goal for three games, Apps rapped home the tying marker last night and assisted on the winning goal fired by Nick Metz.

The Red Wings meanwhile passed off the defeat as a letdown following three decisive victories over Toronto which had whipped Detroit five times in eight starts of the regular season. Toronto was a big favorite because of its second place finish, three notches above Detroit.

If Toronto wins tomorrow, the sixth game will be played in Detroit Thursday.

Nelson Wins in Playoff for Masters' Title

Nelson Gets Deuce on 12th.

Here Nelson got in a deuce on the short 12th and they punched again with birdies on the long 13th. Hogan was still trying for a knockout, and his 20 footer for the birdie he got on the 14th left him only two behind. The gallery, which had seen Hogan come from a score of 135 to 143 at the end of 36 holes to tie Nelson, realized that the little man really was in there firing. He convinced them with a birdie on No. 15, where Nelson could do no better than protect himself with a par jab and found himself just one stroke to the good.

Nelson ducked Hogan's next swing and went two ahead with a par. They traded punches with pars on the 17th and Hogan threw his best on the 18th with a par four against Nelson's bogey five, but the bell rang and the little man's rally failed. On the home hole Hogan's drive smacked a tree, while Nelson wound up in the rough. They joined each other in reaching the left front trap with their seconds. Each was out excellently, Nelson about nine feet, and Ben by eight. Nelson's putt missed by a foot, but Hogan dropped his for a par.

Hogan, out	444	344	454—36
Nelson, in	432	445	345—34—69
Hogan, in	333	434	444—34—70

Thus ended the Masters', the tournament which has produced more thrilling fights, for its age, than most of its elders. And it may well be the last of established medal play competitions of its kind for some time. Officials refuse to be definite about cancelation of the 1943 show, although they have not made any date announcements for the next year, a custom usually observed here in order to make the tournament the climax of the winter tournament circuit.

Rivalry Begins in Caddy Battle.

But the doings of the last five days establish the fact that Nelson and Hogan must be counted in for as long as these 30 year old chums wind up on a tee. Seldom have two Americans taken over a sport as have these lads who used to tote clubs around the Glen Garden club in Fort Worth. Their rivalry began there with a caddy battle, which Nelson won—also a playoff. They went to extra holes in the 1940 Texas Open, and Nelson won by a stroke. They played each other last summer in the National PGA and again it was Nelson.

Between them the two friends have established a monopoly on the competitive golf that has flourished in the last few years, but which may be doomed in 1943. Nelson has done well enough not only to win this show in 1937 but also to verify his genius with a victory in the National Open of 1939 and the PGA of 1940. Hogan is now in his third consecutive season of leading the contenders for the Vardon trophy and the cash collection championship.

WRIGHT PROSPECT FOR THREE TITLES IN DRAKE RELAYS

Ohio Junior Hurdler Tops Next Week's Field.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Only seven athletes in the history of the Drake relays have won three championships in the same event. Currently Bob Wright, Ohio State's great hurdler, will be seeking his second 120 yard high hurdle title in the relays in Des Moines, Ia. a week from Friday and Saturday and since he is a junior, war permitting, he has an excellent chance to continue for a three sweep in this event.

Fred Wolcott of Rice, present national champion, is the only athlete to accomplish this in Drake's high hurdle event. The lithe Texan compiled his victories in 1938, 1939, and 1940, and in the first of these years he established the present Drake record of 14 2-10 seconds. Last year Wright's time was 14 6-10 seconds, but this by no means expresses the caliber of his hurdling.

Lack of Competition Helps.

Other Drake contestants who have scored three victories in one event in the last 32 years are: Bob Shelby Oklahoma, high jump, 1928-1930; Ed Gordon, Iowa, broad jump, 1929-1931; Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette, 100 yard dash, 1932-1934; Ray Sears, Butler, two miles, 1933-1935; Linn Philson, Drake, high jump, 1934-1936 [tied for championship in 1934 and in 1936], and Billy Brown, Louisiana State, broad jump, 1939-1941.

The three in a row achievement has not always indicated that the champion was a superlative athlete. Lack of competition has been an aid as evidenced by the fact that of the men listed, Wolcott is the only one to hold an undisputed Drake record. Metcalfe tied the 100 yard dash record of 9 5-10 seconds in his sophomore year that had been set in 1926 by Roland Locke of Nebraska, and was tied again in 1935 by Jesse Owens of Ohio State.

Hurdles Race Is Feature.

Track conditions affect the records of course, since George Simpson of Ohio State, and Hubert Meier, Iowa State, who failed to set Drake records in the 100 yard sprint, had better marks on other tracks.

As usual the high hurdle race will be a feature of the Drake carnival. It requires skill, speed, and endurance for preliminaries and championship are spread over the two day period. Moreover, the field that will seek to depose Wright promises to be the best in recent seasons. Among those expected to compete are Charles Hlad, Michigan State Normal; Bob Saunders, Miami, O. university; Roy Bucek, Texas Aggies; Bill Dillon, Notre Dame; Donald Olsen, Illinois, and Rex Cummins, Rice.

Boards Make a Difference.

The outdoor high hurdle race is distinctly different from indoor competition in the requirement of endurance. Indoors, and especially on boards at 40, 50, 60, and even at 70 yards, form and speed are relatively more important. While Wright has won two Western conference high hurdle championships at 70 yards and took the 70 yard indoor low hurdle title in March, these were run on dirt. When Wright competed in the Chicago relays, on the Stadium board track, he fell in two of the series of races. Inexperience on boards and the pressure of competing against Wolcott contributed to defeat.

Hlad was a better hurdler that night. The Michigan State Normal hurdler was second to Wolcott but earlier in the season he tied the 60 yard world record of 7 2-10 seconds in Madison Square Garden and defeated Wolcott. Hlad holds both 1942 Central Collegiate indoor hurdle championships over a 75 yard course. His mark of 9 1-10 seconds in the 75 yard high hurdles tied the conference record.

EXPECT TO PICK MAJOR ALL-STAR SITES TOMORROW

New York, April 13 (AP).—A meeting of baseball's advisory council composed of Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis and Presidents Ford Frick and Will Harridge of the National and American leagues will be held here Wednesday, probably for arranging for this year's two All-Star games.

Arrangements to convert the annual All-Star spectacle into a double feature to aid the nation's war effort were made at a special winter meeting of the major leagues, but sites and some other details have not yet been determined.

The All-Star game, originally scheduled for Brooklyn's comparatively small Ebbets field, is expected to be transferred to the Polo Grounds, home of the New York Giants, and the second game is considered most likely to go to Cleveland's Municipal stadium.

The first game will be played in the afternoon of Monday, July 6, and the second probably will be at night, Tuesday, July 7.

Ohio State Wins Opener from Western Michigan

Columbus, O., April 13 (AP).—Ohio State university won its first baseball game under Coach Wayne Wright today, defeating Western Michigan, 3 to 2, in the season's opener for both clubs. Western Michigan's two runs were unearned, coming on three errors, a sacrifice, and a hit batter. The teams play again tomorrow. Score:

GAMES TODAY.

Suburban League.

Waukegan at Evanston, 3:45 p. m.
Proviso at Morton, 3:45 p. m.

Jim Phillips, Amundsen pitcher, was a standout performer as his team routed Waller, 15 to 0, in Lincoln park yesterday in one of 17 Chicago Public High School league games. Phillips not only pitched a no-hit game, but struck out 10, and hit a home run with a man on base and a pair of singles.

Bob Rupsch of Harrison limited Lindblom to one hit and fanned 11 in Harrison's 2 to 1 victory in Douglas park. Casimir Wisniewicz's triple in the sixth drove in the winning run.

31 Strike Out.

Bob Gastorf shaded Lou Rosin as Schurz defeated Senn, 3 to 2, in eight innings in Kilbourne park. Two were out when the winning run was scored. Center Fielder Bill Priebe doubling and coming home on a single by First Baseman Tony Klimek. Gastorf struck out 16 and yielded four hits, while Rosin fanned 15 and gave up five hits.

Bucky Johnson of Steinmetz, defending champion, had a no-hit game in sight when his team went into the final inning against McKinley in Harrison park, but Sol Masillana and Tony Grande singled and later scored. Steinmetz won, 11 to 2.

Englewood came from behind in the sixth to tie Phillips, then won, 6 to 5, in 11 innings in Hamilton park. De Witt Anderson, Phillips hurler, issued three passes in the 11th, struck out the next batter, then walked Steve Preissler to force in the winning run.

Parker Wins in Eighth.

Parker overcame a 9 to 2 lead by Hirsch at the end of three innings to tie at the end of the fifth and win, 14 to 10, on five runs in the eighth. Mike Montesano of Hirsch fanned 16, but passed 11. Lane defeated Roosevelt, 11 to 3, behind Ed [Lefty] Skepnek's three hit pitching.

Morgan Park came to life with seven runs in the seventh inning to whip Hyde Park, 10 to 5, after Ken Wherry had held the far south siders hitless for five innings. Other star pitching performances included:

Johnny Kalmeta's holding Kelly to three hits and striking out 16 as Gage Park won, 8 to 3; Gene Revell of Crane fanning 10 as Crane beat Tuley, 10 to 1; Bob Rapacki of Bowen yielding six hits and striking out 12 as Bowen beat Fenger, 2 to 1; Reuben Simonec of Farragut setting down 13 Tilden batters on strikes as Farragut won, 2 to 0; Louis Prempas of Marshall striking out 11 as his team defeated Wells, 8 to 5. Clyde and Claude of Cubs Are Ready ing, Lou Stringer at second and Bob Sturgeon at short. In case the Cards should come up with a left hander instead of Cooper, as promised, Babe Dahlgren will move in at first base.

The Cubs' biggest job for the next six months will be hitting. The effect of an offensive failure can be easily figured if you allow for the swatting power of such teams as the Dodgers, the Cardinals, and the Pirates. And the Cubs must contend with inexperience at short and second, two key defense posts. Furthermore, there still is no proof that their pitching will be consistent.

It's still probable, but not definite, that the Cubs will be able to break the monotony of their long struggle with night games on their own premises. Owner-President P. K. Wrigley recently revealed that from his vast industrial empire he had called in enough electrical equipment to light up a ten ring circus. The idea, the steel situation being what it is, is to hang the bulbs from poles. But there is a hitch in the plan. Important items required to put the plant in operation are missing and cannot be obtained except with an O. K. from the folks in Washington.

Meers, Lanfranconi Go.

Two of the Cubs among those present during the training jaunt were missing this afternoon when the squad pulled out of Chicago. They were Pitchers Russell Meers, purchased from Nashville, and Walter Lanfranconi, obtained from the Toronto club. They were sent to Milwaukee, Meers under option and the other lad without strings attached.

RUTH IS UP LONG ENOUGH TO PICK YANKS, PIRATES

Hollywood, Cal., April 13 (AP).—Babe Ruth got out of his hospital bed long enough today to receive a few visitors and voice two predictions about the 1942 major league baseball campaign. Ruth, recuperating after a pneumonia attack, said he figured his old team, the New York Yankees, would again capture the American league pennant. He picked Pittsburgh in the National league.

Ruth looked in fair condition. His color was good. His hand was a little shaky as he toyed with a large, curved stem pipe. He has spent five days in a hospital bed.

Giants Whip Army, 12-3, for 13th Straight Time

West Point, N. Y., April 13 (AP).—The New York Giants today walloped Army, 12 to 3 for the 13th consecutive time since the teams first met 28 years ago.

Johnny Guckeyson helped the cadet cause by hitting a 350 foot homer in the fourth inning. Score:

Jefferson Barracks Nine Loses to Toledo, 12 to 4

Jefferson Barracks, Mo., April 13 (AP).—Paced by Center Fielder Milton Byrnes, who hit two home runs good for five tallies, the Toledo Mudhens of the American association routed the Jefferson barracks air corps baseball team, 12 to 4, today. Byrnes also hit a single. Alex Boden, air corps outfielder, cracked out a triple, double, and single.

HANDLEY OFF TO REJOIN PIRATES; ARM IMPROVED

Peoria, Ill., April 13 [Special].—Lee Handley, third baseman for the Pittsburgh Pirates, left today to rejoin his club for the opening of the season at Cincinnati Tuesday.

Believing his ailing arm has recovered its strength, Handley thinks he can give it a serious workout for the benefit of Manager Frankie Frisch and hopes to remain with the club.

Handley was seriously injured in an auto wreck last November and suffered severe pain when using the arm during spring training. He returned here three weeks ago for treatment.

Rex Sox Hard Pressed to Beat Holy Cross, 6-5

Worcester, Mass., April 13 (AP).—The Boston Red Sox ran into good college pitching here today and were hard pressed to gain a 6 to 5 victory over Holy Cross in their annual baseball exhibition. Ernie Ford, a southpaw, limited the American leaguers to four hits in five innings and Ed Murphy, who finished, yielded only four more. Score:

Indiana Hands DePauw 3d Straight Defeat, 5-4

Greencastle, Ind., April 13 (AP).—Indiana University beat DePauw, 5 to 4, today. The defeat was the Tigers' third in a row and came in their first home start. Score:

Indiana	000	031	100—5	9	2

Batteries—Pavis, Logan and Wellman; Johnson and Bartholomew.

Baseball Gives Capital Flash of Peace Today

Washington, D. C., April 13 [Special].—War-jammed Washington, nerve center of an angry, fighting nation, prepared tonight for tomorrow afternoon's flash back to times of peace and a heartening glimpse of life-the-way-we-like-it.

From carefully guarded conference rooms, from behind paper piled desks and busy telephones, maybe even from the White House, determined Americans will crowd into Griffith stadium for baseball's festive opening day game—the world champion Yankees, with Charley Ruffing pitching against the Senators and Sid Hudson.

Whether President Roosevelt will be there to throw out the first ball was uncertain tonight. Vice President Wallace is ready to do the honors, and all the other traditional trappings and ceremonies are in order—the march to the flagpole, peanut and popcorn munching, pregame band playing, and the old-fashioned pastime of umpire heckling.

Tickets? There Aren't Any!

Plain privates and medal decked generals, officials of state and drug store clerks struggled alike in futile search for tickets. All that remain are the few thousand bleacher admissions that go on sale at noon. Attendants are prepared to handle a capacity crowd of 33,000. And the weather bureau, refusing to give direct information, nevertheless reports the game will be played.

Manager Joe McCarthy brought his slugging Yankees down here this afternoon and reported the veteran Ruffing in fine trim for his surprise assignment. Ruffing was one of the least effective pitchers during spring training. He was hit heavily every time out and on April 5, when he did his last work, he was shelled for six runs by Nashville.

Year Brings Many Changes.

There will be three changes in the Yankee lineup which faced the Senators here on opening day a year ago. Ed Levy, rookie from Kansas City, replaces Johnny Sturm on first base. Gerry Priddy, converted second baseman, supplants Red Rolfe at third, and Ruffing replaces Southpaw Marius Russo, who pitched a three-hit shutout.

Bucky Harris, Washington manager, has changed his lineup even more. A year ago it included George Case, Doc Cramer, Ben Chapman, Buddy Lewis, Cecil Travis, Buddy Myer, George Archie, Rich Ferrell, and Emil Leonard. Tomorrow only Case, fleet footed center fielder, remains, excepting Leonard, of course. The army took Lewis and Travis. Trades and releases disposed of several others. And for the first time in several years the veteran knuckleballer, Leonard, has been sidetracked in favor of the youthful Hudson.

REISER'S PARENTS APPEAL HIS 1A CLASSIFICATION

New York, April 13 (AP).—Ending the confusion that has existed about the draft status of Pete Reiser, the Brooklyn Dodgers' centerfielder and National league batting champion, New York selective service officials said today he had been reclassified 1A but that his parents had appealed.

The 23 year old baseball star had been classified 3A because he contributed to the support of his parents and four sisters and a brother who live in a home he is buying for them in St. Louis.

Reiser, a bridegroom of two weeks, said Saturday that he still was in 3A, but Frank T. Kelliher, chairman of draft board No. 133, where Reiser registered, said today that the ball player had been transferred to a 1A classification in February.

"To give Reiser the benefit of the doubt," Keliher added, "the postal card notification may have been mailed after he went to Cuba to train with the Dodgers and it might never have caught up with him. But he subsequently took and passed a physical examination and two or three weeks ago his parents filed an appeal."

He said a decision might not be reached by the appeal board for a couple of weeks.

PIKE SEASON TO OPEN TOMORROW ON WOLF RIVER

Early Wisconsin Fishing to Lure Illinois Anglers.

BY BOB BECKER.

There'll be walleyed pike for every fisherman who wants to catch them starting at 12:01 tomorrow morning when the annual season opens on the Wolf river in Wisconsin. This special April 15 opening of the Wolf river valley gives anglers a chance to fish from Winneconne on the south, up thru the river valley to Red Banks, Templeton Bayou, Fremont, Gills Landing, and Weyauwega all the way north to Shawano. In no other part of Wisconsin can pike be taken starting April 15. This special season applies only to the Wolf river country and some parts of connecting streams.

The latest report on the pike fishing outlook is this: Old timers on the Wolf insist, despite fact that ice has been gone from the river for almost two weeks, the recent cool weather has kept the fish upstream and they are still spawning. So that means fishing and catching 'em this week.

Expects Run to Continue.

B. O. Webster, Madison superintendent of the fisheries division of the Wisconsin conservation department said that according to his observations of the Wolf river pike run there should be plenty of fish for anglers during the next few days. And with conditions remaining as they are the run should continue for some time. That means that tomorrow the boys on the Wolf should get some fish.

The pike hatchery at Weyauwega is filled to capacity now. This is due to the heavy run of fish, one of the largest in recent years. The capacity of the hatchery is 200 jars. At the present time officials figure there are about 90,000,000 eggs in the place.

Regulations Are Amended.

This early fishing season along the Wolf was at one time closed to all nonresidents. We can remember that not so many years ago an Illinois fisherman couldn't go up to Winneconnee, Fremont, or other towns along the stream and catch a mess of walleyes because of the license situation. No licenses were on sale until May 1 as far as nonresidents were concerned. Then the regulations were amended. Now hundreds of Illinois anglers enjoy this early season. Boats are available in almost any town along the Wolf which later on will be crowded with white bass fishermen.

CHARGES SMEAR ATTACK MADE BY U. S. PROSECUTOR

Tells of Boast to Beat G. O. P. Congressmen.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—Rep. Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.], appeared this afternoon before a special federal grand jury investigating axis activities in the United States to explain how printed copies of one of his congressional speeches had found its way into the hands of a group allegedly spreading subversive propaganda.

Rep. Clare Hoffman.

Two hours earlier, Hoffman, taking the house floor on a question of personal privilege, gave members a complete explanation of the whole affair. Moreover, he promised to confront Special Prosecutor William P. Maloney with a charge that the latter had boasted, in the presence of witnesses, that with the aid of the grand jury he would "defeat every Republican isolationist in congress."

Attack on "Union Now."

The Hoffman speech in question was a combination of two addresses he made in the house Jan. 27 and 30. It was entitled "Don't Haul Down the Stars and Stripes" and was mainly an attack upon the proposal of Federal Union, Inc., headed by Clarence K. Streit, to set up a "united nations of the world."

Newspaper stories in the Washington Post, PM, and a few other publications said the Hoffman speech had a subtitle: "Roosevelt Is a Judas." Hoffman challenged any one to read the speech and find this phrase. One section dealing with the Streit program carried the subhead "A Judas" and referred to the world federation proposal as "a Judaslike betrayal of our people into and as one of a united states of the world."

Referred to Streit Proposal.

"The statement that I said President Roosevelt was a Judas is a deliberate falsehood," Hoffman told the house. "I did call the Streit propocal 'Judaslike' and I named Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes and Supreme Court Justice Owen L. Roberts, who signed Streit's statement, has having endorsed the betrayal of our nation. They approved forsaking and giving up the Declaration of Independence and the substitution of a declaration of dependence.

"Is there any reason why every loyal American should not oppose with all his heart, with all his mind and with all his strength an effort like that to betray our country?"

Asked for Reprints.

Rep. Clifton A. Woodrum, [D., Va.], asked Hoffman to explain how copies of his speech got into the hands of a group calling itself the Social Republic society which mailed out the Hoffman speech in the same envelope with a special bulletin calling upon its membership to buy guns and ammunition for an emergency.

"Certain women came into my office and asked if they could have reprints of the speech," said Hoffman. "I said all right. I had ordered the speeches printed for circulation in my district. One woman sat down and addressed franked envelopes to those on a list of names she had brought with her. The district attorney can come to my office and get all this information. The files are open.

WIFE OF BROKER FOUND DEAD; GAS BURNER IS OPEN

Mrs. Charlotte Ratcliffe, 34 years old, was found dead yesterday in her home at 657 Vine avenue, Highland Park. Mrs. Ratcliffe, the wife of Myron F. Ratcliffe, was lying on the kitchen floor. Gas was flowing from an open burner of the oven of a stove. Ratcliffe, manager of the office of the La Salle street brokerage firm of Lehman Brothers, had returned yesterday from a business trip to New York. He telephoned his home, and, receiving no response, went to investigate. Police said they believed that Mrs. Ratcliffe had been dead since Sunday. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide while ill.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Digging In

JOAN WHISPERS A SECRET ABOUT PARENTS' DEATH

The official verdict in the taxicab shooting on Saturday of George Mertell and his wife, Lillian, was murder and suicide, but part of the testimony that Joan, their 7 year old daughter, whispered into the ear of Deputy Coroner Pasquale Venetucci at the inquest yesterday in the undertaking rooms at 4332 Elston avenue, is going to remain a secret.

The coroner's jury decided that Mertell, while insane, shot his wife, then himself, as the cab in which they were riding traveled in the 4100 block of Elston avenue. Joan and her twin brother Donald also were in the cab. A note left in a friend's home in which the Mertells had been visiting indicated the husband had premeditated the double slaying.

But at the inquest Joan tried to blame herself for the tragedy. "I cried in the cab because I wanted a color book to draw on," she said. "Daddy told me not to cry and gave me a $5 bill to buy a book with. Then daddy and mother quarreled, and he started shooting."

Joan then hesitated. Venetucci tried to coax her. "I don't want to tell in front of all these people," she said, "but I'll tell you." Then she whispered into his ear the secret which Venetucci says he'll keep. The information she gave had no bearing on the verdict.

SPRING ARRIVES MUCH TOO SOON FOR MRS. DILLING

Spring has come to Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling, who is engaged in a sizzling divorce fight with her lawyer-husband, Albert W. Dilling; but it's not a peaceful spring.

As a result of her husband's actions, she complained yesterday, she hasn't been able to get her spring gardening started at her home in Kenilworth. Nor has she been able to get her spring planting started on her farm in Harvard, McHenry county. Moreover, according to her complaint, there are the hogs. She can't repair the hog houses on the farm, nor purchase new hogs.

The complaints were contained in an amended motion in which Mrs. Dilling is trying to dissolve an injunction obtained by her husband tying up her bank accounts and other properties. Notice of the motion was served yesterday by her lawyer, Theodore W. Miller, on Dilling's lawyer, Maurice T. Weinshenk. Miller will present the amended motion before Judge Rudolph Desort tomorrow as a preliminary to the weekly divorce suit squabble in court Thursday.

ALIEN EXAMINERS TO QUIZ WIFE OF BUND HEAD SOON

Mrs. Marie Willumeit, alien wife of Otto Willumeit, naturalized head of the Chicago German-American bund, will be given a hearing before an alien examining board later in the week. The board will determine whether she will be interned, placed on probation, or set free.

Mrs. Willumeit was arrested two weeks ago after federal agents investigated charges that she was engaged in unpatriotic activities involving the bund.

Willumeit also is under investigation and if federal agents find he has violated his pledge of allegiance to the United States, a petition to revoke his citizenship will be filed, according to United States Attorney J. Albert Woll.

CLAIMS M'NEAR VOWED TO SCRAP LINE OVER UNION

Peoria, Ill., April 13 (AP).—A government witness testified today that George P. McNear Jr., president of the Toledo, Peoria and Western railroad, threatened to "scrap the railroad and sell it for junk before he would sign a contract with the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen."

McNear is on trial, along with Supt. H. H. Best and Trainmaster Bruce Gifford, on federal charges of violating the railway labor act by coercing union employés.

PATENT SEIZURE BILL URGED AS WAR NECESSITY

Senators Told Full Use Is Vital.

Washington, D. C., April 13 (AP).—Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] told the senate patents committee today that the American war effort was being impeded by the refusal of patent holders to make available a new process for manufacturing plastic glass for war planes, as well as new developments in the processing of iron ore and zinc.

Sen. J. C. O'Mahoney.

President Roosevelt wrote the committee that he believed "the problem" of government use of patents for prosecution of the war "is vital."

"Patents are the keys to our technology," President Roosevelt wrote Chairman Homer T. Bone [D., Wash.] of the committee, "technology is the key to production; production is the key to victory."

Draft of Patents Urged.

Urging the patent committee to approve a bill permitting the government to take over any patent for the duration of the war, O'Mahoney asserted that the time had come to draft materials, money and machines in an all-out war effort.

"There isn't a technological discovery that Hitler isn't using and there is nothing that Hitler can lay his hands on that the Japs aren't using," O'Mahoney said. "It is difficult for me to understand why we are not taking full advantage of these developments."

Mentioning the failure to obtain widespread use of plastic glass processes, O'Mahoney said that the reluctance of patent holders to make new processes available was holding down the production of steel.

Latest Processes Unavailable.

"We stripped ourselves of scrap iron and shipped it to Japan, but there are millions of tons of iron ore available," he said. "The production of this iron ore is being held back by the reluctance to utilize the latest processes available. If we can use these processes, now tied up by patents, we can produce more iron ore and have the steel we need."

Recalling testimony before the senate defense investigating committee on cartel arrangements between Standard Oil company [New Jersey] and the I. G. Farben Industries of Germany, O'Mahoney said that while synthetic rubber patents recently had been made available by Standard, lack of steel was holding up construction of plants to use them.

Supporting O'Mahoney's contentions, Sen. Robert La Follette [Prog., Wis.] told the committee it ought to look into the patents applied for in connection with synthetic rubber. He said a consent decree entered into by Standard and the justice department did not release these processes for general use, adding that they might be more vital to the war effort than even the approved patents which had been released.

Standard Victory Is Seen.

"It seems to me that the Standard Oil consent decree is a real victory for the Standard Oil company," La Follette said in a formal statement.

"All the consent decree does is to guarantee that Standard Oil will hold those patents for I. G. Farben, with an immunity against interference granted by the decree, until the day when Standard Oil can render an accounting to I. G. Farben."

After Sen. La Follette's statement was made public the Standard Oil company [New Jersey] issued a statement saying his charge that the company would hold the patents for I. G. Farben was "not true."

Burocrat Plan to Perpetuate Jobs Assailed

Burocrats are planning socialization projects for the postwar era to perpetuate their positions in the government, and the middle class, to survive, must be ready with an economic program based on the principle of free enterprise, J. Soule Warterfield, vice president of the general contracting firm of Starrett brothers, Inc., told the City Club of Chicago yesterday. Warterfield addressed the club at a luncheon meeting in the La Salle hotel. He urged a postwar program for redeveloping the slum areas of the nation's cities.

J. Soule Warterfield.

"There will be an avalanche of proposals for postwar activities," Warterfield said. "Many of these will be camouflaged attempts at socialization or 'bureauization' of every human endeavor. Most of the plans start with the premise that the nation has a bottomless purse, and they give no recognition of the necessity of maintaining private incentive.

Warns of Two Class System.

"We have all but destroyed the middle class man and small business man. This trend must be stopped, lest we lose our economic freedom. We are becoming a two class nation of manual workers and huge pools of capital heeled under by burocracies.

"Burocrats are racking their brains for a peace program that would perpetuate their power and security. The most dangerous part of such a program is that it will be ready and no other program is likely to be. It will have a tremendous impetus back of it. Those interested in maintaining the American way of life may again be caught napping and unprepared to prevent regimentation into an experiment in socialized government economy."

Slum Measure Helpful.

Warterfield said Illinois and Chicago are in an especially favorable position to prepare for the postwar period because of the existence of the Neighborhood Redevelopment corporation act, which will permit private enterprise to engage extensively in slum rehabilitation when the return of peace makes materials available.

Projects made possible under the redevelopment act will be of the self sustaining, self liquidating, and democratic type necessary to a sound and free enterprise system, he said.

Peabody Coal to Hunt Oil on Franklin County Land

Stuyvesant Peabody, president of the Peabody Coal company, Chicago, said yesterday the company will soon start searching for oil on its property in Franklin county, Illinois. The company owns about 8,000 acres there.

PLAN TO RELOCATE OIL PIPE LINES AS METHOD OF AIDING COAST AREA

Washington, D. C., April 13 (AP).—Petroleum Coördinator Harold L. Ickes announced today the oil industry had made plans for digging up and relaying 1,400 miles of oil pipeline from east Texas producing fields to Illinois or other Mississippi river points to relieve the oil shortage on the Atlantic seaboard.

Ickes said the plan had reached "the final action stage." Ralph K. Davies, deputy coördinator, said it contemplated digging up unused pipelines and others for which substitutes could be found and relaying them from the fields to the river. He said the plan contemplated also the installation of large quantities of used tankage and pumping equipment. Oil would be piped to Mississippi river points where it would be moved eastward by pipeline, tank cars, and river barges.

Pendulum Rail Cars Praised by Passengers

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Three new "pendulum" type passenger cars yesterday won high praise for their easy riding qualities from a group of railroad executives and business men after a demonstration run between Chicago and Galesburg, Ill.

Designed particularly to reduce sway and jolting on curves, the cars lived up to promises made for them in this respect, and showed improvement from the standpoint of vibration and train noise.

The cars were built for experimental purposes for the Burlington, Great Northern, and Santa Fe railways by the Pacific Railway Equipment company, Los Angeles. Operation yesterday was over the Burlington and the Santa Fe roads.

Reach 105½ Miles an Hour.

The maximum speed attained was 105½ miles an hour over the Santa Fe. Diesel-electric locomotives were used by both roads. W. J. Engel, president of the Santa Fe, and Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington, were pleased with the results.

"Experiments of this type signify the interest of the railroads in improving and developing their service," Budd said. "Of course we cannot undertake to build any more cars of this type during the war, but we can continue our research.

"We want to be ready after the war to take advantage of the technological and metallurgical advances being made in this country in filling the demands of our fighting men for all types of equipment."

Big Coil Springs Used.

Cortlandt Hill, president of the Pacific Railway Equipment company, who helped develop the "pendulum" cars, explained that the objectives sought for this type of car were attained thru suspension of the car body on large coil springs which are an integral part of the truck. In moving around a curve the car body acts as a pendulum.

The Chicago Association of Commerce and its president, A. H. Mellinger, were the official hosts on the trip.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—The Mills Novelty company of Chicago was penalized by the War Production board today on a charge of being the first wartime violator of priority orders. The company, the largest slot machine manufacturer in America, was charged with having illegally diverted "substantial amounts of aluminum, copper, steel, and other scarce materials from the war program."

"Between Dec. 22, 1941, and Feb. 7, 1942," the board charged, "the company used aluminum in the manufacture of panorams, and produced panorams and gaming machines in excess of quota restrictions" established by a limitation order dated Dec. 10.

The panoram is a coin operated machine which shows motion pictures accompanied by music. They are installed mainly in taverns.

Charge Quota Exceeded.

The alleged quota violations began two weeks after the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. The war board further charged that the Mills company turned out 2,332 amusement and gaming machines in excess of its alloted quota.

The penalty prohibits the company from disposing of any of the above quota machines pending a decision by WPB on their final disposition. Also, quotas were cut for the company's March and April production of automatic weighing machines and automatic phonographs, as well as its gaming and amusement machines. And, finally, the company is deprived of priority assistance in obtaining materials for this production.

The order is to remain in force until July 10 unless terminated in the meantime.

Scarce Metal Banned.

By a general WPB order all use of scarce metal in amusement machines is to cease on June 30.

Talon, Inc., taking exception to WPB accusations, issued a statement tonight asserting that the company had never acquired or used "a single pound of copper contrary to priority regulations."

A WPB order today suspended priority assistance to the Meadville, Pa., producer of slide fasteners until July 1 on the ground that the company had on order 3 million pounds of imported copper when it requested priority aid last summer in securing copper. The order also prohibited the company from using steel or zinc in excess of 40 per cent of its average use in the year ended last June 30.

"The only present operations of the company are on government orders, and it is assumed that the armed forces will insist on supplies of materials for these orders," the company said.

MILLS EN ROUTE TO CITY

Fred Mills, president of the Mills Novelty company, was reported on his way back from Florida last night and other officials could not be reached for a statement. The panoram machine made by the company shows movie-talkies produced by a company in which Capt. James Roosevelt, the President's eldest son, was once interested.

WOMEN NEEDED TO BOOST TOOL FIRMS' OUTPUT

Johnson Terms 168 Hour Week Vital.

Machine tool makers will have to put large numbers of women to work to attain maximum production, George H. Johnson, president of the National Machine Tool Builders' association, told members of the industry meeting yesterday in the Edgewater Beach hotel. He asked that Washington compilers of questionnaires "please stop making us fill out blanks and let us get down to business making machine tools."

Johnson, who is president of the Gisholt Machine company, Madison, Wis., said practically every machine tool maker is striving to get on a production schedule of 168 hours a week, and declared the job would be done in spite of numerous difficulties.

"It is difficult to build up the second shift, still more difficult to build up the third shift," he said. "It appears almost impossible to obtain the supervisory personnel needed to cover three full shifts.

Tells of Limitations.

"Output of a plant is limited by output of certain essential machines.

"But all the reasons which any one of us might bring forward to explain why some of our machines are idle 8 hours out of 24, or on Sundays, would seem pitiful to an American private helping to hold Corregidor.

"Before this war is over, most of us will employ large numbers of women, and we will be grateful to our engineers and designers who in the last 10 years have planned machine tools in such a way that their operation involves the use of push buttons and easily handled levers rather than muscle."

WOMEN ON RAILROADS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—A shrinking manpower for America's expanding railroad operations will be discussed here tomorrow at a conference of rail executives called by Joseph B. Eastman, director of defense transportation.

Among measures proposed to ease the "help wanted" problem is the employment of women wherever possible, mainly for office work. Otto S. Beyer, personnel expert of the Office of Defense Transportation, said the carriers will also have to recall retired men to active service, and hire men rejected by the army but physically fit for railroad jobs.

OPA Starts Distributing Forms to Be Used in Sugar Rationing

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—The Office of Price Administration today began the distribution to local rationing boards of blank forms to be used by about a million retailers and wholesalers under the sugar rationing program. All retailers and wholesalers, institutions, and industrial consumers of sugar must register on April 28 or 29 at registration stations to be established in high schools.

The dates for all other consumers—men, women, and children—to sign up for their sugar ration books is tentatively set for the first week of May.

On the forms being distributed the merchants report their stocks on hand and, by means of a prescribed formula, compute the needs of their trade under the rationed allotments to their customers.

Replenish Thru Stamps.

After the rationing program is in operation both retailers and wholesalers will replenish their stocks on the basis of stamps and certificates that they will collect with their sales.

No purchases will be permitted except on the basis of these stamps and certificates as evidence of resales in accordance with the ration program.

At the inauguration of the program a merchant's maximum "allowable inventory" will be computed under a rather complicated formula [explained on the registration forms] based on 1941 sugar sales or based on present gross sales of all groceries and meats. If the merchant has more sugar in his store than the "allowable inventory" he doesn't get any new supplies until his bins are down to the permissible high mark.

May Build Up Stocks.

If his supplies are below the allowable he can bring them up to the standard before he starts using stamps and certificates with replenishment purchases.

The intent of these inventory regulations, it was explained, is to remove any advantage from hoarding. Hoarders among individual consumers likewise are to be curbed. They report pantry stocks and must surrender stamps from their ration books, subtracting from future allowances for sugar in excess of allowances that will be available to all individual consumers.

Falsification of inventory reports, either by merchants or by householders, is punishable by fine and imprisonment.

Retailers to Meet

Henry D. Lindauer, executive director of the Community Retail Stores' association, announced yesterday that members of the group would meet tomorrow night in the Hotel Sherman to discuss problems arising from the sugar rationing program. John C. Weigel, regional OPA director, will report and interpret latest details of the program.

Kroehler Mfg. to Make Wood Plane Parts

Facilities of the Kroehler Manufacturing company, Naperville, Ill., large furniture manufacturer, will be used in the production of molded plywood aircraft parts, Delmar L. Kroehler, president of Kroehler Manufacturing, and Edmond R. Doak, president of the Doak Aircraft company, Hermosa Beach, Cal., announced last night.

They disclosed the formation of a new organization to be known as the Kroehler-Doak Aircraft Parts division of the Kroehler Manufacturing company. Eventually, these plane parts will be made in all eight of Kroehler's domestic plants, while Doak Aircraft will furnish the processes and engineering, they said.

The announcement stated that Kroehler will continue to operate as a furniture manufacturer and that the Doak company's other operations will not be affected.

Kroehler has manufacturing plants at Naperville, Kankakee, and Bradley, Ill., Cleveland, O., Binghamton, N. Y., Dallas, Tex., Inglewood and San Francisco, Cal., Stratford, Ont., and Montreal, Quebec.

Doak Aircraft, organized in 1940, has developed a primary training plane of molded plywood and other plywood aircraft parts and operates a sheet metal plane parts plant.

REPORTED FREEZING OF PRICES OPPOSED BY ILLINOIS GROUP

The Illinois Federation of Retail Associations yesterday sent to 30,000 merchants a telegram urging them to protest to the Illinois delegation in congress any move to freeze retail prices generally without freezing wages and farm prices also.

The telegram, signed by J. T. Meek, executive secretary, said the association had been informed that a retail price freezing order "may be issued any moment." It said merchants could not survive if prices were frozen while operating costs and other expenses soared.

SET $15,000,000 CHICAGO AREA BUILDING QUOTA

Most Homes Limited to Cost of $4,800.

Private construction of homes costing about 15 million dollars for war workers in Chicago and nearby suburbs will be permitted under building quotas to be issued soon, at levels near those of the recent past, it was learned yesterday from government housing officials. The building program for the six months ending Sept. 1 will be exempt from the War Production board's ban on nonwar construction, it was said.

Unlike previous priority regulations on housing, the program will allot critical materials for a specified number of housing units in four price and rental brackets to suit the varying incomes of families of war workers, officials indicated.

Altho priority aid will be given for a limited number of $6,000 homes, the maximum for war housing, most of the materials will be allocated for homes costing $4,800 or less, it was indicated.

Prepared for WPB.

Priority aid for war housing construction in Chicago and other areas of housing shortages will be provided under new quotas being prepared by the National Housing agency for use by the WPB in issuing certificates.

The program will allocate enough critical materials for 200,000 housing units to be built in areas thruout the country where housing for war workers is inadequate, it was explained. The allocation covers the same number of buildings as in the six months which ended last March 1.

Chicago was allotted 3,250 housing units in the six months to March 1. The Chicago area does not include the Gary industrial section, which is allotted a separate quota.

Provide Four Classes.

Departing from previous policy which granted priority generally to defense housing on units costing $6,000 or less or renting for $50 or less a month, the new schedule will classify the construction quotas in four brackets, as follows: rental units, $25 a month and less, $25 to $32.99, $33 to $39.99, and $40 to $50. Units for sale, $3,000 and less, $3,000 to $3,999, $4,000 to $4,799, and $4,800 to $6,000.

In addition, the quotas will determine the percentage of the units to be built for rental only and those

Warn On and Belittle Debt Threat

Raps Deficit Advocates.

New York, April 13 [Special].—America's rapidly mounting public debt carries with it the threat of national bankruptcy, Dr. Walter E. Spahr, professor of economics, New York university, and executive secretary of the Economists' National Committee on Monetary Policy, asserted today.

Addressing a meeting of the Controllers Institute of America, Dr. Spahr urged the repeal of all "unsound monetary laws" and attacked those "policy makers who are busily persuading the public that our large and rapidly mounting public debt is not only nothing to worry about but has several positive benefits."

He castigated what he called such "fallacies in the current jargon" as owing the debt to ourselves, and being unable to pass the debt burden on to the next generation.

Confused and superfilcal advocates of "bigger and better deficits," he said, should be reminded that in 1933 we had a campaign to free our people from their unbearable tax and other debt burdens which resulted in the devaluation of our dollar. These debt advocates of short memory, he charged, are "heading this nation toward another campaign of the same sort."

The best the American people can hope for, he said, is a huge permanent debt which is unpayable and must weigh as an "unfortunate burden" on taxpayers for generations to come. Bad as this will be, it is preferable, he asserted, to devaluation and debt repudiation.

May Reach 200 Billion.

Nashville, Tenn., April 13 (AP).—The national debt may eventually reach 200 billion dollars, but "the American system is quite equal to any burden which it may have to carry," Emil Schram, president of the New York Stock exchange, said here tonight.

Speaking before the board of governors of the National Association of Stock Exchange Firms, Schram declared that "on the basis of present estimates, the debt will have risen to about 110 billion dollars by June 30, 1943."

"It is entirely possible that, should the war last that long, we will have an aggregate debt of approximately 150 billions by the middle of 1944. It may eventually run to 200 billions.

"Whatever the cost of victory may be, the American people are prepared to pay it. War is never cheap—but it is a million times cheaper to win than to lose."

STOCKS' DECLINE LEVELS OFF, BUT RALLIES FOLD UP

Some Favorites Again Set New 4 Year Lows.

New York, April 13 (AP). — Stocks leveled off today from last week's downward spiral and in a few groups negligible rallies were recorded.

Certain industrial favorites, however, recorded new lows for the last three or four years and some others, including United States Steel and Bethlehem, were unable to retain early slim gains. Fractional declines, outnumbered advances at the close.

Inflation Curb Plans Pondered.

Many of the market's speculative followers remained inclined toward a policy of nonaction in view of lively conjecture as to what President's Roosevelt's promised program for inflation control would involve for major corporations and their shareholders.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was unchanged at 34.1, the lowest level for this composite since March 31, 1938. Transactions were close to the lightest since last May at 237,710 shares compared with 295,190 Friday.

Fresh indications that stocks as a rule were slow to respond to favorable earnings were given by Anaconda Copper, up ⅛, and Consolidated Oil, closing unchanged, following issuance of annual reports listing substantial profit gains.

CHICAGO LIST STEADY.

Prices were about steady on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in transactions totaling 12,000 shares. Of 68 issues traded, 20 advanced, 26 declined, and 22 closed unchanged. Of the more active stocks Chicago corporation, Indianapolis Power and Light, and Commonwealth Edison declined fractionally, while Hupp Motor Car and Studebaker were unchanged. Illinois Central advanced ⅛ and Zenith Radio declined ⅛ in the half hour following the close in New York.

INVESTORS' VOTE BEGINS TODAY ON TRANSIT MERGER

Court Will Get Statements to Bondholders.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

Submission of the 179 million dollar transit merger plan to a vote of the surface and elevated lines' 100,000 security holders is expected to be started today under direction of Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe, who has jurisdiction over the lines.

Attorneys for committees representing 14 classes of securities on the two systems will submit for court approval statements which they propose to mail to their depositing bondholders on the proposed consolidation.

Senior Groups Agree.

All the senior, or dominant, security groups already have agreed to recommend acceptance of the program, and committees for two classes of surface lines' junior securities are expected to submit the plan to their depositors without recommendation. Judge Igoe already has said he will order the plan submitted to a vote today, subject to court approval of the committees' statements.

Meanwhile, the surface lines' board of management will meet to plan service improvements ordered by the Illinois Commerce commission last Friday in granting an increase in street car fares from 7 to 8 cents, effective next Monday.

The commission ordered the surface lines to place 100 more of its present cars in service, supplementing the 3,000 now in use, to buy 200 streamlined street cars, 100 new trolley buses, and 100 new gasoline buses.

Expect Priority Trouble.

The board is expected to take prompt action in an effort to carry out these orders, altho the prospect of getting new equipment is uncertain in the face of war priorities.

City officials expressed the view yesterday that the boost in fares brightens the prospect for making the transit unification effective and effecting the 102 million dollar transit improvement program contemplated under the merger. They said the resulting earnings boost should make it possible for a unified company to borrow money for improvements.

The Street Car Men's union, however, at a recent meeting voted to reopen the present wage contract, which expires June 1, and to seek a wage increase. Officials of the Elevated Lines Workers' union said similar action would be taken.

Mayor Kelly at his press conference yesterday expressed surprise that the commerce commission had granted a fare increase on the surface lines after recently denying the elevated road's petition for a boost in "L" fare from 10 to 12 cents.

American Light to Dissolve; File South Shore Road Plan

'Most Feasible' Move

American Light and Traction company has decided to liquidate as the best means of complying with the public utility holding company act of 1935, and will file a definite plan with the Securities and Exchange commission as soon as possible, the company said in its annual report to stockholders issued yesterday from the Chicago offices.

William G. Woolfolk, president said this move is "most feasible" in view of the SEC's order of Aug. 5 requiring the company to dispose of interests in the San Antonio Public Service company, American Coal company, South Texas Ice company, Detroit Edison company, and International Paper company.

Ruled Out by Law.

Provisions of the holding company act, he continued, may make it impossible for American Light and Traction to retain its Madison and Milwaukee, Wis., properties. Such a requirement would leave the company only its principal integrated system, Michigan Consolidated Gas company, and American Light and Traction therefore "would no longer serve any useful purpose," he asserted.

Woolfolk said the management contemplates distribution among stockholders of those assets and investments which cannot be advantageously sold. He reported negotiations for sale of the San Antonio property "have been actively carried out, but that disorganized market conditions have forced the conclusion the Detroit Edison company common stock interest should not be sold for cash."

American Light and Traction is affiliated with United Light and Power company thru the United Light and Railways company.

Reorganization to SEC

Philadelphia, Pa., April 13 [Special].—Clarence A. Southerland and Jay Samuel Hart, trustees for the Midland Utilities company, submitted today to the Securities and Exchange commission a plan of reorganization and recapitalization of the Chicago South Shore and South Bend railroad, a Midland subsidiary.

The trustees propose a reduction in capitalization of the railroad and to provide for one class of common capital stock consisting of 77,904 shares of $50 par value to be exchanged for present outstanding stocks on the following basis:

Would Exchange Preferred.

There will be offered for exchange 43,043 shares of present outstanding $100 par first preferred stock for 58,428 shares of new common, on the basis of slightly over one share of common for each share of preferred.

For 19,476 shares of outstanding $100 par second preferred, 19,476 shares of new common will be offered in exchange on a share for share basis.

Preferred Is Noncumulative.

The 122,000 shares of no par common stock outstanding would be surrendered and canceled, no new stock would be issued for it.

Both present preferred issues are noncumulative. Midland Utilities owns 52,598 shares of the first preferred and 4,566 shares of second preferred.

Noting that the Interstate Commerce commission, which has jurisdiction over the railroad, has approved the proposed issue of new common stock, the SEC fixed a deadline of 5:30 p. m. April 23 for the filing of requests by all entitled persons for a hearing in the matter.

CONGRESS ASKED TO USE LOTTERY IN WAR FINANCE

Ex-State Official Says Voters Favor It.

Washington, D. C., April 13 (AP).—Francis E. Kelly, a former lieutenant governor of Massachusetts, proposed to the house ways and means committee today that the government conduct a national lottery to raise 3 to 5 billion dollars of revenue yearly.

Contending that America is "gambling conscious, he expressed the opinion that the voters would favor such a lottery "by a 10 to 1 majority." He proposed that it be conducted on a weekly or monthly basis, with war savings stamps and bonds going to winners.

Knutson Favors Cash Prizes.

Rep. Harold Knutson [R., Minn.], who has introduced legislation to authorize a national lottery, commented that he indorsed Kelly's suggestion, except he believed the winners should be paid off in cash, with a $100,000 grand prize each month.

Kelly said the establishment of a lottery would be opposed only by the "tax dodgers and racketeers who now control gambling, which is America's largest industry."

He told the committee Massachusetts voters approved, 805,000 to 325,000, a proposal for a state sponsored lottery at the last general election, but the legislature failed to act on it in face of the opposition provided by "a tremendous lobby."

Urges War Reserve Credit.

Walter A. Cooper, New York, chairman of the committee on federal taxation of the American Institute of Accountants, urged that taxpayers be permitted to make deductions for the establishment of special reserves to cover costs and business losses resulting from the war. He also recommended that all income taxes be withheld at the sources.

Protests against proposed levies came from other witnesses.

Harold Bozell, president of the General Telephone corporation, New York, said added taxes proposed on telephone tolls would require an army of typists to maintain records.

A group headed by Hal G. Sours, Ohio director of highways, protested that the treasury's proposals to increase both the gasoline and lubricating oil taxes would harm states which rely on such taxes to finance highway department operations.

2 Firms Boost Great Lakes Iron Ore and Coal Rates

Cleveland, April 13 (AP).—Two major Great Lakes shipping companies today announced increases in rates for movement of iron ore and coal during the 1942 season. New contracts provide ore rates of 80 cents per gross ton from the head of the lakes, compared with 77 cents last year. Coal rates from Lake Erie are 45 cents per net ton to Lake Superior, compared with 44 cents last year The same rates were in effect in 1939, the companies announced.

PLANE FIRM HEADED BY HICKEY RECEIVES MILLION RFC CREDIT

M. J. Hickey Jr.

Matthew J. Hickey Jr., newly elected chairman of the Luscombe Airplane corporation of West Trenton, N. J., said yesterday that the firm has received a credit of a million dollars from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The funds will be used to expand the manufacturing operations of the firm which supplies aircraft parts to airplane makers holding navy contracts.

Hickey, a Chicago securities dealer and broker, was elected chairman of the company last week after control of the New Jersey firm was taken over by Leo T. Crowley, alien property custodian. He will serve without salary and will continue as the active head of the securities firm bearing his name.

The new president of the Luscombe firm is Lee N. Brutas, Troy O., who has been vice president and general manager of the Waco Aircraft company for 17 years. Stock of the company, which was German owned, was formerly held by Leopold H. P. Klotz and North American Investing company.

BUTTER AND EGGS ARE HIGHEST FOR MONTH IN YEARS

Wholesale butter prices advanced ¼ to ½ cent a pound in Chicago yesterday to the highest levels since December, 1937. Best butter at 37½ to 38½ cents sold at the highest April levels in more than a decade. Fresh eggs packed for storing sold at 31¼ to 31½ cents a dozen, highest since 1928.

Announcement of a new schedule of lend-lease prices for dried eggs for November and December delivery heralded the second largest trade in egg futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange so far this year. Contracts for 246 carloads of eggs changed hands as prices advanced .45 to .60 cent a dozen, the October delivery closing at 33.55 cents.

Trading in a storage butter contract was begun with the November delivery opening at 39.40 cents a pound, highest for any storage contract since 1930. Butter receipts were about 210,000 pounds lighter than a year ago.

MAY LIQUIDATION CARRIES GRAINS AND BEANS LOWER

Lack of Flour Business Weakens Wheat.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Increased liquidation of May futures contracts on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday carried grain prices down ½ to ⅞ cent a bushel while soy beans were off 1 to 1⅜ cents. The continued decline in the wheat pit was reflected in oats and corn prices which dipped in face of another hog market advance.

Wheat finished ⅝ cent lower with May at $1.22¾ a bushel. Corn declined ⅝ to ¾ cent; oats, ⅜ to ½ cent, and rye, ¾ to ⅞ cent a bushel.

Ceiling for Flour Studied.

Reports that government officials were preparing new controls to combat inflation attracted attention. Millers heard that the Office of Price Administration was giving serious consideration to proposals that ceilings be placed on flour prices.

"One interpretation of the Washington view is that a ceiling will be made effective only on retail flour prices, that is, only on family flour brands," stated a trade publication. "Another view is that Washington economists feel that flour is such an important article of the diet that it should be among the first to bear a ceiling."

Standard patent flour yesterday was quoted at $6.20 a barrel in Minneapolis. A year ago this same flour was selling for $5.20 a barrel and two years ago at $5.45 a barrel.

Recent Sales Below Normal.

Sales of flour in the last few weeks have been exceptionally small, according to the milling trade. Large consumers rushed into the market just after the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor and placed contracts sufficient to cover their requirements in many cases until midsummer or later.

The limited flour business and lack of support from the mills after evidence of some improvements in this branch of the trade at the close of last week disappointed many dealers, accounting partly for the weakness of wheat.

HURLEY ASSERTS ADVERTISING HAS VITAL WAR TASK

Advertising departments of the nation's business enterprises have a vital rôle to play in the war effort by building worker morale, disseminating information to the public, and preserving contacts with normal markets, Neil C. Hurley Jr., vice president of the Independent Pneumatic Tool company, declared last night. He spoke at a dinner of the Chicago chapter of the National Industrial Advertisers association in the Merchants and Manufacturers club of the Merchandise Mart.

"The stimulation of morale, the dramatic presentation of quotas and their actual progress at each plant call for the sense of showmanship that is inbred in the advertising man," Hurley said. "If every worker understands the desperate need and the ultimate military use for the material he is producing, more of every vital product will be made—and that is advertising's job."

SET $15,000,000 CHICAGO AREA BUILDING QUOTA

Cost of Most Homes Limited to $4,800.

for sale. Housing officials said emphasis will be placed on rental units because workers migrating into a war industry area prefer to rent rather than buy homes.

The quota for each area is determined from analytical reports prepared in regional NHA offices. Among the factors in the analysis are the number of available housing units, the number of war workers and their families expected in the area, their annual incomes, the number of housing units required, and the price classifications of the units needed.

"Fair" Number Predicted.

Government housing officials said that in Chicago a "fair" number of $6,000 homes will be authorized.

However, many units permitted in the quota will have to be in the $4,800 and less class to provide housing for families with annual incomes of less than $2,000, they said.

Since last fall, Chicago has been considered by the war production agencies as a "critical area" in housing, indicating that the growth of war industries has created a shortage of homes. Builders in critical areas are granted priorities and such construction is exempt from the WPB curtailment order.

Predicts Severe Limit.

If the bulk of building materials is allocated for homes costing $4,800 and less, war housing construction in Chicago proper will be limited severely, according to Thomas J. Fleming, president of the Chicago Real Estate board.

"Despite modifications of the city building code the costs of land are too high to permit Chicago contractors to build many homes in this low price field," Fleming commented. "We hope the government authorities seriously consider the building problems of cities like Chicago and New York in making their final quotas."

THREE DIRECTORS QUIT BECAUSE OF VOTE 'CONTROL'

George Coury and J. M. Doroshaw, both of Chicago, and M. J. Zivian, vice president of the Detroit Steel corporation, have resigned as directors of the Air-Way Electric Appliance corporation, Toledo, O., because of their disapproval of the annual stockholders' meeting, it was learned yesterday. All were reëlected to the corporation's board at the meeting March 24.

Coury said he had resigned because he could not concur in the action taken at a meeting "wherein the management perpetuated itself in power without the assenting vote of one outside old common stockholder." He asserted that the "vast majority" of stockholders did not know of their right to vote, particularly since they had not been privileged to vote for the last 12 years, and also because the proxy notice sent them was not clear. Doroshaw and Zivian gave similar reasons for their resignation.

HOG SUPPLY CUT AS FARMERS PUT FIELD JOBS FIRST

Hog prices rose to new 22 year April peaks yesterday as farmers in the principal hog raising sections put field work ahead of supplying the Chicago live stock market. As a result, receipts were unusually small and there was active competition among packers with lend-lease contracts to fill.

Top hogs rose 15 cents to $14.65 a hundred pounds, the highest sale since September, 1926, and the peak April price since 1920.

FOOD IN STORAGE STILL AT RECORD LEVEL ON APRIL 1

The department of agriculture yesterday reported record April 1 cold storage holdings of meat and other foods. Some dealers said, however, that reserve supplies seem comparatively small in face of the unprecedented domestic consumption and the large lend-lease demand expected during the next year.

Prices continue to soar. Butter sold at the highest wholesale prices yesterday since December, 1937, and at the highest April level of the last decade. Wholesale egg prices reached a new April peak since 1928; hogs were highest since 1926, and poultry highest for April in more than 10 years.

The bureau of labor statistics said that on April 4 farm products were selling more than 43 per cent higher than a year ago. Wholesale food prices as a group were up 26.7 per cent. The following table shows how wholesale prices of meat and produce have risen in Chicago:

	Yesterday.	April 13, 1941.	April 13, 1940.

Cheese, lb	.20¼	.16¼	.13

The department's latest report on storage stocks shows:

MEAT—Cold storage holdings on April 1 were third largest for the date since 1932. They included beef reserves largest since 1920; lard reserves exceeded only in 1940 and 1941, and lamb and mutton second largest for the date on record.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Reserve supplies of commercially owned butter and cheese were largest on record for any April 1.

● The flags and seals of the 21 American republics are reproduced here in observance of Pan-American day. It was 52 years ago today that Pan-American day first was observed. This was in connection with the conference in Washington which established the Pan-American union, permanent secretariat of the American republics. The union is charged with the responsibility of choosing the time and the place and the preparation of the program for all inter-American congresses, such as the recent one in Rio de Janeiro. A special Chicago Pan-American celebration will be conducted in the Stevens hotel this evening under the auspices of the Pan-American council of Chicago and with the collaboration of other organizations. The center of Latin American activities and information in the Chicago area is the Pan-American council, which works in close co-operation with the American state department, the Pan-American union, and the office of the co-ordinator of inter-American affairs. The co-ordinator, Nelson A. Rockefeller, will speak at the Chicago celebration.
